HISTORIC BURYING GROUNDS INITIATIVE

The Massachusetts Historical Commission commends the Historic Burying Grounds Initiative, a project that has become a national paradigm for cemetery preservation, for the progress made in restoration and rehabilitation of these significant resources.

Dorchester North Burying Ground Slated for Repairs

The Dorchester North Burying Ground at Upham's Corner is scheduled for substantial gravemarker conservation and repair, beginning in October.

Topped monuments and broken slate gravestones will be repaired as part of the Historic Burying Grounds Master Plan. Grants from the Edward Ingersoll Browne Fund and the George B. Henderson Foundation, totalling $125,000 will be used to rehabilitate over 800 gravemarkers, and install security lighting in the rear of the cemetery.

The Boston Parks and Recreation Department has worked closely over the past five years with the Dorchester Historical Society, the Friends of Dorchester Cemeteries and other neighbors to the site to seek support and promote interest in the burying ground. Since 1985, the Columbia Road wall has been replaced with fencing, and the historic Egyptian Revival entry rebuilt. Last year, with a grant from the Boston Globe Foundation, the Parks Department carried out $10,000 in emergency gravemarker conservation.

The Dorchester North Burying Ground dates to 1633 and was Dorchester's only cemetery for two centuries. Among the prominent individuals buried there are John Foster, Boston's first printer, and William Stoughton, a judge at the Salem Witch Trials and Harvard College benefactor.

Pathway Rehab Under Way At Old Granary

The Parks Department estimates that over 300,000 people visited the historic Granary Burying Ground (1660) last summer to pay homage to Paul Revere, John Hancock, Mother Goose, Samuel Adams and their compatriots.

Circulation for visitors will be improved with new pathways in the Granary. Funded with a $100,000 donation from Leggat McCall Properties, developers of next-door 73

THE ADOPT-A-STATUE PROGRAM

The goal of Adopt-A-Statue is to achieve funding for the restoration of thirty-nine pieces of outdoor public art and to establish a permanent maintenance endowment which would provide for the annual cleaning and maintenance of sixty-nine pieces.

To invite individuals, groups of individuals or corporations to "adopt" a piece of Boston outdoor public art by either:

- incurring the total cost of restoring and maintaining a particular piece of art or
- making a donation toward a general restoration and maintenance fund.

Gifts are tax deductible to the extent limited by law.

For further information on how to adopt a statue please contact the Environment Department at 725-3850

(Paula Mierzejewski) or Office of Arts and Humanities at 725-3245 (Mary Shannon).

Each week the City Record will publish a statue for adoption.

Tremont, the new pathways will be installed fall 1990-spring 1991.

The Boston Parks Department and the Friends of Granary Burying Ground (an organization of abutters spearheaded by Leggat McCall) are pleased to announce that with the new pathways, the Granary will also become wheelchair accessible. Assistance has been provided by Nathan Miller Properties, the Massachusetts Architectural Access Board, the Beacon Hill Architectural Commission, the Massachusetts Historical Commission and the City of Boston Commission for Persons with Disabilities.

Massachusetts Cultural Council Funds Gravestone Repair

The Historic Burying Grounds Initiative is the proud recipient of a $12,000 matching grant from the Massachusetts Cultural Council (nee Council for the Arts and Humanities) over two fiscal years for slate gravestone conservation and repair at the Central Burying Ground on Boston Common.

Central Burying Ground dates to 1756 and is the burial place of Gilbert Stuart (1755-1828), famed portrait painter of George Washington, and William Billings (1746-1800), America's first composer.

The first year of the Cultural Council's grant was matched with $6,000 from the George B. Henderson Foundation, and repaired 31 broken slate gravestones and reset 40 tilted markers. Although Fiscal Year 1991 state budget constraints will decrease the funds for the second phase of construction to $3,400 (plus an equal match), all gravestone repairs and immediate gravemarker resetting needs will be completed.

Families and Friends

* In 1973, Betty Brandenburg of Rochester, New York, was distressed to find the 1694 gravestone of Joanna Clap, her ancestor and matriarch of the Clapp family in America, missing from the King's Chapel Burying Ground (1630). Armed with photographs of the stone and lots of energy, Betty organized a mailing to all the Clapp descendents known to her, and requested that funds be sent to the Fund for Parks and Recreation. Sure enough, over 25 individuals have responded from all over the United States with contributions totalling $1,500. Local sculptor, Carol Driscoll, who is also well-versed in gravestone conservation, is carving the stone, and it should be ready for a family dedication in the spring of 1991. A success story indeed!

* The Historic Burying Grounds Initiative is grateful to Henry Lee of Boston for his generous contribution toward the restoration of the 1766 Thomas and Deborah Lee tomb marker in Copp's Hill Burying Ground in the North End.

* Old City Hall Landmarks Corporation removed three blighted sycamore trees from the King's Chapel Burying Ground (1630) this summer. The Parks Department is grateful for Old City Hall's ongoing support of the King's Chapel site.

* In 1790, John Foster Williams of Boston, founded the United States Revenue Cutter Service which became the U.S. Coast Guard. In honor of the 200th anniversary of its founding, the Coast Guard funded the rehabilitation of the Foster Williams tomb marker in the Granary Burying Grounds. Demolition of the tomb marker's base revealed two layers of slate gravestones, all of which date prior to 1750. On July 30th, the Coast Guard honored John Foster Williams with an impressive rededication ceremony in the Granary.

Mayor Flynn's Capital Program on Schedule

Substantial repair of parks and open spaces has been the Boston Parks Department's mandate since 1985 when Mayor Raymond L. Flynn initiated a five-year, $1.01 billion capital improvement plan. Called "Rebuilding Boston" this program committed $1.4 million to the historic cemeteries, and since 1985, $1 million of that funding has been devoted to wall, tomb, fence and gate repairs at the South End Copp's Hill, Eliot, King's Chapel Central, Hawes/Union and Granary Burying Grounds.

In the 1990 and 1991 fiscal years capital improvement projects are underway in several historic burying grounds:

* The gates at Granary and King's Chapel Burying Grounds were completely rehabilitated with missing finials and pickets replaced, and the bronze interpretive plaques cleaned and repatinated.

* The masonry wall at Market Street Burying Ground in Brighton was partially rebuilt in the summer of 1990.

* Steel picket fencing is currently being installed at Bennington Street Cemetery in East Boston to replace dilapidated chain-link fencing along the Swift Terrace side of the site.

* At Copp's Hill Burying Ground in the North End, construction is underway to rebuild the historic granite entryway and gate, both of which were rapidly deteriorating. This work will also include rebuilding a portion of the granite wall to the right of the entry and general cleaning and repointing of the granite masonry.

Spring Programs Highlight Environment

In April of 1990, two local chapters of the Telephone Pioneers of America, a service organization made up of long-term telephone company employees, planted trees and bulbs at two historic cemeteries in honor of Earth Day 1990. The Sherwin Chapter of the TPA planted two trees and many bulbs at Phillips Street Burying Ground (1630) in Charlestown. A large crew of hard-working individuals worked with neighborhood children to rake up lawns, trim overgrowth, and plant new greenery for the site.

A chapter of TPA, whose members are from South Boston, Dorchester and Roxbury, planted a lovely dogwood tree and lots of bulbs at the Dorchester North Burying Ground in April in honor of Earth Day.

Arbor Day was celebrated this year at Hawes/Union Cemetery (1816/41) in South Boston with students from the nearby Tynan Public School. Tree warden Brian Gilbert helped the students plant a honeylocust tree at the site and introduced them to the importance of trees in our urban environment. Boston Park Rangers also led the students on a "Haunt Jaunt," a special tour for young people through the cemetery.

For the third consecutive year, Boston Park Rangers conducted regular tours through the Granary Burying Ground. According to the Rangers, visitation remains at about 3,000 people daily in the summer months at this historic site.

Active Cemeteries Update

Evergreen (1848), and Mount Hope (1852), and Fairview (1892) Cemeteries, the City of Boston's three active garden-style cemeteries have been the focus of rehabilitation and expansion in the past several months.

At Fairview Cemetery in Hyde Park, the Parks Department has constructed 50 new burial spaces since Memorial Day and at Mount Hope Cemetery, the newly dedicated Frank R. Kelly Memorial Veteran's Section has been expanded with 300 additional veteran's burial spaces.

Memorial Day Services were held this year at the refurbished Veteran's Memorial at Mount Hope Cemetery. Designed by Boston architect Emilius R. Ciampa, the Art-Deco style bronze and granite monument had deteriorated significantly. With a grant from the George Robert White Fund, the Parks and Recreation Department fully restored the memorial in time for annual services there.

A dialogue has begun between the Parks Department and Boston's Chinese community over improvements and repairs to three Chinese sections of Mount Hope Cemetery. Begun in the 1920s as a holding area for Chinese immigrants until their remains could be returned to their native land, these three sites with a ceremonial altar and hundreds of marble markers with Chinese character carving are an important historical link to Boston's early Chinese residents, and this city's cultural diversity.

"LOVELY TO LOOK AT"— A FILM TRIBUTE TO IRENE DUNNE AT BPL

"Lovely To Look At," a film tribute to the late Irene Dunne, will be held during January at the Boston Public Library in Copley Square. Miss Dunne, who died in September of this year at the age of 85, was one of Hollywood's most beautiful, regal, and dignified film stars of the 1930s, 40s, and 50s.

The five-part series begins on January 7th with "Sweet Adeline," an old-fashioned operetta set during the gay nineties which has a number of Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein songs including "Why Was I Born," "Here I Am," and "Don't Ever Leave Me." The series continues on January 14th with the 1936 American classic "Showboat," which includes Paul Robeson's definitive version of "Ol' Man River" and Helen Morgan's "Can't Help Lovin' That Man."

"Theodora Goes Wild," Miss Dunne's first comedy role for which she earned a 1936 Academy Award nomination, will be shown on January 22nd. In the 1935 film "Roberta," which will be screened on January 24th, Miss Dunne is somewhat overwhelmed by her dancing costars Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire, but manages a solid performance with her noteworthy singing of three Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein songs, "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," "Yesterdays," and "Lovely To Look At."

The series concludes on January 28th with the 1950 British film "The Mudlark." The next to last film of her career, a heavily padded Miss Dunne plays Queen Victoria and costars with Alec Guinness, who is magnificent in the role of Disraeli.

The 6 p.m. performances are free and open to the public. Seating in the Rabb Lecture Hall is limited. For additional information, please contact the Boston Public Library at 536-5400, Ext. 319.

COMPUTER-GENERATED ART EXHIBIT BEGINS JANUARY 7TH AT BPL

An exhibition of 40 computer-generated drawings by artist Chris Wayne will be on display from January 7th through 30th in the Great Hall of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square. The artist combines photography, painting, drawing, and computer mathematics to create his colorful abstract designs which have been generated from original computer programs.

In explaining how his art evolved, Mr. Wayne said, "I used to wonder how photographers got involved with computers. I didn't know what an electronic tool could add to the great achievements already attained with lens and shutter. It wasn't until I become fascinated with mathematical relationships that the computer's potential in photography was slowly revealed to me." Computer Pictures magazine says Wayne's work "ably demonstrates the computer's capacity to produce painterly forms and use photography to render them in crisp, brilliant colors."

To create his drawings, which have appeared in a number of one-man, group, and juried exhibits. Wayne uses numbers to construct geometric shapes and algebra to reassign their positions, proportions, and contours, causing them to overlap. As images emerge they are rapidly examined and modified until a satisfactory composition is created.

The exhibit is free and open to the public from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

DUDLEY SQUARE RECONSTRUCTION PROJECTS

Mayor Raymond L. Flynn today joined State and City officials in hailing signing of an agreement which ratifies community support for reconstruction of the Dudley MBTA station and related economic development projects in the Dudley Square area.

The agreement is the culmination of an 18-month planning process involving representatives of the MBTA, staff from the Boston Redevelopment Authority, the Boston Transportation Department, the Mass. Department of Public Works and the Dudley Square Task Force, a broad-based coalition representing residents and businesses in the Dudley Square neighborhood. Signing of the agreement by all parties will allow construction to begin in the near future on a $9 million new Dudley terminal by the MBTA.

Mayor Flynn said, "The rebuilding of the Dudley MBTA Station will serve as a symbol of rebirth and revitalization for this entire area. But even more important, through this agreement the people of this neighborhood are guaranteed a role in the rejuvenation of their community.

"On behalf of the City, I want to thank Governor Dukakis and the MBTA and the State DPW for the commitments they have made to carrying out the extensive transportation improvements needed to promote economic growth in the neighborhoods surrounding Dudley Square. I can assure you that the City, through the MBTA and the Transportation Department, will work closely with the State and with the Dudley Square Task Force to see these plans through to completion."

Highlights of the MBTA/State/City agreement are as follows:

MBTA to construct and/or renovate temporary parking lot during Dudley station reconstruction.

MBTA agrees that 30 percent of workforce on station construction will be residents of the greater Roxbury community and that five percent of the contracts are directed towards women-owned businesses.

The MBTA will carry out street reconstruction south and north of Dudley Square.

THE ADOPT-A-STATUE PROGRAM

The goal of Adopt-A-Statue is to achieve funding for the restoration of thirty-nine pieces of outdoor public art and to establish a permanent maintenance endowment which would provide for the annual cleaning and maintenance of sixty-nine pieces.

To invite individuals, groups of individuals or corporations to "adopt" a piece of Boston outdoor public art by either:

- incurring the total cost of restoring and maintaining a particular piece of art or
- making a donation toward a general restoration and maintenance fund.

Gifts are tax deductible to the extent limited by law.

For further information on how to adopt a statue please contact the Environment Department at 725-3850 (Paula Mierzejewski) or Office of Arts and Humanities at 725-3245 (Mary Shannon).

Each week the City Record will publish a statue for adoption.

Reconstruction Projects . . .

- Mass. DPW will fund reconstruction of Washington Street from Forest Hills to Mass. Turnpike and fund the completion of New Dudley Street Phase II, which will extend Shawmut Avenue to connect with Washington Street.
- BRA and Boston Transportation Department to coordinate City approvals for all public improvements and oversee implementation of City capital improvements in Dudley Square area.

BRA Director Stephen Coyle said that the Dudley station reconstruction complements other significant public and private investment recently completed or about to begin in Roxbury.

Coyle, said, "Near Parcel 18, or the Ruggles MBTA station, we have seen the construction of a new parking garage by Northeastern University and the completion of Douglass Plaza, which is a mixed-income housing project of 120 units. In April, the State will begin construction of the new schoolboy track in that same area.

"On Washington Street in Roxbury the United States Postal Service is building a new post office and just last week the BRA approved new zoning guidelines for Roxbury to protect residential areas from intrusion by developers. That same zoning provides incentives for developers to locate new businesses on the Southwest Corridor parcels and in the Dudley Square business district.

"In addition, the City has been working with the Dudley Neighborhood Initiative, a group granted eminent domain power to assemble sites for housing, on a variety of new housing projects in the Dudley triangle area."

MBTA General Manager, Thomas P. Glynn, remarked: "The T is happy to participate in such an important project which will mean jobs for area residents and a key transportation neighborhood."

COMPUTER-GENERATED ART EXHIBIT BEGINS JANUARY 7TH AT BPL

An exhibition of 40 computer-generated drawings by artist Chris Wayne will be on display from January 7th through 30th in the Great Hall of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square. The artist combines photography, painting, drawing, and computer mathematics to create his colorful abstract designs which have been generated from original computer programs.

In explaining how his art evolved, Mr. Wayne said, "I used to wonder how photographers got involved with computers. I didn't know what an electronic tool could add to the great achievements already attained with lens and shutter. It wasn't until I became fascinated with mathematical relationships that the computer's potential in photography was slowly revealed to me." Computer Pictures magazine says Wayne's work "ably demonstrates the computer's capacity to produce painterly forms and use photography to render them in crisp, brilliant colors."

To create his drawings, which have appeared in a number of one-man, group, and juried exhibits, Wayne uses numbers to construct geometric shapes and algebra to reassign their positions, proportions, and contours, causing them to overlap. As images emerge they are rapidly examined and modified until a satisfactory composition is created.

The exhibit is free and open to the public from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

BEGINS DESIGN OF NEW LOW-FLOOR STREETCAR FOR THE GREENLINE

New Design Makes Boarding Easier for Customers and Provides Access for Passengers with Disabilities

A long-term project to make the Green Line accessible for passengers with disabilities and easier to use for customers began today when the Board of Directors approved a contract for the conceptual design of new generation of low-floor streetcars.

The new cars are being designed to operate with the current Green Line fleet and will allow the T to phase out the unreliable Boeing-Vertol LRVs (streetcars) which will be nearly 20 years old by the time the new cars are put into service.

The new cars will be the eighth streetcar designed specifically for Boston's unique needs since trolleys began operating on local streets in 1891.

The T Board of Directors accepted a feasibility study on September 5 which called for the use of low-floor cars and modifications to platforms and stations and surface stops as the best way to make the Green Line accessible for passengers with disabilities. Green Line cars now require passengers to climb three high steps to get on board.

T General Manager Thomas P. Glynn said, "Access for all is an important civil rights goal, and we've made a great start. Low-floor cars will make getting in and out possible for the first time for some, and easier and faster for everyone. This will shorten the time we spend at a station stop and give folks a quicker trip. It is a important improvement in customer service."

Glynn added, "The T is living up to its commitment to make the transit system accessible to all."

Denise Karuth, Executive Director of Self Help, Inc. and Chairperson of the former Governor's Commission on Accessible Transportation said, "This is the best holiday present possible for Green Line riders and people with disabilities. Low floor cars will make the Green Line better for everyone."

Larry Braman, Chairman of the East Boston Coalition of Citizens with Disabilities said, "For many years providing access to the Green Line had been considered an impossible feat. This shows what can happen when a state agency is committed to accessibility and backs up that commitment with actions."

The T will be assisted in the design of the new car by LTK Engineering Services of Philadelphia under a contract not to exceed $650,640. LTK worked under a similar contract to help the T design the highly reliable Type 7 streetcar built by Kinki Sharyo of Osaka, Japan. T customers and members of the disabled community will be called upon to help the T design the best car possible.

The feasibility study of Green Line accessibility, which set the stage for today's decision to start design work, was carried out for the T by Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Inc. It included an investigation of vehicle and construction requirements and related costs, and the impact on operations and schedules of improving access to the Green Line's 95 underground, elevated, and surface stations as well as the line's 200 vehicle fleet.

Major recommendations of the study include:

- the best approach to achieving accessibility is through the use of cars with low floors;
- elevators or ramps to station platforms with intermediate level platforms and other modifications required at stations and stops;

- the total time for implementation is estimated at six to ten years, depending on finances and community cooperation;
- supplemental accessible bus service paralleling the Green Line should not be considered as a systemwide alternative to providing accessible light rail vehicles because of the duplication of service, extremely high costs, and run times significantly longer than those for light rail;
- a diversion of bus route #55 via Kenmore as a supplemental service between Kenmore and Park Street stations should be considered.
- the long-term cost of Green Line improvements is $400 million, of which $100 million is to improve access, including the cost of 100 new cars which is estimated at $160 to $190 million.

The Arborway branch which travel on crowded and often cramped city streets, does not have separate reservation, and, in the case of the BC line, has steep street elevations at some stops, make building ramps and providing room on platforms for wheelchairs a tricky engineering problem.

One solution to these problems the T will explore is a system of "key stations," which would offer access at certain key stations along the surface trolley route. This will be explored in conjunction with the city of Boston and community groups.

The schedule for the new car calls for the development of final specifications by the end of 1991, seeking proposals from car builders worldwide in 1992, and assuming the availability of funding, delivery of the first cars for service by the end of 1994.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE. MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

CHRISTOPHER A. IANNELLA
PRESIDENT, CITY COUNCIL

STATE OF THE CITY, JANUARY 9, 1991

Thank you Pat McDonough (City Clerk of Boston), Boston Latin School Classical Chorus, West Roxbury High School Naval ROTC Unit, Ernest Triplett, Father Joseph Diem (Saint Peter's Church of Dorchester), Martha Chumbiray, Jesse Greene, Hugo Solis, Cindy To (Mayor's Youth Leadership Corps), Michael Pantampasis (Headmaster, Boston Latin School), Tim Codrington (Senior Class President, Boston Latin School) and President Piedad Robertson (President, Bunker Hill Community College).

Reverend Clergy, members of the City Council, members of the School Committee, state legislators, neighborhood leaders, friends — thank you for joining me tonight in Boston Latin School's beautifully renovated auditorium. The work done in rehabilitating this historic school stands as testimony to what can be achieved when we all work together.

You know, being Mayor of a city isn't much different than being head of a family. You worry about the children and the bills. You try to keep the house tied up. You try to do the best you can for your kids. Sometimes you even accuse yourself of doing too much for them. And there are times when we get disappointed with them. But whether they are our children or someone else's, they need our help. And one thing's for sure — you can't ever give up on them.

Well, that's how it is in Boston today. We're trying to do what's best for our kids. But like any family, sometimes you run into tough times.

These days family budgets are strained and for the first time in a while, most of us know someone who has just lost a job. Many of us know someone who has been called up for active duty in a potential war zone.

Now in Boston, like cities across the country, we are facing some tough financial times. We're facing the reality of violence and guns, and we're trying to make sure that our children get a good education.

When times get tough for a family, a family comes together. That's true for Boston as well. And time after time in our city, when things have gone wrong, people have pulled together and made things right.

We all know that city government can't be all things to all people. But our priorities in Boston are clear. Government has a job to do. We're going to keep providing the basic city services that you need and deserve, like maintaining the parks, picking up the trash, and having dedicated fire fighters and EMTs there when you need them.

And as difficult as it may be, our number one priority is safe neighborhoods — safe from the deadly mix of guns, drugs and violence. And we can only do this with the cooperation of all levels of government, with parents, and all of us accepting our responsibility.

Now, violence in this country has reached epidemic proportions. Nothing erodes the quality of life like the fear of crime. Boston has nowhere near the problem that other major cities face. But that is no comfort to the victims of crime or their families.

Violence is not just an urban problem — it is an American problem. There are 60 million handguns in the United States and 120 million rifles, shotguns and assault weapons. Think about it — that's almost one firearm for every adult and teenager in this country.

According to the well respected London magazine, The Economist: "Americans are not necessarily more violent than other nationalities; it is just that they are more armed." And these guns are killing Americans in record numbers. They are killing our young people. They are killing our police officers.

Now, last year alone, Boston police took a record number of firearms off the streets — 1,155 — that's like disarming a battalion of soldiers.

The Boston Police Department has conducted a thorough analysis of the patterns of violence in our city. When they looked at where the most serious violent crimes occurred, you know what they found? That only 6 percent of the entire city — small, isolated pockets of larger neighborhoods — has over 60 percent of the street homicides, 37 percent of the gun assaults, and 25 percent of the outstanding warrants.

Based upon this analysis, Commissioner Roache is meeting with a variety of community residents as he develops a new plan to sharpen his targeting efforts into those pockets of violence, and to complement a new city-wide community policing effort.

Overall, there were over 45,000 arrests made in Boston last year. What happened to those arrested? First, on average, it takes more than a year for a serious case to get through the court system. And then, only about 15 percent of those arrested for serious crimes ever serve a day in jail.

In 1989, a study by the Boston Bar Association charged that the single greatest obstacle to the effectiveness of the criminal justice system was the lack of prison space — and they were right. This year, 800 convicted criminals were paroled early and were sent back on our streets.

Simply put — there's no place to put a criminal once convicted.

Now, I have spoken with law enforcement officials at all levels of government about the violence in Boston. They are committed to help Boston end the violence. District Attorney Newman Flanagan will directly indict violent offenders, and he will utilize the power of the grand jury to bring them to swift justice. Attorney General Scott Harshbarger has committed to zero in on violent criminals and fast track prosecutions in Boston. U.S. Attorney Wayne Budd will prosecute and jail violent career criminals through the federal system.

In a meeting with me the other day, Special Agent Terance McCardle of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms committed new federal agents to help Boston police confiscate deadly firearms.

Now, on the day before he was inaugurated, Governor Bill Weld came to my office. He asked me how he could be helpful in dealing with the violence in Boston. I said: "Governor, the biggest problem that we have is that there's no place to put convicted violent criminals — whether juvenile or adult — period." And the governor committed his help.

But we must balance this approach by intervening in the cycle that leads to violence. Let's reach these young people the first time they get in trouble — and before they become violent. We need boot camps where we can send these young offenders to be disciplined and rehabilitated.

At the federal level, it is time to finally break the choke-hold that the powerful and wealthy National Rifle Association has on Congress. Let me ask you: Is it so unreasonable to want a consistent approach to control firearms that cuts across state lines? We need the Brady Bill — a seven day waiting period before a person can buy a gun, and we need a national ban to keep deadly assault weapons from coming into our city.

But we need more than police and more than new laws to stop this violence. In the final analysis, the long-term solution lies in economic justice and opportunity. In Boston, we want a clear path out of poverty as an alternative to the dead end road of criminal activity.

And, as the hundreds of participants in the Safe Neighborhoods Plan told us — we need more than government alone. We must have personal and family responsibility.

This year, one of the most important efforts by the people of the neighborhoods was working together day after day after day, with more commitment than at any time in our City's history. And I want to acknowledge for the record the amount of concern, hard work, pride, and caring that you have shown. I also want to thank our new street workers who are reaching out to the young people in our neighborhoods.

The other day I was walking down Dorchester Ave. and a woman stopped me and said: "Boy do you have a tough job as Mayor of Boston." I thought about that later, and it occurred to me that the hardest job that I have is being a parent.

Kathy and I are raising six children whom we love and are very proud of. But even in my situation, it's difficult being a parent. And I can respect and imagine how much more difficult it must be for many others. It's tough to get my kids to come home after school and study. It's difficult to get them to talk about their problems. It's like pulling teeth to get them to plan for their future. And it's even harder to know where they are all the time and to get them home at a reasonable hour.

You know, there is talk of imposing a curfew on young people in the City. But while we're still looking at that, I'd like to see parents set a curfew and standards of their own in every household. Wouldn't you?

Most of our young people try to be responsible. They're good kids — hard-working — go to church — go to school and study hard. They work and help out around the home. Let's tell them once in a while how proud we are of them.

But it is not only our young people who face challenges. Right now, we all face a time of serious economic uncertainty. It gets harder and harder for Boston and other major cities to deal with these economic challenges.

An out-of-touch federal government has forced the cities of our country to carry Washington's burden on pressing national problems — like homelessness, drug abuse, poverty and AIDS. Washington cannot cure the ills of this nation by amputating America's cities.

We know painfully well that the Massachusetts economy has stalled — unemployment is way up and local aid to our cities is way down. Boston lost over $38 million dollars over the past year. And we know the federal government has walked away from the problems of urban America. As a result several major cities have sunk almost to bankruptcy. And for our City, federal support has been cut from $150 million dollars ten years ago to $79 million dollars today.

But in the City of Boston, we've worked hard and in a disciplined way to keep our financial house in order. We have spent when we could afford to. We cut back when we had to. It's our responsibility. In the last two years, we have had to cut spending in over forty city departments. Today, excluding the School Department, Boston has fewer city employees than we did when I took office seven years ago.

It's tough to say no. But because we did, we've maintained a balanced budget while facing the potential of declining revenues. Wall Street has raised our bond rating five consecutive times to the highest point ever. And all the while, we've embarked on an unprecedented rebuilding of our parks, schools, health centers, streets and sidewalks.

We've been able to provide the essential services government should, and at the same time support the programs which reflect the values and priorities that we stand for.

- By keeping our promise to re-open all of our neighborhood police stations and building new ones; and by increasing the number of police officers on the streets to the highest level since proposition 2 1/2. As a result we have reduced police response time from eleven minutes to six.

- By increasing the number of fire fighters, providing them with the best new equipment available, and bringing the number of multiple alarm fires to its lowest point in forty years.

- By bringing together the City's world-class private hospitals and getting their unprecedented commitment to work with us to do more to fight infant mortality in poor and minority neighborhoods.

- By maintaining our guarantee to provide shelter, a bed, and a hot meal to each and every homeless person, while at the same time making progress on more permanent housing solutions like building more lodging houses.

- By doing the necessary work and taking the necessary risks to improve the racial climate in this city. The twenty-year struggle to desegregate public housing has moved forward without federal court receivership. And just this month, a 13 year lawsuit between HUD and the NAACP has been resolved in a way that brings additional housing resources to the City, yet requires suburban participation in fair housing efforts.

I will continue to work hard to maintain the unity and stability of the City every single day. I will not let people be pitted against one another.

And we will continue to remain true to our values by being a friend to those in need. We will never turn our backs on the elderly who need our support to remain independent, the homeless who need shelter, crack babies struggling to survive, children and adults with AIDS, the mentally ill who need a safe environment, and other needy people who have no where else to turn.

In short, despite tough financial times, we must be about caring — not just coping. In 1991 we will continue to get things done.

This year we are going to break ground on a new $170 million dollar Boston City Hospital — so that poor and working people will have access to the quality health care they need and deserve.

Recently, we won a major uphill victory at the State House in finally getting the green light to develop Parcel 18 in Roxbury. And I'm going ahead with our plans to build a new $40 million dollar police headquarters nearby to further stimulate long overdue economic development and jobs.

This year, we will push hard to get the same results at the Boston State Hospital grounds — nearly 200 acres of prime vacant land in the middle of the city. And we will continue to fight for Boston's fair share of the jobs that will come with the important megaprojects — the cleanup of the Boston Harbor, the construction of the third harbor tunnel, and the depression of the Central Artery. It's time to break ground and get some money as well as some traffic moving through the Boston area.

Now, the economy just doesn't mean big projects. Neighborhood businesses mean neighborhood jobs. This year, we will begin a new program called "Enterprising Neighborhoods" to direct new energy and resources to our small business districts. We want to make sure these main streets are a string of healthy, vibrant places to shop, to do business, and to work.

By the way, last summer with the business community, we provided a record 8,310 jobs for teenagers. I know it's going to be difficult, but we've got to fight hard to ensure that there are enough jobs for our young people again next summer.

If America is to compete in the new, global economy, we will be led — as we have always been led — by our cities. But if cities are to lead, the children of our cities need to learn. They must be prepared for the jobs of the future. And in today's world, preparation means education and training.

In Boston, it's not the children who are failing the schools — it's the system that's failing the children. It is estimated that nearly 60 percent of Boston's public high school students either drop out of school or graduate barely able to read.

Today, I signed the home rule petition passed by the City Council that would finally provide for clear responsibility for public education in Boston. There is something about responsibility — if it's not clear, it's not there. And the problem we have with public education in Boston today is that nobody is accountable.

Under this significant reform proposal, a strong superintendent would be chosen by the mayor and given the authority to run the schools. And that superintendent would be both fiscally and educationally accountable to the parents and school children of Boston.

Tonight, I am asking you — as parents, as taxpayers, as business leaders, as people who care about our young people and our city — to support sweeping educational reform and increased accountability for the Boston public schools. Let's give our kids the quality education that they deserve.

I see the petition before the legislature as the best chance for our schools. It's time for a change. In fact, it's long past time for a change. I'm going to push for this bill, but there are people who tell me that state receivership — or even a voucher system — are the next options if this fails. Is that what we really want for education in Boston?

You know, I'm out there every day and every night listening to what people have to say — from Gerard's in Adams Village to Ma Dixon's in Grove Hall to the Palace Spa in Brighton. I know people are worried about their jobs, their kids, what's happening in the city, and what's happening in the Persian Gulf. I know these are tough times, but we've come through tough times before. And like a family, sometimes we come out even stronger because of it.

There are some out there who say that these are impossible times. Well, they don't understand our determination, and they underestimate our resolve. We'll be tough when we have to be — compassionate when we must be — that's what we're about.

We'll keep taking it one day at a time. We'll do what we can, and we'll try not to complain about what we can't change. Boston will continue to go forward. And we'll come out of this a better and stronger city.

Thank you.

MBTA AND PFD CLOSE OUT LOAN PROGRAM

The City of Boston's Public Facilities Department (PFD) and the MBTA closed out their joint small business loan program with low-interest loans to four small businesses in Jamaica Plain and the South End. The program, administered by PFD and funded by the MBTA, was launched in 1989 to assist small businesses affected by the MBTA's enhancement activities in the Southwest Corridor. A total of nine loans, totalling $2.2 million, have been provided in the Southwest Corridor, resulting in $5 million in physical improvements to neighborhood businesses located along the route of the old El in Roxbury, Jamaica Plain, and the South End.

"Administering this program with the T has been part of our long-time commitment to helping small businesses throughout the City keep up with the changing urban environment," said Lisa G. Chapnick, director of PFD. "We appreciate the participation of the Shawmut Bank and the Bank of Boston, who both helped in making this program a success."

In the South End, the Boston Center for the Arts on Tremont Street has received $350,000 to help install a new heating and ventilation system so that its Cyclorama space can be rented out for special functions year-round, to allow the BCA to make the space completely accessible to the handicapped, and to repair its roof.

The Jamaica Plain businesses that received loans include Yang's Martial Arts Association on Hyde Park Avenue ($350,000 to renovate the existing building and construct a 4,000 square foot addition); Mello Fuel on Brookley Road ($350,000 to acquire an adjacent property for an expansion, and to renovate the existing building for use as office space); and SOS Plumbing on Stanley Road ($100,000 to upgrade office and work space).

As part of their administration of the program, PFD offered loan recipients financial counseling, architectural assistance with plans and services necessary to complete a project, help with any necessary expedition of IPOD and zoning variances, and assistance with the community review process.

Development costs for the four projects total $1.725 million. The loans are being provided through the Shawmut Bank. Work on some of the facilities has already begun.

COMMITMENT AND COMPASSION

Mayor Raymond L. Flynn*

Dear Friends:

I am proud to present you with a status report describing the City's efforts to address the needs of the homeless population — including the Winter Plan 1990-91. Again this winter, the people of Boston have made the commitment that no homeless person will be denied a warm bed, a hot meal, access to quality health care and transportation to a shelter.

The homeless are a diverse group. The face of homelessness is the face of a child, of a person with mental illness, of a senior citizen, of a person addicted to drugs, of a person with AIDS, and of a wage earner whose wages are inadequate to pay for both rent and food. The diversity of their needs requires us to craft a variety of solutions.

Shelter providers are very alarmed at the growing numbers of homeless, especially the increase in the number of mentally ill people who are in shelters and on the streets because of the lack of more appropriate settings. The holiday season brings homelessness into sharp focus, but its pain and deprivation last throughout the year. Addressing both the symptoms and the underlying causes of this national tragedy falls to all of us.

Our goal is not better shelters and soup kitchens, It's to eliminate the need for shelters and soup kitchens.

The numbers of people with severe mental illness, frequently complicated by addictions, are overwhelming our shelters. In the shelter, they may pose a danger to themselves and others. But left to the streets, they will surely die in the winter night. Their needs are desperate and compelling.

Cities alone do not have the resources to completely meet the housing, mental health, health care and other needs of poor and homeless people. But because of the commitment and concern of Boston's residents, we have stretched our limited resources and addressed the basic needs of our most vulnerable citizens. The state government is dumping its fiscal mess on the backs of the most needy. Programs that provided group homes for the mentally ill, rent subsidies for the poor, and housing search services for families have been severely cut.

The solution is not complicated. A segment of the mentally ill population needs humane professional care in a highly structured and secure environment. Others require a residence with trained staff in a medically supervised community setting. Some simply need an affordable apartment or rooming house with access to mental health services.

These mental health concerns demand an immediate response. If the homeless mentally ill are not taken off the streets and given the help to which they are legally entitled, our fragile system of providing help to all in need will disintegrate.

If we are going to really solve the problem, the federal government needs to return as a full partner with state, city and community organizations to assure every American a safe, decent, and affordable place to live. Without this partnership, we will continue to see homeless men, women and children sleeping in shelters and eating in soup kitchens.

As Chair of the United States Conference of Mayors Task Force on Hunger and Homelessness, I have worked closely with advocates and providers from across the country to change national policies, not only to meet the needs of the homeless, but — more importantly — to prevent people from becoming homeless in the first place. In October of this year, after a decade of steady cuts in housing assistance, Congress passed a comprehensive housing bill that actually increased federal housing funds. This legislation, modeled after our efforts in Boston, includes funds to protect the inventory of existing subsidized housing, to help first-time homebuyers, and to modernize public housing. I am particularly pleased that the bill incorporates the Community Housing Partnership Act, a program to provide federal funds to community-based non-profit housing developers.

But we cannot rest with this victory. This is a good first step. But it is hardly a solution. The bill provides a solid foundation for redirecting federal housing funds — but the level of resources authorized by the new legislation is a drop in the bucket compared to the level of need.

This year, the state's fiscal crisis adds an extra dimension to the crisis of homelessness. For over a decade, the federal government steadily slashed housing and social service programs that provided a "safety net" for the poor and vulnerable in our cities. Massachusetts has been one of the few states that, during the 1980s sought to fill some of that gap with its own housing and human service programs. Although the state lacked the resources to meet many of the obvious needs, its efforts did serve to cushion some of the suffering created by the federal government's withdrawal.

Strong leadership by the new Governor and his administration, as well as by the incoming state legislature — working with advocates, providers and city officials — must resolve this issue and find the resources needed to stem this tide of misery. But many concerned citizens are growing impatient. Shelter providers have been discussing the possibility of taking legal action to force the Commonwealth to fulfill its responsibility toward the homeless mentally ill.

Additionally, we need to reorder our nation's priorities. We cannot continue to pour billions of dollars into bailing out the savings and loan industry, and providing indiscriminate tax breaks for the very rich, while proven cost-effective programs that improve the lives of poor and working class Americans go begging.

During the past year we lost one of our strongest allies in the struggle for social justice — Mitch Snyder. I worked closely with Mitch over the years on a number of fronts. He visited Boston often and I joined him at rallies, meetings as well as at Congressional hearings in Washington.

Mitch's talent was to help galvanize these fledgling grassroots efforts into a national political force — and to stir the consciences of millions of Americans to participate in the politics of homelessness. Let Mitch's legacy be our renewed dedication to reordering our nation's priorities, solving the problems of economic and social injustice, and waging peace.

There is more work to do — in Boston and else where — to progress toward these goals. Please join with me and the other people of Boston in this commitment.

Sincerely,
Raymond L. Flynn,
Mayor of Boston.

It is the policy of the City of Boston to award at least 15 percent of the City's contract dollars to minority-owned businesses and at least 5 percent to women-owned businesses.

The Parks and Recreation Department held its second contract bidding workshop designed to inform all interested contractors about the process of submitting a successful bid to a city agency. Over 30 people attended this year's workshop according to Claudette Bailey, Parks Department Affirmative Action Manager.

The workshop, which included a presentation by Parks Department planning director Justine Liff, covered nine topics: an overview of design, capital project and service and maintenance contracts, the bidding process, payment procedures, Boston Residents Jobs Policy, Minority and Women Business Enterprise certification, joint venture bidding and bonding.

In addition to demystifying the bidding process, the Parks Department workshop was an opportunity to solicit more participation from general contractors on Park Department projects. The last workshop resulted in ten new contracts with the Park Department.

Dear Mayor Flynn:

On December 29, 1989, your Honor approved the award of a contract, to The Computer Merchant Ltd., 80 Washington Street, Building Norwell, MA 02061, for software development contracting services during the period September 1, 1989 through June 30, 1990 at a cost not exceed Eighty-seven Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($87,500.00).

Your approval is requested to amend this contract to provide for additional compensation associated with the system analysis of the Health and Hospitals systems which was not anticipated under the terms of the original contract. The compensation has to be increased from Eighty-seven Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($87,500.00) to Ninety-six Thousand Seven Hundred Dollars ($96,700.00). The total cost of this amendment shall not exceed Nine Thousand Two Hundred Dollars ($9,200.00) and shall be charged to appropriation code 011-140-0149-MI03-0290.

The Computer Merchants, Ltd. has done work for this division in the past and has a unique knowledge of the total operation requirements and application development of this system have determined that the cost of these services is reasonable and it would serve no useful purpose to advertise again.

Sincerely yours,
Allan K. Stern,

HEALTH AND HOSPITALS DEPARTMENT

MACHINE REPAIRS

C48

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to amend a contract with National Business Systems, enhower Drive, Paramus, NJ 07652 for the period July 1, 1989 through June 30, 1990 at a cost not to exceed twelve thousand dollars ($12,000.00).

This amendment will increase the contract sum three thousand dollars ($3,000.00), thereby increasing the City's total liability under this contract, as so amended, to an amount not to exceed fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000.00).

The cost of repairs to maintain automatic hospital card embossers were underestimated, therefore this contract is being amended.

In view of the above, and as the cost increase, in my opinion, is reasonable, I recommend approval of this amendment.

Very truly yours,
Judith Kurland,
Commissioner.

PATIENT CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM

H315-90

June 7, 1990

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to amend the contract for the provision of a microcomputer based patient classification system with Medicus Systems Corporation, 169 Freeman Parkway, Providence, RI 02960 at a cost not to exceed two hundred seventy-three thousand twenty-one dollars ($73,021.00). The contract period is June 20, 1989 through June 30, 1990.

This amendment shall increase the contract by additional eight thousand three hundred four dollars ($8,304.00), thereby increasing the City's total liability under this contract, as so amended, to an amount not to exceed two hundred eighty-one thousand three hundred twenty-five dollars ($281,325.00).

Under the original contract the Department of Health and Hospitals purchased a Patient Classification System that provides a unique multi-dimensional staffing translation framework for translating workload into institution-specific staffing requirements based on hospital specific matrices. This amendment will provide for purchase of two additional software packages. EMERGE software will enhance Boston City Hospital's ability to evaluate the classification of each Emergency Department separately. The Quality Plus software will facilitate the Long Term Care Division in the execution of their Quality Assurance program independent of Boston City Hospital.

Because the original contract was awarded as a result of a public bid, the services provided have been satisfactory and the cost, in my opinion, is reasonable, I recommend approval of this amendment.

Very truly yours,
Judith Kurland,
Commissioner.

BUILDING AND PROPERTY REPAIRS

C202-90

June 7, 1990

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to amend the following contract for the amount shown:

Contract No., C202-90; Vendor, J. A. Marino

Automatic Heating Co., 205 South Street, Jamaica Plain, MA 02130; Original Amount, $118,000.00; New Contract Amount, $145,000.00.

The above contract is for estimating periodically the cost of, and thereafter, upon the lowest responsible estimate, performing repairs on buildings and properties for the Department of Health and Hospitals for the period July 1, 1989 through June 30, 1990.

This amendment, which applies to Mattapan Hospital only, is necessary to cover the additional costs incurred for the installation of new condensate and compound cold water meters to non Health & Hospitals buildings located on the site of Mattapan Hospital. The installation of these meters will relieve the Department of Health & Hospitals of the utility expenses.

Therefore, in view of the above, and as the cost increase, in my opinion, is reasonable, I recommend approval of this amendment.

Very truly yours,
Judith Kurland,
Commissioner.

C196-90

June 7, 1990

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to amend the following contract for the amount shown:

Contract No., C196-90; Vendor, P. J. Kennedy & Sons, Inc., 486 Albany Street, Boston, MA 02118; Original Amount, $23,000.00; New Contract Amount, $26,500.00.

The above contract is for estimating periodically the cost of, and thereafter, upon the lowest responsible estimate, performing repairs on buildings and properties for the Department of Health and Hospitals for the period July 1, 1989 through June 30, 1990.

This amendment, which applies to Long Island Hospital only, is necessary to cover the additional costs incurred for repairs to these buildings. The pipes in these buildings are old and corroded and the volume of needed repairs was underestimated.

Therefore, in view of the above, and as the cost increase, in my opinion, is reasonable, I recommend approval of this amendment.

Very truly yours,
Judith Kurland,
Commissioner.

X-RAY REPORTS

H47-90

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to amend the contract with The Hunter Group, Inc., 15 Sleeper Street, Boston, MA 02210 for the period July 1, 1988 through June 30, 1990 at a cost not to exceed one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000.00).

This amendment will increase the contract sum by twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00), thereby increasing the City's total liability under this contract, as so amended, to an amount not to exceed one hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($175,000.00).

Due to an increased volume of x-ray reports to be transcribed it is necessary to amend this contract.

In view of the above, and as the cost increase, in my opinion, is reasonable, I recommend approval of this amendment.

Very truly yours,
Judith Kurland,
Commissioner.

C-3242-88

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT

Re: Design of the Renovations to Hyde Park Police Station Amendment #2, Project #4716
Dear Mr. Mayor:

Pursuant to a vote of the Public Facilities Commission on May 29, 1990, I respectfully request Your Honor's written permission to dispense with further public advertisement and further amend a contract executed on June 28, 1988 with DiMarinisi & Wolfe, Architects & Urban Designers, a Massachusetts General Partnership with offices at 2 Park Plaza, Boston, MA 02116, for design of the renovations to Hyde Park Police Station including sprinkler system, new ceilings, cell block lobby, front desk, associated finishes, a new sewer ejector system and investigation of the emergency generator system. The scope of work of this contract, as amended, included preliminary design, design development, working drawings and construction supervision.

This amendment is necessary due to unforeseen asbestos and structural problems in the cell block. Also, renovation of the parking lot was included in the original scope of work, contingent on funding. Additional funding has become available through the Office of Capital Planning.

The cost of these additional design services shall not exceed $7,511, resulting in an amended contract cost that shall not exceed $60,791 (including $20,411 for supplementary services), which is a fixed fee of 13.46% based on an estimated cost of construction of $300,000. The term of this contract shall be extended to July 28, 1990.

In view of the technical and professional nature of the services required, the expertise and familiarity of the designer with all existing conditions and the reasonable cost of such services, it is my view that further public advertising would serve no useful purpose. I, therefore, request permission to dispense with inviting sealed bids in the City Record under authority granted in the City of Boston Code, St. 4, s. 5.

Sincerely,
Lisa G. Chapnick,
Director.

C-7360-89

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT Engineering Services

Dear Mr. Mayor:

On October 11, 1988, his Honor the Mayor approved the award of a contract to STV/Seelye Stevenson Value & Knecht, 230 Congress Street, Boston, Massachusetts, for ENGINEERING SERVICES RELATIVE TO THE GRANITE PIER AND FENDER SYSTEM REHABILITATION OF THE CHELSEA STREET BRIDGE, SC-7360(89), at a cost not to exceed Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000), for the period August 15, 1988 to June 30, 1989 and extended for time to December 31, 1991.

Your permission is respectfully requested to amend this contract, effective on August 1, 1990.

This is necessary, as the Consultants had been subject to a protracted review process by the Massachusetts Department of Public Works (MDPW), the Federal Highway Administration (FWHA), and the U. S. Coast Guard of plan revisions, necessary comments, and recently a directive to adjust their contract to reflect two contracts with the appropriate funding and design criteria.

The cost of this amendment shall not exceed Forty-nine thousand and 00/100 dollars ($49,000), a fixed cost, which I have determined to be reasonable for the work. The contract, as amended, shall not exceed Ninety-nine thousand and 00/100 Dollars ($99,000).

Inasmuch as this work is related directly to and in conjunction with an existing contract, I feel that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,
Joseph F. Casazza,
Commissioner of Public Works.

C-7412-90

Snow Removal

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Your permission is respectfully requested to amend this contract to provide for additional funds, as billings submitted indicate our next and Final Estimate for Payment will have depleted and exceeded our original encumbrance amount.

The cost of this amendment, which is effective on April 1, 1990, shall not exceed One thousand six hundred seventy-five dollars ($1,675.00), at rates set forth in the original bid and are reasonable for the services. The contract, as amended, shall not exceed One hundred one thousand six hundred seventy-five dollars ($101,675.00).

Inasmuch as this work is related directly to and in conjunction with an existing contract, I feel that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,

CITY TRUST OFFICE ISSUES PROGRESS REPORT

In spite of massive cutbacks in state and federal assistance, Boston's neighborhoods are experiencing a "mini-boom" in capital projects. They include parks and playground renovation, construction of new youth facilities, expansion of neighborhood health centers thanks to the foresight and generosity of some long departed Bostonians and the fiscal management skills and investment acumen of the City of Boston Trust Office staff.

Boston, unlike communities unable to continue construction and renovation of vital publicly-used facilities is enjoying the benefits of the sound management of its Trust Fund monies which currently finance twenty-eight major capital projects totalling in excess of $7.5 Million across the City's neighborhoods.

These projects range from a new $1.7 Million Teen Center and Gymnasium in South Boston built with George Robert White Funds to new lighting and entrance improvements at Franklin Park paid for with $460,000 from the George Francis Parkman Trust.

Robert J. Fleming, Executive Secretary of the City's small but effective Trust Office credits the Flynn Administration's commitment to Boston's neighborhoods for the transformation of the Trust Office from a "somewhat ad hoc, downtown-oriented collection of funds to a pro-actively organized financial resource for funding important neighborhood projects."

Fleming said: "Comparative studies of other similar fund-management programs nation-wide show that, since 1984, Boston has realized a significant increase in both interest income and financial performance of various funds administered by the Trust Office. Seven years ago we were in the bottom 10% — today we are in the top 25%." This enhanced performance has added millions of dollars to our fund balance."

Fleming added that Boston currently holds $90 Million in trust funds compared to $55 Million in 1984.

What these numbers translate to, explained Fleming, "are more capital projects for Boston's neighborhoods and renovation, improvement and upkeep for local parks, playgrounds memorials, health centers, youth and elderly centers and other facilities."

Fleming added that the Trust Office funds have sponsored nearly $20

Million in capital projects since 1984, but hastened to add that Trust Fund expenditures comprise but a small part of Boston's $1 Billion capital improvement program, and cannot take the place of necessary funding.

Fleming explained: "The far-sighted benefactors such as George Robert White and Edward Ingersoll Browne and others who entrusted funds to our City cautioned that these monies should not be viewed as a replacement for important public works but as special funds for projects that would not be funded routinely."

Mayor Raymond L. Flynn, who serves as Trustee of many of the City Trust Funds, including the George Robert White Fund and the Edward Ingersoll Browne Fund which sponsor the great majority of the capital projects, expressed his pleasure that monies bequeathed to the City were being used for so many different neighborhood projects.

Trust Office Report . . .

Flynn said: "Through the use of sound money management principles and a coordinated and cooperative relationship between the Trust Office, the various city agencies and the neighborhood groups in Boston, we have been able to help to fill a gap in funding left by federal and state government cutbacks. More importantly, we have utilized the Trust funds for their intended purpose, namely the improvement of the quality of life of the people of Boston."

The following is a list and brief summary of capital projects currently sponsored by City of Boston Trust Funds:

According, the Contractor has been involved in past litigation for the City regarding other airline personal property issues, as well as valuation cases involving Boston Edison property.

Because of the expertise of the Contractor the professional nature of the services to be performed, and the on-going nature of this case, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose at this time.

Sincerely,

Thaddeus J. Jankowski, Jr.,

C-1216-91

Dear Mr. Mayor,

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to Marie T. Lee, 114 Perkins Street, Jamaica Plain, MA 02130 for litigation services to the Assessing Department.

Under the terms of this contract, Marie T. Lee, will be representing the Board of Assessors and the City of Boston on various major litigation matters before the Appellate Tax Board and other courts and on appeal as necessary. Specifically, this shall include representing the Board of Assessors and the City of Boston in the ongoing litigation with V & M Management, Inc., defending the legal status on the Mandela-Westminster/Willard c. 121A projects.

Ms. Lee is uniquely qualified to render the required services. She is a graduate of Duke University and Emory Law School. She has been a licensed practicing attorney in Massachusetts since 1980 and served as a Special Assistant Corporation Counsel in the Assessing Department from 1981 to 1989. In that capacity, she is responsible for many major, complicated valuation cases in which she was able to obtain favorable outcomes for the city. Among those cases were the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company case, the Salada Tea Building (301 Berkeley Street) and the John Hancock Building.

Ms. Lee was also appointed by your Honor as a member of the Board of Review of the Assessing Department in 1984. In 1987, I selected Ms. Lee as Chairman of the Board because of her overall abilities and her excellence as an attorney with a keen understanding of assessing law and practices. Ms. Lee resigned from the City in January of 1989.

Ms. Lee had a contract with the City of Boston Assessing Department in FY '90 amounting to $25,000. The terms of this contract shall be from July 1, 1990 to June 30, 1991.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), a cost which I have determined to be reasonable for the services to be performed. The Contractor shall be paid on an hourly basis at the rate of one hundred dollars ($100) per hour, all expenses included.

Because the required services are highly expert and professional in nature, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Sincerely,

Thaddeus J. Jankowski, Jr.,
Commissioner.

C-1220-91

Maintenance and Enhancement Services

Dear Mr. Mayor,

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to Sigma Systems Technology, Inc., 6265 Sheridan Drive, Suite 202, Williamsville, New York 14224, for Computer Assisted Mass Appraisal System (CAMA) maintenance and enhancement services to the Assessing Department to assist the department in valuing taxable real property.

Under the terms of this contract, the Contractor shall maintain the Assessing Department's existing CAMA system and perform other miscellaneous functions as required. The Contractor will also provide the following enhancement and support services: 1) update the land valuation module of the cost valuation system to accomplish the access assessment subdistricts rather than the block land valuation locational identifier 2) provide model application table to enable the valuation of properties using regression models without having to go through market interface and MOD-PRO 3) incorporate Boston's new apportionment valuation program into Sigma menu system 4) initialize development and specification of an interface program which enables the use of Sigma's MOD-PRO software with Boston's new commercial property data management system. 5) provide on-site training to Assessing Department employees in advanced level modelling techniques, including non-linear and bayesian regression 6) provide miscellaneous data processing support as requested by the City.

These services are required to improve the capacity of the City of Boston Assessing Department to fulfill its statutory obligation to annually assess taxable real property within its jurisdiction at full and fair market value.

The Contractor is uniquely qualified to perform these services. It previously developed and installed the existing residential CAMA system to the complete satisfaction of the Assessing Department. The existing RPIS and MODPRO systems are customized and unique. Sigma is the sole source for upgrading the MODPRO system to include non-linear and constrained regression on capabilities.

In addition, the Assessing Department has determined that it is not cost effective in either the long or short term to contract with another vendor to supply the maintenance and other customized services to be supplied by this vendor with respect to the existing CAMA system. Sigma is the vendor which originally designed and developed software with the capability of directly accessing files and enhancing existing functions. Other vendors would be required to undergo an uncertain, lengthy and therefore costly period of acclimation to acquire the skills necessary to provide the same customized services.

Sigma was initially selected as the result of a national search and RFP process to install the residential CAMA system.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000), a cost which I have determined to be reasonable for the services to be performed. The Contractor shall be compensated at the rates set forth in the contract.

The terms of this contract shall be from July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991.

Sigma Systems has had a contract with the Assessing Department for the last three fiscal years amounting to $37,650 in FY'90, $35,000 in FY'89 and $45,000 in FY'88.

Because of the professional and technical nature of the services to be performed, I believe that public advertising at this time would serve on useful purpose.

Sincerely,
Thaddeus J. Jankowski, Jr.,
Commissioner.

at a cost of one thousand four hundred ninety five dollars ($1,495.00) per year for each processor. The agreement provides full emergency service including parts, labor, travel and preventive maintenance.

Miles, Inc. was awarded an unadvertised contract for the past two fiscal years in the following amounts: 1990—$2,990.00; 1989—$2,990.00. In fiscal year 1988, as a result of public bid American Scientific Products was awarded a contract for $2,400.00. American Scientific Products was unable to repair the equipment and had to call in Miles, Inc. to fix the equipment.

In view of the above Boston City Hospital Mattapan Hospital once per week not to exceed four (4) hours per session. These sessions will be provided to Long Island Hospital every other week for a maximum of twenty-six weeks up to but not to exceed four (4) hours per session. Administrative time, to be determined solely by the Medical Director, will not exceed ten (10) hours per year at each hospital. All services will be reimbursed at the rate of $55.00 per hour, to be paid on a services rendered basis. The total contract amount has decreased because the weekly coverage was reduced from three times per week to once a week for Mattapan Hospital and from once a week to every other week for Long Island Hospital.

Dr. Bague was awarded unadvertised contracts for the past three fiscal years in the following amounts: 1990—$18,260.00; 1989—$47,960.00; 1988—$43,600.00.

As Dr. Bague is a specialist in this field, because of the professional nature of the services to be provided and as the cost, in my opinion, is reasonable, no useful purpose would be served by publicly advertising for bids.

Very truly yours,
Judith Kurland,
Commissioner.

June 13, 1990

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request Your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and award a contract to Rev. Glynis Hawkins, 15 Garrison Street, #9, Boston, Massachusetts 02116 for the period July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991 at a cost not to exceed nine thousand two hundred two dollars ($9,202.00).

Under this contract Rev. Hawkins will provide pastoral counseling and liturgical services related to the needs of Protestant patients at Long Island Hospital. Services are to be provided sixteen (16) hours per week at a cost of $11.00 per hour for a total of $176.00 per week. One (1) special Holyday service will be provided during the year at a cost of $50.00 per service. In addition, Rev. Hawkins will be on call for emergency visits.

Fiscal year 1991 is the first year an unadvertised contract will be awarded to Rev. Glynis Hawkins in the amount of $6,706.00. Rev. Frances S. Burroughs was awarded advertised contracts for the past two fiscal years in the following amounts: 1990—$6,706.00; 1989—$6,706.00. In fiscal year 1988 an unadvertised contract was awarded to Rev. COMMITMENT AND COMPASSION

HISTORY OF HOMELESSNESS IN BOSTON

For over three centuries, since Boston's settlement in 1630, the city has responded to the needs of its homeless. Unlike the homeless of today who are families with children, Vietnam Veterans, the mentally ill, and the drug and alcohol addicted, people in that era were generally families who had suffered a personal tragedy. Community elders provided food and necessities for these families, and in 1675 the Massachusetts government began to provide for the care of families fleeing to Boston because of King Philip's War against the American settlers. This action was one of the first examples of government involvement to shelter people with no place else to go.

The following century was marked with periods of economic decline during which the number of people needing assistance increased. During the twenty-year span of 1730-1750 people found it increasingly difficult to support their families. Boston and many other cities established a "warning out" policy to prevent strangers from obtaining poor relief according to historian Gary Nash in the Urban Crucible, while at the same time the City opened a warehouse on Boston Common for able-bodied men and an almshouse for the ill, disabled, and aged. It was the City's intention to decrease the expense of relief for the poor by concentrating them in one place. The workhouse, for example, required men to chop wood for two hours in exchange for shelter.

Due to an economic boom after the American Revolution, the number of homeless poor, or "tramps," decreased. In 1837, the numbers once again increased as a result of a severe economic downturn that continued until 1842. Irish immigration which began in the late 1840s, brought increasing numbers of poor people to Boston. Historian Oscar Handlin in his book, Boston's Immigrants, wrote "the cost of poor relief expanded year after year."

During the later part of the 1800s, after the Civil War, Boston became an industrial center with a fluctuating unemployment level. As a result, the need for personal assistance fluctuated, as well. From 1870 to 1920, many private charitable institutions developed to address the needs of Boston's poor. The Salvation Army (1905), The Merrimac Mission (now Kingston House, 1899), Women's

For further information on how to adopt a statue please contact the Environment Department at 725-3850 (Paula Mierzejewski) or Office of Arts and Humanities at 725-3245 (Mary Shannon).

Homelessness . . .

Educational and Industrial Union (1877), and the Rufus Dawes Hotel (now Pine Street Inn, 1916) are a few examples of organizations which joined with the City government's Overseers of the Poor developed to aid the destitute. According to historian Alexander Keyssar, in Out of Work, a study of Massachusetts unemployment, "the number of tramps tended to increase dramatically during depressions and to diminish rapidly when jobs were more plentiful." Throughout the early and mid 1800s, the City provided temporary lodging in police station "tramp rooms." The homeless also stayed in the many lodging houses or at the City-run Hawkins Street Woodyard. According to Keyssar, similar to today's poor, quite frequently homeless families would double-up in order to pay the rent.

The next momentous point in history, the Great Depression, resulted in an unprecedented number of unemployed. The mayor at that time, James Michael Curley, increased public works programs to provide more jobs and held fundraisers to increase assistance for the poverty stricken. The New Deal, brainchild of President Roosevelt, provided federal relief to the elderly and to children, eventually decreasing the City's expenditures for poor relief. The passage of the Social Security Act in 1935 was a major turning point to help the elderly meet housing and other basic needs.

After World War II, the homeless were served by primarily private organizations. In 1961, Action for Boston Community Development (ABCD) prepared a report titled, "The Socially Unattached and Isolated Residents of Skid Row." This report researched and evaluated the inner workings of the programs established to help the homeless. It was at this point in time when the homeless were being removed from the Scollay Square area (Government Center) due to urban renewal.

ADVOCACY AND EDUCATION

Mayor Raymond L. Flynn has been a strong and visible advocate for the homeless at the local, state, and national level. He has worked with advocacy organizations to make the plight of the homeless a priority and to increase public awareness of homelessness. Attention has been focused on the day-to-day needs of homeless men, women, and children and to strike a blow at the heart of the basic problems which lead to homelessness.

Mayor Flynn has called on the federal government to enact aggressive policies which address the unique needs of homeless people. He has encouraged input on all levels of government to develop national housing legislation that would create low-income housing. He has committed the City of Boston to find every means possible to develop and preserve low income and affordable housing.

As chairman of the U.S. Conference of Mayors Task Force on Hunger and Homelessness, Mayor Flynn knows all too well about the seriousness of homelessness which affects virtually every part of our country. He also knows that homelessness is not a problem that can be solved by government alone or by individual organizations. All constituencies must work together to provide our homeless with protection from the streets.

In that vein, the U.S.C.M. Task Force has issued annual reports surveying the extent of hunger and homelessness in American cities, as well as special reports on the growing number of homeless families, de-institutionalized mentally ill, and other topics. These reports have received national attention and have helped to focus the public on an issue that affects all of us.

For most people as the cold weather approaches, thoughts turn to the holidays. However, for many people who make their homes on city streets, their thoughts turn to survival. The City of Boston is doing everything within its power to battle the serious problems of homelessness by ensuring a warm bed, a hot meal, transportation to shelters, and health care for every homeless person; and by rallying support from our representatives in Washington.

While the City is grateful for the compassionate support it receives from the many volunteers who are committed to help its homeless, it knows that shelter alone is not the answer — permanent affordable housing is.

The Flynn Administration has made the commitment to providing safe, decent and affordable housing for all. It is the Mayor's belief that housing isn't a privilege, it's a right; and shelter isn't a luxury, it's a necessity.

Mayor Flynn has worked with advocates such as the late Mitch Snyder, and Robert Hayes, founder of the National Coalition for the Homeless to widen public knowledge of the issues of homelessness, hunger, and poverty. He has spoken out at public forums regarding homelessness across the country — spreading the message that homelessness is a national problem of monumental proportions.

In 1987, Mayor Flynn called on national religious and union leaders to join with elected officials and grassroots organizations to sponsor "Justice for All" day in cities throughout the United States. This event focused on poverty issues in affluent America. Mayor Flynn also served as an initiator of the national Campaign to End Hunger and Homelessness, a coalition founded to make these issues part of national election campaigns. He kicked off the Campaign on Iowa's presidential primary day in Des Moines.

Furthermore, as a member of the Democratic Party Platform Committee, Mayor Flynn helped to draft the party's platform statement calling for a renewed federal commitment to build low-income housing and to address the needs of the homeless. Representing the U.S. Conference of Mayors, he has met with congressional leaders to urge swift passage of legislation for the homeless, including legislation that led to the McKinney Homeless Assistance Act.

Recognizing that the homeless problem will be resolved only when there is a stronger federal commitment to low-income housing, Mayor Flynn has worked with the U.S. Conference of Mayors and the National League of Cities to lobby congress for federal funding. He worked with Massachusetts Congressman Joseph Kennedy to draft and promote the Community Housing Partnership Act, which was filed in February 1988 and modeled on the highly successful Boston Housing Partnership. The Act will provide federal matching funds to cities to help non-profit developers rehabilitate and build affordable housing. The legislation has already gained 100 co-sponsors in the U.S. House of Representatives. An element of a new omnibus bill currently being pieced together by Congress, the Community Housing Partnership Act will be instrumental in providing homes and shelter for many of our nation's homeless.

Mayor Flynn has worked hard to spread the message that our federal dollars are not being spent on the Americans who need assistance — people such as the homeless. Rather, too much has been doled out to save the greedy savings and loans speculators. The S&L bailout is perhaps the most outrageous scandal in the nation's history. It is surely the most expensive — more costly than the Vietnam War.

Created to help Americans purchase homes, the S&Ls were allowed to expand their lending activities and engage in risky real estate speculation as well as fraud and mismanagement. The risk resulted in scandal and the American public is spending billions to lift America's wealthiest out of a jam.

Compounded by the federal Housing and Urban Development scam and budget cuts, which resulted in a 75% decrease in HUD dollars during the Reagan era, the S&L crisis takes a major bite out of funds that otherwise could be used for legitimate domestic needs. These tragedies have resulted in the reduction in affordable housing starts nationally from 300,000 units annually to a rock bottom low of 15,000 units each year.

As National Co-chairman of the Financial Democracy Campaign, Mayor Flynn is leading the way for a reformed system which encourages banks to participate in the creation of affordable housing.

The Mayor has also endorsed and actively campaigned for the Massachusetts Right to Housing Project which sought to amend the Massachusetts state constitution to guarantee every citizen decent, affordable housing. The project grew out of a broad based coalition of support based in labor, human services, and community organizations.

Recently, Mayor Flynn visited impoverished areas in West Virginia while representing the U.S. Conference of Mayors at a National Commission on Children meeting in March of last year. The Mayor discovered that one out of every four West Virginians lives in poverty. Many families sleep in only cars or shacks. On this visit, Mayor Flynn saw some of the most depressing economic conditions ever witnessed. But, despite families living in old buses with sub-standard sanitary conditions and sub-par medical care, inadequate welfare, housing, and child care benefits are available for these needy people.

As a national spokesperson on behalf of the impoverished and the homeless, Mayor Flynn is standing up for the rights of all Americans to safe, decent, affordable housing.

BPL CELEBRATES "BLACK HISTORY MONTH" WITH PROGRAMS AND EXHIBITS

The Boston Public Library will celebrate "Black History Month" with more than 75 programs and exhibits scheduled during January, February, and March at the Central Library in Copley Square and 11 branch libraries throughout the city.

Black History Month is an expansion of the earlier Negro History Week which was begun in Boston in 1926 by Dr. Carter G. Woodson, a Harvard graduate and founder of the Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History, to bring to the attention of America the contributions made in the arts and sciences, religion, and philosophy by Black Americans.

He chose February for the observance because it contained the birthdays of both Abraham Lincoln and abolitionist Frederick Douglass. In 1972, "Black" replaced "Negro" in the title. Although the celebration of Black History Month was initially limited to February in Afro-American communities, it has since been expanded to include January and March and has become a nationwide observance providing an opportunity for non-Black people to learn about one of America's most gifted and creative minorities.

The Boston Public Library's annual celebration of Black History Month began in 1963 and now includes a diverse three-month offering of programs for all ages: art, book, and media exhibits, workshops, book discussion groups, children's storyhours, children, young adult and adult film programs, lectures, musical and dance performances, poetry readings, and slide presentations.

WINTER PLAN 1990-91

This is the fourth winter in which the people of the City of Boston have made the commitment that no homeless person will be denied access to a warm bed, a hot meal, quality health care and transportation to shelter.

Overflow Shelters

In order to insure that every person who seeks shelter this winter will receive it, the Flynn Administration has coordinated planning and programming efforts with the state government and the Greater Boston Adult Shelter Alliance. Last year, 450 overflow beds were added to assure that every person who needed shelter from the cold winter temperatures would receive it. Two hundred beds at the Newton Armory (operated by Positive Lifestyles) and another one hundred beds at 17 Court Street (operated by Long Island Shelter) have continued to operate on a year round basis due to the extreme need for these services. This winter, another 150 beds have been reinstated for the purpose of overflow shelter located throughout the Greater Boston area at smaller sites.

Guaranteed Transportation to Shelter

During the past three winters, the Long Island Shelter has operated a homeless services van to transport people to shelters and to reach out to others on the street in the evening hours. Also, the Pine Street Inn operates an outreach/rescue van which travels throughout the city from 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. seven nights a week. Both vans have been crucial in assuring that people have access to shelter, medical care, as well as blankets and hot drinks for those individuals who do not desire transportation to shelter.

The new MBTA/Positive Lifestyles Outreach Program provides transportation to homeless persons seeking shelter or detox services. Though this is not the primary purpose of their program, they have made a significant contribution towards meeting the city's commitment to assuring transportation to shelter for homeless people. Additionally, the Boston Police Department provides a vital service by providing 24-hour transportation throughout the City of Boston, bringing homeless people to shelter.

Quality Health Care

Boston's Health Care for the Homeless Program has been providing comprehensive medical care to Boston's Homeless population since 1985. Health care teams, consisting of physicians, nurse practitioners, and social workers, travel to close to 60 sites to provide health care to homeless people. Health Care for the Homeless provides a dental program, optometry services (including eyeglasses) and a special HIV clinic for Spanish speaking people with AIDS. They also offer an innovative respite program at the Shattuck Shelter. The respite unit provides recovery care for homeless individuals who are too ill to be walking the streets each day but who do not require acute inpatient or chronic hospital care. This 25-bed unit provides comprehensive nursing, psychiatric and social services for care for homeless patients who are unable or reluctant to follow routine treatment plans. The average length of stay in respite is 20 days.

Dedicated Volunteers Make the Difference

One of the most important contributions to the successful delivery of homeless services are those made by volunteers. Emergency shelter and feeding programs rely heavily on volunteer labor and donations. In fact, it would be safe to say that many programs would not be able to operate without the efforts of committed and dedicated volunteers. In Boston, the efforts of volunteers and other in-kind contributions have been valued at $50 million per year. Clearly without the generosity of many Bostonians, the level of services being provided would be dramatically lower.

"Three Million Strong: Portraits of the Homeless," a powerful photo exhibit by John Rae, will be on exhibit in the Great Hall of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square beginning February 4th.

Two years ago when Rae began volunteering at a shelter for the homeless in Boston's South End, his ideas about the homeless were dominated by the images he saw in the media of men, women, and children enduring horrible living conditions. His exhibit sets out to provide viewers with a new perspective on the problem of homelessness by focusing on the faces of those who volunteered to pose for him, rather than on their surroundings.

"After serving meals at several shelters," Rae said, "I came to recognize 'another face of homelessness.' That face is strong and weak, young and old, happy and sad, angry, removed, outrageous. Above all, it is human and dignified."

The photographs were taken at three Boston shelters — Project Place, Rosie's Place, and the Crossroads Family Shelter — and are accompanied by interviews and information on homelessness. The month-long exhibition is free and open to the public through February 28th, Monday through Thursday, 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. and Friday and Saturday, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Under this contract Phillips Medical Systems will provide the following services at Boston City Hospital:

1. Service maintenance for Phillips X-ray Equipment located in A.C.C. X-Ray: Rooms 1, 2, 3, 4, and 7 Polytime System, to include parts, labor and travel between 8:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M. $173,632.75

Phillips Medical Systems has been awarded unadvertised contracts for the last three fiscal years in the following amounts: 1990—$247,100.00; 1989—$233,000.00; 1988—$247,080.00.

Therefore, because Phillips Medical Systems is the sole distributor and the only company able to service the Radiologic units and, because the cost, in my opinion, is reasonable, no benefit would inure to the City by publicly advertising for bids.

On July 14, 1989, your Honor approved an award of a contract without public advertising for bids to Richard G. Shalhoub, P.C., a professional corporation located at 150 Charles Street, Boston, MA 02114, for legal services and representation of Police Sergeant Jose Garcia in Eloise Pate v. John Crowley, et al., Suffolk Superior Court C.A. No. 67186.

Your approval is requested to amend this contract to ensure final payment for services rendered by Attorney Shalhoub. This amendment is necessary due to the long and complicated litigation of this matter.

The cost of this amendment, which is effective June 1, 1990, shall not exceed fourteen thousand dollars ($14,000.00), which I have determined to be reasonable. The contract as amended shall not exceed twenty-four thousand dollars ($24,000.00).

Because of the professional nature of the services already performed, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose. This amendment is being submitted late due to the lengthy and involved defense of this action.

Very truly yours,
Joseph I. Mulligan.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be performed and the reasonable cost thereof, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,

Joseph I. Mulligan.

2329-90

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Very truly yours,

Joseph I. Mulligan.

LAW BOOKS

2318-90

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to Matthew Bender & Co., Inc., a corporation located at 1275 Broadway, P.O. Box 658, Albany, NY 12204-0658.

Under the terms of the contract, the contractor will supply the Law Department with books, supplements and other legal publications including Massachusetts Corporate Law Revisions; Zoning and Land Use Controls; Attorney's Textbook of Medicine Revision Releases; Moore's Federal Rules Pamphlets; Weinstein's Evidence; U.S. Court Rules; cumulative supplements; and others.

The contractor is specially qualified because they are the only supplier of these materials, and we have been pleased with their services in the past.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed twelve thousand dollars ($12,000.00), which I have determined to be reasonable. The term of the contract shall be from July 1, 1989 through June 30, 1990.

Because Matthew Bender & Co., Inc. is the only publisher and supplier of these materials, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,

Joseph I. Mulligan.

RAYMOND L. FLYNN

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE. MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

CHRISTOPHER A. IANNELLA
PRESIDENT, CITY COUNCIL

OL. 83

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1991

NO. 6

ARCHDALE COMMUNITY CENTER GRAND RE-OPENING

Mayor Raymond L. Flynn, local and city officials, and residents of Roslindale celebrated the re-opening of the Archdale Community Center on January 26, 1991.

"The hundreds of young people who live in this community now have what they need and deserve — recreation programs, guidance, and positive role models," said Mayor Flynn. "In this building they can always find an alternative to drugs and violence."

The Mayor was on hand to cut the ribbon to officially open the newly renovated center, which was closed for over 16 years. The 300 youths and over 340 adults who live in the Archdale Development, adjacent to the new facility, will now have access to a totally refurbished, modern social and recreational facility. A brand-new gymnasium with lockers and showers and a multi-purpose living will provide space for a child-care center, afterschool activities, and programs for seniors run by Boston Community Schools and Recreation Centers. Special programs will include workshops for youths on drugs, teen parenting and other issues.

"From the beginning, the Archdale residents have worked very hard for this. This beautiful new facility is the result of their perseverance and the City's commitment to providing vital services for all its residents," said Judith Pralour, Archdale Coordinator for Boston Community Schools and Recreation Centers.

The $2.4 million renovation is part of Mayor Flynn's "Rebuilding Boston" program, a $1.03 billion capital improvement plan for the City of Boston, prepared by the Office of Capital Planning. The construction was carried out under the direction of the Public Facilities Department.

The new community center complements the Mayor's Safe Neighborhoods Plan. "Our goal is to unite the people of Boston to work together to end violence," said Mayor Flynn. "Here, the people of this community can come together, take advantage of a rich variety of programs and opportunities, and work with the City to make their neighborhood a great place to live, work and raise their children."

Following the ribbon cutting ceremony, activities, performers, sporting events and refreshments were all part of the day-long celebration.

TUFTS ARENA THEATER PRESENTS: OTHELLO

by William Shakespeare Directed by Patrick Diamond

February 21-23, 1991

The Tufts Arena Theater will present William Shakespeare's Othello, directed by Patrick Diamond, on February 21-23, 1991. All shows begin at 8:00 p.m.

Othello is considered to be one of Shakespeare's greatest tragedies, as well as one of his more famous plays. Set at a Renaissance Faire in Venice during the Golden Age, this production seeks to break down the barriers between audience and performer as well as transcend history. The story is of wealth, strength, peace and security of an empire, while also demonstrating the discrimination and violence inherent within such an imperialistic state. By showing the negative, as well as the positive, sides of love, life, and politics, director Patrick Diamond hopes to present an interesting and entertaining evening of theater.

Tickets are $4 all three days of performance, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. MasterCard and Visa are accepted. Group rates are available. The theater is located at Tufts' Medford Campus, about 7 miles north of Boston. For more information, please call 381-3493. Thank you.

The work has received high praise from critics. Publisher's Weekly says it is "A wonderfully vivid gripping chronicle. No other book so brilliantly clarifies the inner dynamics of the Russian Revolution." Kirkus Reviews calls it "A remarkable achievement. Comprehensive and meticulously researched, thoroughly absorbing. Likely to become the standard source reference and the basis for a new round of scholarly debate on the meaning of 'October' and its aftermath."

The program is free and the public is cordially invited to attend. An audiographing session in the lower lobby of the library will immediately follow the presentation. For more information, please call 536-5400, Ext. 336.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

C-1902-91

LICENSING BOARD

LEGAL SERVICES

2520-91

Dear Mayor Flynn:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising in the awarding of a contract to Camille F. Sarrouf, Esquire, of Sarrouf, Tarricone & Flemming, 95 Commercial Wharf, Boston, for legal services to be rendered to this Board. Mr. Sarrouf has agreed to perform these services for a fee of $100.00 an hour. This is less than half of his usual hourly rate and is far below the market rate for such services in Boston. The total cost of this contract will not exceed ten thousand ($10,000) dollars. This contract shall be for the period of July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991.

Mr. Sarrouf performed legal services for the Board in the past three fiscal years and we have been most pleased with his responsiveness to the Board's legal needs and with the quality of his legal work.

He has been an attorney for twenty-nine years and is a past President of the Massachusetts Academy of Trial Attorneys.

Because of the personal nature of the attorney/client relationship, it is important for the Board to have an attorney with whom it can have a good working relationship and in whose abilities it has the highest confidence. Since Mr. Sarrouf fulfills these qualifications and is also willing to perform the services at an acceptable "city rate" there would be no benefit to the Board or to the public in advertising this contract for public bidding.

Very truly yours,
Thomas W. Stanton,
Chairman.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

2521-91

Dear Mayor Flynn:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising in the awarding of a contract to Peter Woloschuk of 2032 Dorchester Avenue, Dorchester, Massachusetts, for public information services to be rendered to this Board. Mr. Woloschuk has agreed to perform these services for a fee of fifty ($50.00) dollars per hour. This is less than half of his usual hourly rate and is well below the market rate for such services in Boston. The total cost of this contract will not exceed five thousand ($5,000) dollars. This contract shall be for the period of July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991. A Board vote confirming this arrangement was made on May 10, 1990.

Mr. Woloschuk will prepare public information packages to inform and educate the public about the activities of the Board. He has performed this function in past fiscal years. It is the opinion of the Budget Department and the Board that a full-time staff person is not required for this function.

It is important that this task be performed by a person who has a good working relationship with the Board and someone in whose abilities the Board has the highest confidence. Since Mr. Woloschuk fulfills these qualifications and is willing to perform the service at an acceptable "city rate" there would be no benefit to the Board or to the public in advertising this contract for public bidding.

Very truly yours,
Thomas W. Stanton,
Chairman.

Emergency Repairs

May 23, 1990

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with inviting proposals by advertising in the City Record and to award a contract to the W.C. Canniff & Sons, Inc., 531 Cummins Highway, Roslindale, MA 02131 for the period May 21, 1990 through June 30, 1990.

On May 18, 1990 and May 19, 1990, fifty-eight monuments at the Evergreen Cemetery were toppled by vandals. The repairs to the monuments are of an emergency nature due to the fact that Memorial Day Weekend is three days away.

The week prior to Memorial Day is one of the busiest times of the year for monument dealers. W.C. Canniff & Sons, Inc. was able to provide the necessary equipment and the manpower for these emergency services at Evergreen Cemetery on such short notice.

W.C. Canniff & Sons, Inc. is the largest monument dealers in Massachusetts and one of the largest in New England. They have been in continuous business since 1896.

Services provided by the contractor include the re-setting of 58 memorials back on bases and the re-leveling, re-leading, sealing and loaming of numerous graves around the bases of the memorials. The contract price includes labor, material and equipment. The Cemetery Division did not have the necessary equipment needed to reset headstones of this size.

Therefore, your permission is requested to dispense with inviting sealed bids by advertising in the City Record and award a contract to W.C. Canniff & Sons, Inc., pursuant to the authority granted under the City of Boston Code, St. 4, Sec. 5. The sum to be paid will not exceed Five Thousand One Hundred and Twenty Dollars $5,120.00 and will be charged to 015-400-3321-0290-PK02.

Sincerely,
Lawrence Dwyer,
Commissioner.

Toxic Waste Removal

April 6, 1990

Dear Mayor Flynn:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and award a contract to Clean Harbors of Natick, Inc., 10 Mercer Road, Natick, Massachusetts 01760.

The need to remove and dispose of chemicals identified as toxic by Clean Harbors of Natick, Inc. is in compliance with Section 310 CMR 30.512 of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Hazardous Waste Regulations and all other regulations pertaining to hazardous waste and safety.

These chemicals, unidentified at the time, were stored in the basement of the Mt. Hope Facility. After routine examination by departmental personnel, we contacted the Clean Harbors of Natick, Inc. to investigate and identify the ingredients in various drums. A report issued to the Parks Department on March 8, 1990 by Clean Harbors of Natick, Inc., identified the materials stored in the drums to be toxic and stressed the need to remove and dispose of the materials in accordance with state and federal regulations.

Compensation under the terms of this contract shall not exceed eight thousand dollars ($8,000.00) a cost which has been deemed reasonable for the services to be performed. The cost will include all materials, transportation and applicable fees. Payment for these services will be made from appropriation code 015-400-3321-0600-CD02. The period of performance will be from June 5, 1990 through June 30, 1990.

Clean Harbors of Natick, Inc. has extensive experience and has contracted with other city agencies in past years and is considered a leader in the removal and disposal of toxic chemicals. They are also recognized by the D.E.Q.E. Therefore, I respectfully request to dispense with the inviting sealed bids and award a contract to Clean Harbors of Natick, Inc. pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code St. 4S. 5.

Sincerely,
Lawrence Dwyer,
Commissioner.

Notice

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the City of Boston Supplemental Minority Participation and Resident Section contract provision of the specifications for the obligations of the contractor and subcontractor to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices in the performance of this contract.

Attention to All Bidders

I. Minority Business Requirements.

No bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the general contractor complies fully with the following requirements for minority business enterprise utilization.

Pursuant to the Supplemental Minority Participation section of this contract, the general contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 15 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise, if the bid is over $10,000. For the purpose of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business in which at least 51 percent of the beneficial ownership and control is held by one or more minority persons (Black, Hispanic, Asian-American, or American Indian). At least 30 percent shall be expended for impacted area.

Each general contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. The Minority Business Utilization Form shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor. Failure to submit a Minority Business Utilization Form with the bid proposal will result in the rejection of the bid.

The City of Boston Minority Business Directory lists all minority-owned businesses that have been certified as such by the City of Boston. A copy of this directory can be obtained from the Awarding Authority or the Minority Business Office, 43 Hawkins Street, ground floor, Boston, MA 02114, telephone number 723-1400. If a contractor wishes to use a minority business that is not listed in the directory, he must contact the Minority Business Office to obtain a copy and submit with his bid, a Minority Business Identification Statement. The dollar amount obligated to a non-certified (City of Boston) minority business will not count towards the minority business percentage requirements.

II. Workforce Requirements.

During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following workforce requirements (labor).

1. Minority Workforce: The contractor and its subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 25 percent ratio of minority manhours to total employee manhours in each trade worked on the contract.

2. Female Workforce: The contractor and its subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 10 percent ratio of female employee manhours to total employee manhours in each trade worked on the contract.

3. Boston Residents: The contractor and its subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 50 percent ratio of Boston resident employee manhours to total employee manhours in each trade worked on the contract.

4. The workforce requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) above shall apply to each trade that appears on the list of "Classification and Minimum Wage Rates" as determined by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries under the provisions of chapter 149, sections 26 through 27G, of the General Laws of Massachusetts, as amended. If you have any questions pertaining to the applicability of these requirements, please call the Compliance Office at 723-1400.

NOTICE OF REQUIREMENT FOR AFFIRMATIVE ACTION TO ENSURE EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY (EXECUTIVE ORDER 11246).

The contractor's attention is called to the "Equal Opportunity Clause" and "Standard Federal Equal Opportunity Construction Contract Specifications" set forth in this part.

The goals and timetables for minority and female participation are expressed in percentage terms for the contractor's aggregate workforce in each trade on all construction work in the covered areas. (See pages EEO-1 and EEO-2 of the bid specifications for goals and timetables.)

These goals are applicable to all the contractor's construction work (whether or not it is federal or federally assisted) performed in the covered areas.

As used in the notice, and in the contract, the covered area is Arlington, Boston, Belmont, Brookline, Burlington, Cambridge, Canton, Chelsea, Dedham, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Milton, Norwood, Reading, Revere, Somerville, Stoneham, Wakefield, Westwood, Winthrop, Winchester, Woburn, and the Islands of Boston Harbor, Massachusetts.

The contractor's compliance with the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4 shall be based on its implementation of the Equal Opportunity Clause, specific affirmative action obligations required to meet the goals established for the geographical area where the contract is to be performed.

The hours of minority and female employment and training must be substantially uniform throughout the length of the contract in each trade, and the contractor shall make a good-faith effort to employ minorities and women evenly on each of its projects.

The transfer of minority or female employees or trainees from contractor to contractor or from project to project for the sole purpose of meeting the contractor's goals shall be a violation of the contract, the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4. Compliance with the goals will be measured against the total workhours performed.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the provisions of the contract documents, including, with limitation, the notice to all bidders (including subcontractors), and the provisions with respect to bonds, insurance, equal employment opportunity, minimum wages, time of performance, liquidated damages, and the requirements set forth in the specifications on supplemental equal employment opportunity, anti-discrimination and affirmative action program contract provisions, and to the requirements of mandatory compliance with section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 and Executive Order 11246.

DEER ISLAND TAKES A NEW SHAPE

The contours of Deer Island have been changing almost daily since the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA) began to make room for construction of what will be the nation's second largest wastewater treatment plant. Scores of construction workers have nearly completed major earthworks, moving much of a large hill in the center of Deer Island to the island's northern edge. Moving the mountain nearly completes the first phase of site preparation for construction of the MWRA's 1.3 billion gallon per day primary and secondary wastewater treatment plant.

Although today Deer Island is a 210-acre peninsula, it was once an island separated from Winthrop by a strait known as Shirley Gut. The island's early settlers saw it was covered with high forest, grassy glades, and freshwater ponds. Bostonians once journeyed there by boat to cut firewood. A Quaker in 1638 filled the narrow channel with sand, joining Deer Island to the mainland. In 1941, the U.S. Army built Fort Dawes as part of the coastal defense initiative for Boston Harbor, and a road was constructed for easy access to the site.

The large hill that is swiftly being moved from the center of Deer Island was formed thousands of years ago by glaciers. Consisting of 2.4 million cubic yards of earth, the hill took up a great deal of space, and stood in the way of the wastewater treatment plant, sludge digesters and other pollution control facilities being built as part of the $6.1 billion Boston Harbor Project. By moving the hill to the end of the island, adjacent to Winthrop, the Authority will keep its promise to the town to lessen the impact of the construction and operation of a wastewater treatment plant on the town. The new barrier, which provides a barrier between the town and treatment plant facilities, will free up space on Deer Island while keeping costs as low as possible.

The result is a major earth moving project that addresses several problems at once. A new hill is being created at the northern end of the island to serve as a visual and noise barrier between the new plant and the neighboring community. Moving earth from the center of the island to

The goal of Adopt-A-Statue is to achieve funding for the restoration of thirty-nine pieces of outdoor public art and to establish a permanent maintenance endowment which would provide for the annual cleaning and maintenance of sixty-nine pieces.

To invite individuals, groups of individuals or corporations to "adopt" a piece of Boston outdoor public art by either:

- incurring the total cost of restoring and maintaining a particular piece of art or
- making a donation toward a general restoration and maintenance fund.

Gifts are tax deductible to the extent limited by law.

For further information on how to adopt a statue please contact the Environment Department at 725-3850 (Paula Mierzejewski) or Office of Arts and Humanities at 725-3245 (Mary Shannon).

Each week the City Record will publish a statue for adoption.

form the new landform clears the way for the new primary treatment plant now under construction. Finally, keeping earth from the drumlin on the island saves the Authority $57 million in disposal costs.

Michael McBride, senior construction manager for the MWRA, explained that powerful, elongated machines called scrapers are being used by Bartolini Brothers, subcontractors to J.M. Cashman, Inc., of Quincy, to break down the drumlin and transport the dirt to the new site. McBride pointed out that debris from the demolition of World War II-era military bunkers was used to form the base of the new landform, which is rising adjacent to Deer Island's other tenant, the Suffolk County House of Correction.

"Eighty percent of the drumlin will be removed from the center of the island to the new landform by December 1991, and the remaining fill, about 400,000 cubic yards, will be relocated when the prison is demolished in early 1992," said McBride. "When it is completed, the northern landform, standing 146 feet above sea level and containing 1.4 million cubic yards of earth, will cover the area where the prison now stands." The House of Correction will no longer be used to house prisoners after December 1991, and will subsequently be demolished. A new prison is under construction in South Boston.

The new secondary treatment clarifiers will be located slightly east of the northern landform. Earth from the drumlin is also being used to prepare a foundation for construction of this portion of the plant. Seven thousand vertical wicks have been placed 50 to 70 feet into the ground to pull water from layers of clay that are beneath the soil. Dirt from the drumlin has been piled in layers on the wick drain area, to consolidate the levels of clay and force the dirt to compact and settle. If successful, this procedure will permit these facilities to be built without driving piles to support the foundation of the building, thus saving the Authority over $20 million. Once the area has settled sufficiently, the fill will be removed and relocated to the adjacent northern landform.

When the prison has been demolished and all of the earth moved to the landform, topsoil from the original drumlin will be used to landscape the new hill with thousands of bushes, plants, seedlings and flowers. "When the landform is finished," said McBride, "Winthrop residents will see a natural woodland-like setting with plantings similar to the island's native vegetation. It beats looking at a sewage treatment plant."

Other material from the drumlin has also been recycled on the island. Glacial till, the material located under the topsoil, has been transferred to the site where work is under way on a nine and one-half mile effluent outfall tunnel that will take treated wastewater from the plant to the sea. One million cubic yards of surplus till have been shipped off-island for use elsewhere.

Working on the earthworks removal has been full of surprises for

McBride, who said the project has proved challenging in several ways. "Construction has unearthed anything that has ever been dumped or deposited on the island for the last 50 to 100 years. We have uncovered buried oil tanks, barrels containing hazardous waste, unmarked graves, grits and screenings and buried concrete vaults."

The hazardous material has been cleaned up and taken off the island. The grit and screening landfilled on the island, and the unmarked graves have been temporarily removed from the island for safekeeping. Formal reinterment ceremonies will be held under the supervision of the appropriate governmental and religious authorities.

Unexpected findings that test the imagination of the Authority's planners and workers are likely to continue as the pace of construction quickens, and space on the island tightens. "Our largest obstacle to completing the earthworks is working around the Suffolk County House of Correction and not interfering with its operation," McBride explained.

Deer Island's new shape will be more compatible with the operation of a wastewater treatment plant. At the same time, the new hill will meet the MWRA's goals of being a good neighbor to Winthrop and saving money on disposal costs. Once the House of Corrections is razed, the completed site preparation work will become the foundation for several more years of construction of the Boston Harbor Project.

HOMELESS MAN FINDS A PLACE TO CALL HOME.

By Tony Ferullo

It was a hot and muggy day in June of '89 and Paul Armstrong was having trouble breathing.

Standing in front of New England Medical Center at the time, he had little control of his body. But he made it into the emergency ward.

"When I got in there, one of the doctors told me that I was a walking bomb," recalled Armstrong. Five days later, he had quintuple bypass surgery.

Following his recovery period, Armstrong was unable to work. He also had no money to afford a place to live. He spent the next seven months at a local homeless shelter. For a person who was always able to provide for himself, it was a devastating experience.

"I thought I would die before I became homeless," said the 57-year-old Armstrong. "You not only start wondering why you are there, but if you will ever get out. After awhile, I began losing hope."

His life quickly changed for the better once a friend introduced him to Boston Aging Concerns — Young and Old United (BAC-YOU), Inc., a volunteer-based, non-profit agency supported by the United Way of Massachusetts Bay.

BAC-YOU owns and operates four properties in downtown Boston neighborhoods (two of the houses are located in the Back Bay, the others in the Fenway and the South End) which offer affordable housing options to people of all ages. Housing opportunities with BAC-YOU include both single room occupancy and studio apartments, with a special focus on the housing needs of older people.

"BAC-YOU exemplifies the best in community development corporations," said Kim Comart, Initiatives and Allocations Director at the United Way of Massachusetts Bay. "In addition to providing excellent services to our community's most vulnerable residents, BAC-YOU has successfully integrated an affordable housing component into the agency's total program."

The place Armstrong calls his home today is BAC-YOU's Shared Living House. This cooperative household is located on Marlborough Street in the Back Bay in a beautiful 19th-century building. The Shared Living House is home to 15 residents who occupy single rooms and share a kitchen and baths.

"At first I was kind of skeptical, but now I love it here," said Armstrong. "It feels great to have a choice again, even a simple option of whether to go to bed or watch television. A year ago, I didn't have that choice. Now, I do."

"I owe a lot of thanks to the people at the United Way and Boston Aging Concerns — Young and Old United. They have given me the opportunity to live again."

Originally from Jersey City, New Jersey, Armstrong is an enthusiastic sports fan. He has been a lifelong follower of the Boston Red Sox and is a frequent visitor to Fenway Park.

When asked how he fulfills his large appetite for sports during the winter months, Armstrong smiled proudly. "That's easy," he said with a chuckle. "I have Cable."

Armstrong is a naturally funny man, which makes him a big hit with the people he lives with. "Paul has become quite popular around here," said Rosaline Turay, Resident Services Coordinator at BAC-YOU. "He has a great personality and really knows how to lift a person's spirits up. He's an asset to our agency."

As far as his future is concerned, Armstrong would like to find a parttime job, and work as a volunteer — maybe at a homeless shelter or the New England Medical Center. "I have a lot of friends at both of those places," said Armstrong. "I just want to help in any way that I can. I know what it's like to be there, and where I am now."

"I consider myself to be lucky. Very lucky."

CONTRACTS AWARDED
WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without advertising, based on the following communications:

PRINTING SECTION

2963-91

Maintenance Services

April 26, 1990

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to AGFA Corporation (AGFA Compugraphic Division), formerly Compugraphic Corporation located at 80 Industrial Way, Wilmington, MA 01887, for the service and maintenance of the new Compugraphic printing equipment purchased on June 20, 1988. The service and maintenance work will be performed by AGFA Corporation's Compugraphic Warranty Extension Agreement Division, located at 55 Concord Street, North Reading, MA 01864. The contract will be effective for the period July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991, at a cost not to exceed $31,365.00 net.

Under the terms of the contract, AGFA Compugraphic Division will provide all materials and perform all the work necessary for and incidental to providing preventative and remedial maintenance service for the printing equipment.

AGFA Compugraphic Division is especially qualified to do this work because inasmuch as Compugraphic is the manufacturer, their technicians are especially trained to maintain and repair all of the equipment it manufactures, and parts are readily available.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $31,365.00 dollars, which I have determined to be reasonable for the work to be performed. This funding will be charged against appropriation 011-140-0145-0270 with an initial encumbrance of $31,365.00.

Compugraphic Corporation (now AGFA Compugraphic Division) has had a contract with this department for the previous three fiscal years. The encumbered amount for FY'90 was $35,064.00, for FY'89 it was $20,593.33 which represented coverage for ten months and a twenty percent discount was allowed because the equipment was new, but did not include two computerized typesetting machines (model 8400) which were both included in the FY'90 contract, and the encumbered amount for FY'88 was $16,632.00.

Because AGFA Compugraphic Division is especially qualified to do this work for a reasonable price, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

A schedule of the printing equipment to be serviced and maintained under this contract will be furnished by AGFA Compugraphic Division and will become part of this contract. It will show model and serial number, and monthly cost of each item.

Very truly yours,

William J. Hannon,
Superintendent.

Re: Design of the Renovations to the Dowling Building Amendment #1,
Project #4703G

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Pursuant to a vote of the Public Facilities Commission on April 26, 1990, I respectfully request Your Honor's written permission to dispense with further public advertisement and amend a contract executed on March 1, 1990, with Cameron Roberts Architects, a Massachusetts corporation with offices at 11 Beacon Street, Boston, MA 02108, for design of renovations to the Amphitheater in the Dowling Building at Boston City Hospital. The scope of work included preliminary design, design development, working drawings and construction supervision.

Pursuant to MGL C. 8, 38A-1/2-0 et seq., Cameron Roberts Architects was awarded this contract based on a publicly advertised request for proposals in the Boston Globe and City Record on January 16, 1989, and the Central Register on January 18, 1989.

The structural repairs to the amphitheater are considerably more extensive than originally planned. This contract is funded by the Trustees of Health & Hospitals Cooper Fund. They have requested a new fee to reflect the expanded scope of work.

The cost of these additional design services shall not exceed $53,625.00, resulting in an amended contract cost that shall not exceed $134,125.00 (including $40,000.00 for supplementary services), which is a fixed fee 12.55% based on an increased estimated cost of construction from $500,000.00 to $750,000.00. The term of this contract shall remain from March 1, 1990 to June 1, 1991.

In view of the technical and professional nature of the services required, the expertise and familiarity of the designer with all existing conditions and the reasonable cost of such services, it is my view that further public advertising would serve no useful purpose, therefore, request permission to dispense with inviting sealed bids in the City Record and authority granted in the City of Boston Code, St. 4, s. 5.

Sincerely,

Lisa G. Chapnick,
Director.

Re: Contract with Kit Clark Senior House
Dear Mayor Flynn:

Pursuant to a vote of the Public Facilities Commission on April 26, 1990, I respectfully request Your Honor's written permission to dispense with further public advertisement and award a contract to Kit Clark Senior House, a non-profit corporation, with offices at 150 Dorchester Avenue, Dorchester, MA 02122. Under the terms of this contract and through the Public Facilities' Senior Home Repair Program, the contractor will assist homeowners in securing minor and emergency home repairs which will maintain safety, livability and handicap accessibility. These homeowners will be low to moderate income, elderly and/or disabled.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed Forty Thousand Dollars ($40,000.00) which I have determined to be reasonable for the services to be performed. The term of the contract shall be from July 1, 1990 to June 30, 1991. Funds for this contract shall come from those received under the Community Development Block Grant program.

Kit Clark Senior House was selected based upon a thorough evaluation of the proposals submitted in response to publicly advertised request for proposals in the Boston Globe on March 5, 1990, and City Record March 12, 1990. Four organizations submitted proposals. The proposals were evaluated based on the following criteria: organizational description; target population/target area/need; program design, description program evaluation; staffing plan/structure; and program budget/budget narrative. All four proposals met the criteria and were selected.

As this is a negotiated contract at a reasonable cost, based upon an extensive program and proposal review, I believe that further public advertising would serve no useful purpose. I, therefore, request permission to dispense with inviting sealed bids in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code, St. 4, s. 5.

Sincerely,

Lisa G. Chapnick,
Director.

In no event shall the payments to be made nor the maximum liability of the City under each contract for all firms in this category exceed One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000). It is my opinion that this cost is reasonable for the services to be provided.

The contractors were selected based upon a thorough evaluation of their proposals submitted in response to a publicly advertised request for proposals in the Boston Globe on February 19, 1990, and the City Record on February 19, 1990. Ten firms submitted proposals. They were evaluated and ranked based on the following criteria: turn around time, billing flexibility, quality control, week-end and afternoon hours service, minimum typing levels and reasonableness of fees. The five selected firms' proposals ranked highest of the ten submitted.

This is a negotiated contract at a reasonable cost, based upon an extensive program proposal review, I believe that further public advertising would serve no useful purpose. I, therefore, request permission to dispense with inviting sealed bids in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code, St. 4 s. 5.

Sincerely,

Strand Theatre C-3318-91

Re: Contract with M. Harriet McCormack Center for the Arts, Inc.

Dear Mayor Flynn:

Pursuant to a vote of the Public Facilities Commission on April 26, 1990, I respectfully request Your Honor's written permission to dispense with further public advertising and award a contract to M. Harriet McCormack Center for the Arts, Inc., a non-profit corporation, with offices at 543 Columbia Road, Dorchester, MA 02125. This contract will provide partial funding for the operation of the Strand Theatre. The funding under this contract will cover 66.65% of the staff salaries. The center's staff provides performing arts programs of racial and cultural diversity at reduced rates to school aged children, seniors, and the population residing in the surrounding Dorchester, Roxbury neighborhood.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed Thirty-Six Thousand Dollars ($36,000), which I have determined to be reasonable. This compensation represents approximately 12% of the total operating budget, and is a 21.7% reduction from last year's contract. The contractor is in the second year of a 3 year self-sufficiency plan. The term of this contract shall be from July 1, 1990 to June 30, 1991.

M. Harriet McCormack Center for the Arts, Inc., is uniquely qualified to do this work because of the particular nature of the services to be provided, and its past experience of satisfactorily providing the services.

Because of the special status of the Strand Theatre as a unique performing arts center located in the Uphams Corner section of Dorchester and the unique ability of M. Harriet McCormack Center for the Arts, Inc., to administer this contract, it is my judgment that public advertising would serve no useful purpose in this instance.

Sincerely,

Lisa G. Chapnick,
Director.

Attention to All Bidders

I. Minority Business Requirements.

No bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the general contractor complies fully with the following requirements for minority business enterprise utilization.

Pursuant to the Supplemental Minority Participation section of this contract, the general contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 15 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise, if the bid is over $10,000. For the purpose of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business in which at least 51 percent of the beneficial ownership and control is held by one or more minority persons (Black, Hispanic, Asian-American, or American Indian). At least 30 percent shall be expended for impacted area.

Each general contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. The Minority Business Utilization Form shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor. Failure to submit a Minority Business Utilization Form with the bid proposal will result in the rejection of the bid.

The City of Boston Minority Business Directory lists all minority-owned businesses that have been certified as such by the City of Boston. A copy of this directory can be obtained from the Awarding Authority or the Minority Business Office, 43 Hawkins Street, ground floor, Boston, MA 02114, telephone number 723-1400. If a contractor wishes to use a minority business that is not listed in the directory, he must contact the Minority Business Office to obtain a copy and submit with his bid, a Minority Business Identification Statement. The dollar amount obligated to a non-certified (City of Boston) minority business will not count towards the minority business percentage requirements.

II. Workforce Requirements.

During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following workforce requirements (labor).

1. Minority Workforce: The contractor and its subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 25 percent ratio of minority manhours to total employee manhours in each trade worked on the contract.

2. Female Workforce: The contractor and its subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 10 percent ratio of female employee manhours to total employee manhours in each trade worked on the contract.

The goals and timetables for minority and female participation are expressed in percentage terms for the contractor's aggregate workforce in each trade on all construction work in the covered areas. (See pages EEO-1 and EEO-2 of the bid specifications for goals and timetables.)

These goals are applicable to all the contractor's construction work (whether or not it is federal or federally assisted) performed in the covered areas.

The contractor's compliance with the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4 shall be based on its implementation of the Equal Opportunity Clause, specific affirmative action obligations required to meet the goals established for the geographical area where the contract is to be performed.

The hours of minority and female employment and training must be substantially uniform throughout the length of the contract in each trade, and the contractor shall make a good-faith effort to employ minorities and women evenly on each of its projects.

The transfer of minority or female employees or trainees from contractor to contractor or from project to project for the sole purpose of meeting the contractor's goals shall be a violation of the contract, the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4. Compliance with the goals will be measured against the total workhours performed.

UNITED WAY HONORS EIGHT BOSTON ORGANIZATIONS

PAUL O'BRIEN, President and Chief Executive Officer of New England Telephone, speaks at recognition reception honoring local organizations awarded "Professional Standards Accreditation" by United Way's Voluntary Action Center.

JOSEPH WARREN, Ph.D., Associate Professor of African-American Studies at Northeastern University, speaks at recognition reception honoring local organizations awarded "Professional Standards Accreditation" by United Way's Voluntary Action Center.

What do The Samaritans, The French Library and the Massachusetts Pale Board have in common?

They were among the eight Boston organizations awarded "Professional Standards Accreditation" by United Way of Massachusetts Bay's Voluntary Action Center (VAC) at a recognition reception held at the Marriott Copley place.

The other Boston organizations honored were: Families in Transition, Inc.; Boys and Girls Club of Boston; The Boston Harbor Association; Women in Community Service; and the American Red Cross of Massachusetts Bay.

Keynote speakers at the event were Paul O'Brien, President and Chief Executive Officer of New England Telephone, and Joseph Warren, Ph.D., Associate Professor of African-American Studies at Northeastern University.

In congratulating the organizations, O'Brien said, "In a time of economic difficulty, you have done an excellent job managing volunteer programs to best match individual abilities to community needs and to give each volunteer a positive experience. I commend you and United Way's Voluntary Action Center for elevating volunteerism to a professional level."

In discussing his own motivation for volunteering, Dr. Warren said, "There is no greater fuel that ignites the positive forces and energies of a community than when people help people simply because it's the right thing to do."

Drawing from his own life experience, Dr. Warren noted that had it not been for the volunteers who turned his life around as a troubled

THE ADOPT-A-STATUE PROGRAM

The goal of Adopt-A-Statue is to achieve funding for the restoration of thirty-nine pieces of outdoor public art and to establish a permanent maintenance endowment which would provide for the annual cleaning and maintenance of sixty-nine pieces.

To invite individuals, groups of individuals or corporations to "adopt" a piece of Boston outdoor public art by either:

- incurring the total cost of restoring and maintaining a particular piece of art or
- making a donation toward a general restoration and maintenance fund.

Gifts are tax deductible to the extent limited by law.

For further information on how to adopt a statue please contact the Environment Department at 725-3850 (Paula Mierzejewski) or Office of Arts and Humanities at 725-3245 (Mary Shannon).

Each week the City Record will publish a statue for adoption.

youngster, he would not have achieved the success he now enjoys.

United Way's Voluntary Action Center, Boston's central clearing-house for volunteers, plays an important role in establishing standards to help organizations create and maintain effective volunteer programs.

The criteria used by United Way's Volunteer Action Center in judging the various applicants includes: measuring the overall agency support of volunteers and volunteer programs; the effectiveness of management techniques used in running a wide range of volunteer programs; and the degree to which the organization maximizes its volunteers' skills and time.

Said Merle Jones Lindsay, Operations Manager of the Voluntary Action Center at the United Way, "By measuring the effectiveness of their volunteer programs against the criteria for excellence in volunteer management, these agencies honored have demonstrated that they're concerned with providing quality service to the community through quality involvement of volunteers."

United Way's Voluntary Action Center's Professional Standards Accreditation program benefits the volunteer community in the following ways:

- It protects its volunteers, who deserve assurance that the agency is committed to sound volunteer management practices;
- It clarifies United Way's Voluntary Action Center's expectations of agencies and agencies' expectations of their volunteers;
- It positively influences the effectiveness of the volunteer program;
- It encourages professionalism and high values among volunteer coordinators.

The need for dedicated volunteers has never been greater. "Thankfully, volunteerism is increasing and so is the number of agencies involving volunteers," said Lindsay. "Therefore, it's advantageous for agencies to offer well-managed programs which will be instrumental in retaining volunteers to provide services to the community."

NEW T MONITORING SYSTEM WORKS TO REDUCE PASSENGER WAITING TIME

*Develops "First-Of-Its-Kind" In
S. Technology to Improve Service to Customers*

A new computerized monitoring system developed by the T — the first technology of its type in the nation — promises to make service to MBTA customers even better in the future.

The new system will allow T personnel to immediately monitor delays and problems, adjust train flow when necessary, and make announcements to passengers so they know when the next train is due.

"This new Passenger Waiting Time Monitoring System is going to make a real difference for our customers," said General Manager Thomas P. Glynn. It will minimize inconveniences and allow us to get better information to folks who are standing on the platform waiting for a train. It also demonstrates the kind of problem-solving ability and technological expertise we have at the MBTA — all aimed at improving service for the 670,000 people who use the T each day."

Glynn said the system also helps the T in scheduling and in providing key information to personnel in the field during delays and emergencies.

The T's Information Systems Services (ISS) division, working with other MBTA departments responsible for maintenance, planning, scheduling and the overall operation of the transit system, created this new system that monitors the time between subway trains and reports vital information to personnel at the T's Central Control command center.

Using a system of sensors at 29 locations on the Red, Blue, Orange and Green lines, the monitors relay information on train movement, and compare scheduled train times with actual rail traffic. Updated every 12 seconds, the main computer at the T's Central Control "nerve center" reports back anything two minutes over the normally scheduled "headway" (distance between trains). Announcers can then let passengers on the platforms know when there are delays through the public address system, and tell them where the next train is and when it is due at their station.

The monitoring system also provides valuable information to dispatchers and emergency personnel about service problems, where trains are located, and where trains are needed so that subway cars can be rerouted.

The new system builds upon technological developments instituted in the transit industry and at the T over the last two decades, and creates a new state of the art technology. ISS team members worked with Professor Nigel Wilson of MIT to design the initial computer system. This pilot system was first installed and began testing in January 1990. It replaced an older, less comprehensive method in use since the early 1980s.

According to Glynn, other transit systems are asking about the system and are interested in how it works; it may prove adaptable to other transportation agencies.

Glynn added that the T is working to expand this system into an even more comprehensive system in the future. Planners are designing new aspects, which may include a video display system in stations similar to displays now in use in most major airports. The displays would notify passengers of train arrivals and of any delays, allowing them immediate access to update information.

"This is an exciting tool which will really take us into the 21st century — and make those aggravating platform blues a thing of the past," Glynn said.

MWRA ANNOUNCES 1991 POSTER/ESSAY CONTEST FOR STUDENTS

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority today announced the Eighth Annual School Contest to encourage student awareness of the ongoing need for water conservation and the importance of the federally mandated Boston Harbor project to rebuild the wastewater system that has polluted the harbor for decades.

"This contest challenges students to express their views on two topics," said Paul F. Levy, MWRA Executive Director. "The water-conservation poster contest, for grades kindergarten through 8, and the Boston Harbor essay contest for grades 4 through 12, are open to all students, whether or not they live in our 60-community service system."

"For the first time, high school students are included," Levy said. "Since we introduced our new curriculum, 'Down the Drain,' to middle and high school teachers last year, it made sense to invite older students to participate in our Boston Harbor essay contest."

Contest rules require that posters be about specific ways people can save water and/or the importance of water in our lives. The essay contest topic is "Why It Is Important to Clean Up Boston Harbor."

Poster contest entrants will be judged in three categories—Kindergarten through third grade, grade 4 through grade 6, and grade 7 through grade 8. Essay contest entrants will be judged in the categories of grades 4 through 6, grades 7 through 8, and grades 9 through 12.

First prize in each category is a $200 savings bond. Second prize is a $100 bond, and third prize is a $50 bond. Honorable mention awards will recognize other outstanding entries. Each student who participates will receive a certificate. Prizes will be awarded at a special ceremony during Water Conservation Week in June.

All entries must be received at MWRA headquarters in the Charlestown Navy Yard, Boston, by 5 p.m., Friday, April 19, 1991.

Classroom materials and programs on both topics are available free of charge from the MWRA, along with further information about the contest. Call 617 242 SAVE for details.

One ton of recycled paper saves 17 trees, 682.5 gallons or 3 barrels of oil and 3.3 cubic yards of landfill space.

DEER ISLAND'S STEAM PUMP STATION TO ASSUME NEW ROLE

For 70 years, it pumped raw sewage into Boston Harbor. For another 25 years, it lay dormant and all but abandoned. Now Deer Island's historic steam pump station, a Boston Harbor landmark, will be restored and renovated as part of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority's Boston Harbor Project.

The steam pump station, built to pump Boston's wastewater to the sea, was part of a sewage treatment system considered state-of-the-art in turn-of-the-century America. As part of the Boston Harbor Project, it will be renovated for use as an administration building and visitors' center for one of the largest and most technologically advanced sewage treatment plants in the nation.

Under a memorandum of agreement with the Massachusetts Historical Commission, the Authority will restore the steam pump station to its original appearance. External changes to the distinctively designed structure will be minimal. According to Richard Herbold, design manager for the MWRA, "window openings will be enlarged, sill heights dropped, and certain doors modified to facilitate circulation." The architectural style of the building will remain essentially unchanged.

RESTORING A LANDMARK

Designed by Boston architect Arthur F. Gray, the steam pump station has a simple vernacular style with Queen Anne-Romanesque elaboration rendered from brick, granite and terra cotta. It is composed of five attached buildings and was constructed in three phases between 1894 and 1899. The complex contains a screen house, coal house, boiler room, and two engine rooms. The entire structure is approximately 320 feet long (almost the size of a football field), and 70 feet at its widest point. The elegant design of the building, embellished with arched windows, decorative brickwork, and a tower-like chimney, well disguised its main purpose: to pump raw sewage out to sea.

According to architect Ed Tsoi, of Tsoi Kobus & Associates, Inc., of Cambridge, this kind of design work for a public building was common in the late 19th century. "It has the character of a whimsical industrial building, with great attention to detail," Tsoi said the design phase of the project will include restoring much of the existing architectural detail. Under the direction of the MWRA's Program Management Division, Tsoi Kobus has been preparing the plans and specifications of the restoration since September of 1990. The design will be completed in August 1991, with plans for occupancy by early 1994, to mark the beginning of the peak years of construction on Deer Island.

A house that was originally built as a residence for physicians working at the Suffolk County House of Correction will also be restored. Built in 1931, the building was first called the doctor's house and later came to be known as the superintendent's house when it served as the penal commissioner's home until 1973. Subsequently, the building was used to house inmates taking part in a work-release program. In 1985, it was converted for administrative use, housing the superintendent's office, as well as others. Both the steam pump station and the superintendent's house are eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places.

Two new facilities will be built on Deer Island: a laboratory/administration building, that will include offices as well as a laboratory for plant and Authority needs; and a maintenance/warehouse complex which will contain maintenance shops for machinery and equipment at the plant, along with shipping, receiving and warehousing functions. "We plan to design structures with a look that is similar to yet more contemporary than the steam pump station," said Tsoi. The lab/administration building, warehouse, and reception/training building will be adjacent to one another. The design of these buildings will respect the steam pump station's history, but clearly indicate that they were built in the 1990s. Tsoi said the Authority's directive is not to copy the detail of an age gone by. "That would be far too expensive, and hardly functional," he said.

Despite the age of the steam pump station and its exposure to the element on Deer Island, it has remained amazingly intact. "The building is extremely restorable," says Herbold. According to Herbold, very minor restoration work is needed. Ed Tsoi agrees. "The brick is in very good condition. Most of the damage to the building was caused by water seepage occurring over the last 10 to 15 years." During that time, vandals confiscated the copper flashing section of the roof, which was installed to protect the building from water infiltration. "A large vertical crack in a side wall of the building is due to the penetration of water through the roof," said Tsoi.

Although it remains structurally sound, the roof will require some repair. Design plans of the Tsoi Kobus team include the removal of all slate from the top of the structure, replacement of the wood deck, and return of the original slate to the roof. The 125-foot high stack, which once served as the chimney, will also be restored. Tsoi believes it would be too expensive to remove, and minor repair to the structure will safely secure it.

While the exterior of the steam pump station will remain much the same, the interior will be gutted to allow a variety of uses. The restored steam pump station will provide the welcoming porch for one of the most sophisticated primary and secondary treatment facilities in the nation. Visitors to the island will come here to learn about wastewater treatment plant operations, both past and present. The visitors' center will contain historical information on the island and its operations.

The former screen house, at the northern end of the steam pump station will hold the plant director's office and a small conference room on the ground floor. The former boiler room, in the middle of the building, will house administrative action and public affairs offices, and a visitors' center. The coal room, which will be converted to a training area for plant personnel, will also house a 250-seat public meeting room. According to Herbold, the ol eam pump itself might remain in the visitors' center as a museum piece for visitors on the island.

BOSTON METROPOLITAN SEWERAGE COMMISSION

During the mid-19th century, prior to the invention of steam pumps, the disposal of human waste became an increasingly difficult problem to manage. The systems in use — cesspools, out-houses, and fragmented sewers — could no longer prevent disease, odors, and the contamination of water supplies, while also accommodating an ever increasing population. In 1884, under the aegis of the Massachusetts State Board of Health, a main, high-level sewer, called the Boston Main Drainage Works was created to serve the area south of the Charles River. This system connected portions of western Boston, Brookline, Newton, Waltham and Watertown through a brick tunnel under Dorchester Bay to a pump station at Old Harbor Point (now Columbia Point) and extending out to Moon Island, off Quincy. Four 50 million gallon granite storage tanks were constructed there to hold raw sewage. The gates to the reservoir were opened twice daily on the outgoing tide allowing the sewage to flow into the harbor.

In 1889 the Massachusetts Legislature passed a law creating the Boston Metropolitan Sewerage Commission. One of the Commission's first tasks was to design and construct a metropolitan sewerage system to serve towns to the west and north of Boston.

The north metropolitan system linked 14 communities north and west of Boston from Winthrop and East Boston to Winchester and Woburn. This system connected to the Deer Island Sewerage Works, the steam pump station, and represented approximately 85 percent of the metropolitan sewerage system's capacity.

Once the Deer Island steam pump station came on line in 1894, it permitted the city to collect more sewage while selectively pumping it out to sea.

In 1904 the south metropolitan system was constructed with an outfall location at Nut Island, in Quincy, thereby completing the main components of the metropolitan system. At this time, the Boston Metropolitan Sewerage Commission operated 726 miles of sewer line servicing the Charles River Valley (Boston Main Drainage Works), the Neponset River Valley (south metropolitan system), and the north metropolitan system (areas north and west of Boston).

In order to accommodate the area's increasing population, the Massachusetts Legislature authorized the expansion of the Deer Island pumping station in 1908. By 1910 a fourth pump and engine were built, the coal house expanded, an additional screening device added to the screen house, and six new boilers installed. The capacity of the steam pump station reached 235 million gallons of sewage per day. At that time, pumping sewage out to sea was considered a revolutionary practice. According to Herbold, "the steam pump station was a significant advance in modern wastewater technology, and a major, successful attempt to rid the Boston metropolitan area of its waste."

THE DEER ISLAND SEWERAGE WORKS IN OPERATION

During its years of operation, sewage reached the Deer Island steam pump station by gravity through a brick sewer that ran underneath the building, called the north metropolitan trunk sewer. First the sewage passed through the screen house, which contained double rows of wrought iron bar cage screens, where large debris and insoluble organic materials were removed. After screening, the sewage traveled to the three centrifugal pumps of the engine room, each driven by a triple expansion steam engine. From here, the sewage was lifted an average of 12 feet to the discharge channel, and sent out into Boston Harbor through an outfall pipe. Chosen for its ability to withstand erosion in salt water and its low cost, the outfall pipe was made of asphalt-coated wood lined with cement. The outfall extended from Deer Island to a point opposite Deer Island Light. It had a total length of 1,925 feet and a diameter of slightly over 6 feet.

The steam pump was originally fired by coal, which arrived on the island by barge. Small cars carried the coal over a narrow gauge rail extending 400 feet from the wharf. The coal was dropped into the coal house (built to hold 600 tons of coal) from the track above. Workers, called stokers, would then carry the coal on small carts to the boilers, where they shoveled the coal into the boilers. The coal was ignited and turned to fire, which escaped as smoke through the chimney stack, while the steam released from this process travelled to the high pressure, triple expansion engine room. The discharged steam then condensed into water, went back into the boiler, and the process began once again.

By 1950, coal use had become outdated and burdensome, and the steam pump station converted to diesel engines to drive the pumps. The use of the steam pump station ended in 1968, when the Deer Island primary treatment plant, under the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan District Commission, came on line. In this system, sewage is pumped to Deer Island where it is treated and then flows by gravity through an outfall pipe into Boston Harbor.

The restored steam pump station will have a vital role in the future of Boston Harbor. From within its walls, the plant's superintendent will direct the operations of the second largest treatment plant in the United States. School children studying wastewater treatment will begin tours of the new plant, and employees will be trained in operations of the latest wastewater treatment technology.

In a different role, the steam pump station will again anchor one of the most advanced and best designed sewerage systems of its time.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without advertising, based on the following communications:

C-16005-91

Re: Contract with Ecumenical Social Action Committee

Dear Mayor Flynn:

Pursuant to a vote of the Public Facilities Commission on April 26, 1990, I respectfully request Your Honor's written permission to dispense with further public advertising and award a contract to Ecumenical Social Action Committee, a non-profit corporation, with offices at 3134 Washington Street, Jamaica Plain, MA 02130. Under the terms of this contract and through the Public Facilities' Senior Home Repair Program, the contractor will assist homeowners in securing minor and emergency home repairs which will maintain safety, livability, and handicap accessibility. These homeowners will be low to moderate income, elderly and/or disabled.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed Fifty-Five Thousand Dollars ($55,000), which I have determined to be reasonable for the services to be performed. The term of this contract shall be from July 1, 1990 to June 30, 1991. Funds for this contract shall come from those received under the Community Development Block Grant program.

Ecumenical Social Action Committee was selected based upon a thorough evaluation of the proposal submitted in response to publicly advertised request for proposals in the Boston Globe on March 5, 1990, and City Record March 12, 1990. Four organizations submitted proposals. The proposals were evaluated based on the following criteria: organizational description; target population/target area/need; program design, description; program evaluation; staffing plan/structure; and program budget/budget narrative. All four proposals met the criteria, and were selected.

As this is a negotiated contract at a reasonable cost, based upon an extensive program and proposal review, I believe that further public advertising would serve no useful purpose. I, therefore, request permission to dispense with inviting sealed bids in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code, St. 4 s. 5.

Sincerely,
Lisa G. Chapnick,
Director.

all firms in this category exceed One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000). It is my opinion that this cost is reasonable for the services to be provided.

The contractors were selected based upon a thorough evaluation of their proposals submitted in response to a publicly advertised request for proposals in the Boston Globe on February 19, 1990, and the City Record on February 19, 1990. Ten firms submitted proposals. They were evaluated and ranked based on the following criteria: turn around time, billing flexibility, quality control, week-end and afternoon hours service, minimum typing levels and reasonableness of fees. The five selected firms' proposals ranked highest of the ten submitted.

As this is a negotiated contract at a reasonable cost, based upon an extensive program and proposal review, I believe that further public advertising would serve no useful purpose. Re: Contract for Design of Renovations to Area B, C & D Police Stations Project No. 5528.

Dear Mayor Flynn:

Pursuant to a vote of the Public Facilities Commission on April 13, 1990, I respectfully request Your Honor's written permission to dispense with further public advertisement and award a contract to Dean, Tucker, Shaw, Inc., a Massachusetts corporation, with offices at 119 Beach Street, Boston, MA 02111, providing design services for renovations to Area B, C and D Police Stations. The scope of work will include preliminary drawings, design development, working drawings and construction supervision.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $159,500 (including $40,000 for supplementary services) which is a fixed fee of 13.28% based on an estimated cost of construction of $900,000, which I have determined to be a reasonable cost for the work to be performed. The term of this contract shall be for 30 months from the date of execution.

Following the advertisement of this project in the Boston Globe and City Record on December 11, 1989 and the Central Register on December 13, 1989, and receipt of proposals, the contractor was selected on the basis of a rating system undertaken by the Public Facilities Designer Selection Committee in accordance with MGL c. 7, s. 38A 1/2 et seq. The Committee evaluated 29 proposals submitted by the applicants and determined Dean, Tucker, Shaw, Inc., most qualified and competent to complete said design work. The numerical matrix rating for a firm reflects the combined score of each committee member's ranking of this firm and thus the recommended firm has the lowest number. The numerical matrix rating summary of the three finalists, in order of rank, was as follows:

CITY'S GANG DETERRENT PROGRAM HONORS SUPPORTERS

Over two hundred Boston youth enrolled in the city's Hope in Progress HIP Gang Deterrent Program presented awards to the program's supporters and performed skits, raps, scenes from original plays and other activities, on February 14, at the Tobin Community School in Mission Hill. Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn along with Congressman Joe Moakley, Doris Bunte of the Boston Housing Authority, Ted Landmark of the Safe Neighborhoods Plan, Susan Davenport of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and Bill Doherty of Boston Community Schools all received awards for their support of the program which is now in its second year.

Run by Boston Community Schools and Recreation Centers, the HIP Program was granted $800,000 from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services in October of 1989 to serve 10- to 14-year-old males and females at risk of gang membership. In the fall of 1990, the grant was renewed for an additional $800,000. To date, over 600 youth have benefitted from HIP's case management approach which provides child advocacy, counseling, health and life skills services, tutoring and recreation programs.

Congressman Joseph Moakley, who returned from Washington to attend the event said, "We must provide an alternative to the cycle of drugs, violence and early death for our youth. These alternatives are embodied in the Hope in Progress program. This country cannot afford to simply write off another generation of our youth to the sad reality of street life. We must protect our future by helping and guiding our future leaders."

Mayor Flynn added, "I am proud of the agencies and organizations here today who work together on ideas and gathering resources for

THE ADOPT-A-STATUE PROGRAM

The goal of Adopt-A-Statue is to achieve funding for the restoration of thirty-nine pieces of outdoor public art and to establish a permanent maintenance endowment which would provide for the annual cleaning and maintenance of sixty-nine pieces.

To invite individuals, groups of individuals or corporations to "adopt" a piece of Boston outdoor public art by either:

- incurring the total cost of restoring and maintaining a particular piece of art or
- making a donation toward a general restoration and maintenance fund.

Gifts are tax deductible to the extent limited by law.

For further information on how to adopt a statue please contact the Environment Department at 725-3850 (Paula Mierzejewski) or Office of Arts and Humanities at 725-3245 (Mary Shannon).

Each week the City Record will publish a statue for adoption.

gang prevention, but I am more proud of the young people here who have made the often difficult choice to avoid drug dealers and gang leaders and make a success of their lives."

Clarence Perkins, 11, of the Mattahunt Community School HIP Program in Mattapan said that HIP has encouraged him to learn more about himself and do his best in school. "It helps me to avoid trouble. Walking away isn't too hard now," he said. Wilson Rodriguez, also 11, of the Cleveland/Marshall/Holland Community School HIP Program in Dorchester added that "HIP gives me a place to keep off the streets and people to talk to when I'm feeling bad."

The HIP Program is run out of seven Boston Community School sites in the Roxbury, Mattapan, Dorchester and Jamaica Plain neighborhoods. Youth are primarily referred to HIP by youth workers, the Boston Municipal Juvenile Court Division, public schools, parents, and the Boston Police Department. While enrolled in HIP, they receive a minimum of 12 hours per week of counseling, tutoring, health and life skills services, pre-vocational training and recreation activities as well as participation in special field trips and events.

Mayor Flynn said, "Almost two years ago we gathered in Roxbury to announce the funding of this program from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Since that time, we have been able to provide positive alternatives to over 600 boys and girls who had none. With state support dwindling, it is more important than ever for the federal government to continue to fund innovative programs like HIP that reach kids before they are lured into joining street gangs."

"We all suffer losses in our lifetime," said Congressman Moakley, "but when we lose hope, we lose everything. HIP renews the gift of hope for many of our young people, not with empty and meaningless rhetoric, but with programs that work."

T SHIRTS, T CUPS, AND T TOTE BAGS TO HIT THE MARKET AS MBTA LICENSES LOGO IN MOVE TO BOOST REVENUE

A real T shirt, T cup or T tote bag can now make the perfect holiday or birthday gift for that commuter of yours thanks to a licensing agreement for use of the T logo approved today by the T Board of Directors.

The agreement allows Bull & Finch Enterprises, Inc. of Boston rights to put the T logo on virtually any product they choose and to market those products through their retail outlets, wholesale business, or mail order catalog.

Secretary of Transportation Richard Taylor said, "Working with the private sector can provide an important way for the T to reduce its deficit. This is just one of the cooperative programs with the business community we will be seeing in the future."

T General Manager Thomas P. Glynn said, "This is a great way for the T to raise money while helping to boost our image and increase ridership."

The licensing agreement, which runs for three years with an option for two additional years, calls for the T to receive a royalty of eight percent on each item sold. The T will continue to own the trademark and copyright and will have approval over the type of product sold.

Thomas Kershaw, President of Bull and Finch Inc. said, "This is a terrific way for a public agency to work with the private sector to create business opportunities and generate new revenue. I think it is an excellent example of the type of entrepreneurial government that Governor Weld has talked about."

Bull and Finch Enterprises, Inc., in business since 1985, has been recognized as one of the fastest growing privately held companies in the country. They hold the marketing rights from Paramount Pictures for Cheers products, as well as the Swan Boats, Freedom Trail, and Greater Boston Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Currently, the company has seven retail locations around Boston, boasts over 90 wholesale accounts, and has an active mail order business.

The T product line will start coming to market 30 days after the formal contract is finalized.

And, remember, it's never too soon to start thinking about your T gift giving needs . . . and it's great for tourists, too.

THE CIVIL WAR IN FILM, PHOTOS AND SONGS AT THE BPL

The Civil War will be presented in film, photos, and songs during February and March at the Boston Public Library in Copley Square with exhibits in the Rare Books and Manuscripts Department and the Music Department complementing the weekly screening of Ken Burns' "Civil War" film series.

The nine-part PBS documentary, which aired locally on WGBH-TV last fall and drew the largest national audience of any series in the history of public broadcasting, is being shown weekly in the Rabb Lecture Hall through March 20th.

An exhibit of original photographs by Mathew Brady, the first war photographer, chromolithographs by Louis Prang, and engravings, books, and contemporary broadsides that graphically illustrate the events and men of the war between the states, will be on display in the Research Library's Rare Books and Manuscripts Department through March. Entitled "The Civil War: People and Places," the exhibition is drawn from the BPL's vast Civil War collections including personal diaries, reports, and letters donated to the library by members of the 20th Regiment Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry.

A companion exhibit, "Marching to the Music of the Union and the Confederacy," is currently on display in the Roussevitsky Room and South Gallery of the Research Library. The Music Department exhibit includes patriot and sentimental songs that were popular north and south of the Mason Dixon line during the 1860s, as well as soldiers' personal songbooks and other artifacts.

Mothers and fathers of servicemen and women currently serving in the Gulf would certainly identify with many of the songs written during that period such as "Tell Me of My Darling Boy, a Mother's Reply to 'Just Before the Battle'." Or, "Yes! I Would the War Were Over."

Martial music written in honor of Union generals written by E. Mack of Philadelphia reveal a hierarchical pecking order as demonstrated by their titles: "General McClellan's Grand March," "Major General Sheridan's Grand Victory March," "Lt. General Grant's Grand March," and "Major General Sherman's Triumphal March."

For information regarding the times the exhibits are open to the public, please call 536-5400, Ext. 212.

BOSTON HARBOR

That Boston Harbor is the dirtiest port in the country is a fact known from coast to coast. That there is a plan to clean up Boston Harbor is less well known, and even less well understood. Many residents of Massachusetts don't understand exactly what is being cleaned or how.

By now, many people know that the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority is building a new wastewater treatment plant on Deer Island that, when it is completed in the year 2000, will be the second largest sewage treatment plant in the U.S. and will bring the region into compliance with federal environmental law.

But the treatment plant is just one part of a comprehensive, decade-long plan to make the waters of Boston Harbor once again suitable for swimming and fishing.

Another key element of the total cleanup strategy is a 10-year, $1.2 billion program to control the discharge of 10 billion gallons of raw sewage in the harbor each year through 86 combined sewer overflows (CSOs). The MWRA recently approved a plan for dealing with the CSO problem and submitted that plan to a federal judge overseeing the harbor cleanup.

How does that program fit into the overall harbor cleanup strategy, and why is it something many people have not heard of until now?

The centerpiece of the harbor cleanup is the new plant. It will provide Boston with both primary and secondary treatment of 450 million gallons of wastewater each day. Secondary treatment has been required by federal law since 1977. The wastewater that emerges from the new plant will be much cleaner, and discharged nine miles farther out to sea. The 50 tons of sludge (the muddy residue that's left over after wastewater has been treated), that we dump into the harbor each day will be converted to fertilizer for use on land beginning in 1992. The water quality of Boston Harbor will improve dramatically as a result of the new plant and the cessation of dumping sludge into shallow harbor waters.

But the new plant can only treat the wastewater that reaches it. Given the region's current infrastructure, 10 billion gallons of raw sewage never makes it to the plant, but are instead diverted during rain storms to Boston harbor and the three rivers (Charles, Mystic and Neponset) that flow into the harbor. During periods of heavy rain, combined sewers that carry both sewage and storm water overflow through CSOs into the harbor or its tributaries. The MWRA's plan to control CSOs calls for the sewage that is now dumped into the harbor through CSOs during heavy rain to be stored in tunnels until it can be handled by the new plant.

Most combined sewers were built in the 19th or early 20th centuries and at the times were considered state-of-the-art sewer technology. Combined sewers in Boston, Cambridge, Somerville and Chelsea still work as they were designed to, and relatively well. The problem is that when it rains, millions of gallons of untreated wastewater finds its way to Boston Harbor without ever seeing a sewage treatment plant.

The MWRA's CSO control plan calls for building 16 miles of deep underground storage tunnel and 21 miles of near-surface conduits over 10 years at a cost of $1.2 billion in current dollars. The tunnels, which will stretch from Dorchester to Somerville and from Cambridgeport to

Chelsea, will be connected to the region's sewer infrastructure by 13 drop shafts. When it rains, wastewater will be stored in the new tunnels until it can be pumped out for treatment.

The MWRA's Board of Directors approved the CSO plan in September and submitted it to the federal judge overseeing the harbor cleanup, who must approve the plan and a timetable to undertake the work. One of the many issues to be considered by the MWRA and the judge in developing a construction schedule is how that schedule should tie into the court-ordered 10-year timetable for the new plant construction. Another issue is whether the MWRA's customer in Boston and 42 other communities can be expected to pay for both the new plant and the CSO program simultaneously.

But the question is when, not whether, the CSO program will be undertaken. The MWRA is committed to revamping the sewer infrastructure of Greater Boston and ending centuries of abuse of Boston Harbor. The CSO control program is an essential element of the cleanup of Boston Harbor.

MASS. WATER RESOURCES AUTHORITY, MWRA ADVISORY BOARD TO PURSUE LEGAL ACTION AGAINST MASS. DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AND TOWN OF CLINTON

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, on February 15, announced it will file lawsuits against the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection and the Town of Clinton to recover $5.5 million in construction and operational costs associated with the Clinton Wastewater Treatment Plant.

The MWRA Advisory Board, representing 60 cities and towns, will also join the suit.

Under legislation enacted in 1987, the Legislature directed the DEP to provide a $4 million grant to the MWRA to reimburse the estimated shortfall in construction funds needed to build the $36 million tertiary treatment plant in Clinton. The MWRA has not yet received the grant despite repeated requests to DEP.

The legislature also directed the Town of Clinton to reimburse MWRA $500,000 per year to help pay for costs of operating the plant. The Town is now $1.5 million in arrears.

"We feel that DEP and Clinton are in violation of the law and are ignoring the Legislature's directive," said MWRA Executive Director Paul F. Levy. "Since 1898, the Town of Clinton has received free water and sewer service. MWRA ratepayers in our 46 community water district are subsidizing the construction and operation of an expensive plant from which they receive no benefit whatsoever. Clinton should pay its bills like any other member community."

The Commonwealth, Metropolitan District Commission and MWRA are in violation of the Clean Water Act and are under federal court orders to construct the new tertiary treatment plant which discharges into the Nashua River.

When the Legislature created the MWRA in late 1984, Clinton was not included as a MWRA sewer district member. In 1987, the Legislature directed MWRA to operate the existing plant and construct and operate the new plant. DEP was ordered to provide the 10% share of construction costs not available through then existing state and federal grants and Clinton was to pay MWRA to assist in funding operational costs.

The Advisory Board, having pursued all other appropriate channels to address the grievous wrong which has been placed on the backs of the MWRA rate payers, announced on February 15 that they are joining with the MWRA in filing suit against the Commonwealth, DEP, and the Town of Clinton, to recoup the millions of dollars owed to ratepayers for the construction and operation of a Wastewater Treatment plant not located in the ratepayers' district.

"It is unreasonable to have the MWRA ratepayers, who are funding 98% of the costs associated with the primary and secondary treatment for the Boston Harbor cleanup, to be paying for tertiary treatment for a town outside of the MWRA's service area," said Joseph Favaloro, Administrator of the MWRA Advisory Board which represents the interests of the 2.5 million ratepayers.

"The Advisory Board, since the transfer of the Clinton Wastewater Treatment Plant in 1987, has consistently pursued all avenues to ensure that all unjust costs to ratepayers are removed", stated Favaloro. "To this end the Advisory Board has repeatedly filed legislation to right this wrong - to no avail; therefore, the Advisory Board supports litigation in order to achieve equity for the ratepayer."

Walter Woods, Chairman of the Advisory Board added, "A commitment was made by the Commonwealth and it must fulfill its obligations. The State cannot continue to pass its fiscal obligations onto the MWRA ratepayers and they are not "Deep Pockets", and the MWRA Advisory Board will not tolerate more costs being added to our already intolerable fiscal burden."

The MWRA will wait 60 days before filing the suit to give DEP and Clinton sufficient time to respond to the issues

REPEAL OF BID LAW COULD SAVE $250 MILLION ON HARBOR CLEANUP

Exempting the Boston Harbor cleanup from the state's filed sub-bid law would allow the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA) to shave $250 million from the cost of the project, Paul F. Levy, the Authority's Executive Director, said today.

Levy said legislation proposed by the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation would repeal the filed sub-bid law which applies to the construction of public buildings and requires separately filed sub-bids in 17 categories of work in addition to bids by general contractors.

Under the filed sub-bid law, general contractors usually select subcontractors based on cost rather than other con-considerations such as quality of work or past performance. The uncertainties built into the system result in coordination problems among the general contractor and sub-contractors that result in construction delays and increased costs, including contingencies that are added into the contract bids.

Levy said the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation's proposal to repeal the filed sub-bid law would allow public agencies that construct buildings to do so more efficiently and at less cost. On the MWRA's harbor cleanup alone, $250 million could be saved if the project were not subject to the filed sub-bid law, according to a report prepared for the MWRA by Cambridge Systematics, Inc., a research firm.

"Repeal of the filed sub-bid law would allow the MWRA to undertake the harbor cleanup under the same set of construction laws that now apply to all public construction except buildings," Levy said. "We would still accept the lowest bidder on construction contracts and we would be governed by the same laws that apply to agencies like the Massachusetts Department of Public Works and the MBTA."

Richard A. Manley, President of the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation, noted that repeal of the filed sub-bid law was a major recommendation of the Ward Commission, which studied the public construction process in Massachusetts during the late 1960s and 1970s. The Commission found that repeal of the filed sub-bid law would result in "better buildings, lower costs and fewer opportunities for fraud and corruption." The Ward Commission also said the filed sub-bid law "is the kind of law that gives government regulations and operations a bad name."

The legislature enacted a complete overhaul of the Commonwealth's construction laws following the release of the Ward Commission's recommendations, but the legislature did not act on the Commission's recommendation to repeal the filed sub-bid law, formally known as Section 44F of Chapter 149 of the Massachusetts General Laws.

"The Ward Commission recognized, as have many others who have studied the public construction process, that the filed sub-bid law does little to increase the efficiency and integrity of public construction," said Samuel R. Tyler, Executive Director of the Boston Municipal Research Bureau, whose agency also favors repeal of the filed sub-bid law. "Rather, filed sub-bids drive up costs, create delays in completing projects and encourage shoddy construction. The effect of filed sub-bids is especially onerous on a mega-project like the Boston Harbor cleanup."

"The repeal of the filed sub-bid law will allow the MWRA to achieve the goal of a clean harbor at a more equitable cost to the Authority's ratepayers, who are paying virtually the entire cost of the harbor cleanup," said Joseph E. Favaloro, Administrator of the MWRA Advisory Board, which represents the interests of the cities and towns served by the Authority. "The savings achieved by repeal of the filed sub-bid law will afford significant relief to ratepayers. We urge the Legislature to repeal the law," Favaloro said.

The filed sub-bid law pertains only to buildings erected by public agencies, including the Commonwealth's Division of Capital Planning and Operations, which oversees all construction by state agencies, the Massachusetts Port Authority, the MWRA, cities and towns, and local housing authorities. The law does not regulate any private sector work, nor does it govern the construction of roads, bridges, sewers or other public construction other than buildings.

The MWRA estimates that $2.6 billion of the $6.1 billion harbor project would be subject to filed sub-bidding even though the project is not a building in the sense of a school or fire station. According to the Cambridge Systematics report, requiring filed sub-bids will add an estimated 10 percent to the cost of the harbor cleanup, or a total of $250 million. Components of the project subject to filed sub-bidding include above-ground construction such as the primary and secondary treatment plant at Deer Island, a headworks facility at Nut Island, 16 sludge digesters on Deer Island, and various support buildings.

"The delays and increased costs that will likely result from the filed subbidding will make it difficult for us to meet the rigorous court-ordered schedule for the harbor cleanup," said Levy.

Levy said that the legislature has in the past recognized that the provisions of the filed sub-bid law may not be equally applicable to all public agencies. The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority is already exempt from the law; the Boston Housing Authority was exempted from the filed sub-bid law while it was in court-ordered receivership.

Prompt action by the legislature is necessary in order to achieve the full cost savings that could be realized by exempting the harbor project from filed sub-bidding, Levy said. He noted that the Authority intends during the next 90 days to award four contracts worth some $268 million. A $26 million savings is possible if those contracts do not require filed sub-bidding, Levy said. The contracts must be bid during the next 90 days in order to comply with the federal court order governing the harbor cleanup.

"A project of the size and complexity of the Boston Harbor Project was not envisioned by the legislature when it enacted the filed sub-bid law," said Levy. "Problems created by filed sub-bids that may be more manageable on small, uncomplicated projects will be intolerable on a project like the harbor cleanup," he said.

Massachusetts is the only state in the nation that requires filed sub-bids on public building projects. Connecticut enacted a similar law in 1973 but repealed it in 1982. A somewhat similar law in New York known as the Wicks Law has been sharply criticized by several reports issued by the City of New York and various special commissions. The Wicks Law was modified by the New York state legislature in 1988 to exempt a $4.3 billion school construction program in New York City.

Levy noted that the harbor project would require 30 to 40 general contractors, each of them could have up to 17 sub-contractors, resulting in hundreds of sub-contractors working on the construction site. This would likely create significant difficulties in coordinating and managing construction on the project, he said.

The Boston Harbor Project is a 10-year, $6.1 billion effort to control the pollution of Boston Harbor with new wastewater treatment infrastructure. The project's centerpiece is a new primary and secondary treatment plant on Deer Island in Boston Harbor. That plant, with a capacity of 1.3 billion gallons per day, will be the second-largest sewage treatment plant in the nation when it is completed in the year 2000.

The project also includes the construction of 14 miles of undersea tunnels to take wastewater to and from the new plant, a new headworks facility on Nut Island in Quincy, and a variety of miscellaneous support buildings and facilities.

FACT SHEET: THE FILED SUB-BID LAW

THE FILED SUB-BID LAW

Section 44F of Chapter 149 of the Massachusetts General Laws, commonly known as the filed sub-bid law, applies to public buildings and requires separately filed sub-bids in 17 categories of work in addition to bids by general contractors. Under the filed sub-bid law, general contractors usually select subcontractors based on cost rather than other considerations such as quality of work or past performance. The uncertainties built into the system result in coordination problems among the general contractor and sub-contractors that result in construction delays and increased costs, including contingencies that are added into the contract bids.

The law applies only to construction of buildings by public agencies and does not cover heavy and highway construction such as roads, bridges, tunnels, sewers, subways and other non-building construction. The law does not apply to any private sector construction projects, including buildings.

The filed sub-bid law requires public agencies to accept filed sub-bids in 17 categories of work, including: roofing and flashing; metal windows; waterproofing, dampproofing and caulking; miscellaneous and ornamental iron; lathing and plastering; acoustical tile; marble; tile; terrazzo; resilient floors; glass and glazing; painting; plumbing; heating, ventilating and air conditioning; electrical work; elevators; and masonry.

Under the law, sub-bids are submitted to the awarding agency at least four days before the agency opens general bids on the project. The filed sub-bids are opened and listed by the awarding agency at least two days before opening the general bid. The general contractor then selects subcontractors from the list of sub-bidders provided by the awarding agency. In most cases, the general contractor selects those subcontractors that submitted the lowest bids. The general contractor lists his or her selected sub-contractors on the general bid submitted to the awarding agency.

The filed sub-bid law is intended to obtain the lowest responsible bids for the construction of certain specialized components of public buildings. The law is also intended to prevent "bid shopping," a practice in which a general contractor negotiates with sub-contractors by comparing their prices with other sub-contractors after the general contractor has won the contract.

Massachusetts is the only state with a filed sub-bid law. Connecticut enacted a similar law in 1973 but repealed it in 1982. New York's Wicks Law, which requires separate contracts for four types of work (general construction; heating; ventilating and air conditioning; plumbing; and electrical wiring) has been repeatedly criticized by the City of New York and various special commissions. The Wicks Law was modified by the New York state legislature in 1988 to exempt a major school construction program in New York City.

The filed sub-bid law does not apply to the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, which was exempted in 1980. The Boston Housing Authority was exempted from the sub-bid law while the agency was in court-ordered receivership.

THE WARD COMMISSION REPORT

The Special Commission Concerning State and County Buildings, commonly known as the Ward Commission, probed corruption in public construction in Massachusetts during the late 1960s and 1970s. The Commission found that the repeal of the filed sub-bid would result in "better buildings, lower costs, and fewer opportunities for fraud and corruption." While the legislature enacted a complete overhaul of the Commonwealth's public construction laws following the release of the Ward Commission's recommendations, it did not act on the Commission's recommendation to repeal the filed sub-bid law.

The Ward Commission found that the filed sub-bid law "should be repealed. It is an experiment that has conclusively failed. It is the least desirable of any known alternative for the selection of sub-contractors."

OTHER FINDINGS OF THE WARD COMMISSION

The Ward Commission also found that the filed sub-bid law:

- "is the kind of law that gives government regulations and operations a bad name."
- "resulted in a monopoly of the process by a small group of sub-contractors and (has) been a major cause of defective construction."
- encouraged prime contractors to choose sub-contractors solely on the basis of price, with little regard for quality of work;
- discouraged competition and increased possibilities for bid-rigging;
- discouraged legitimate negotiations between prime contractors and sub-contractors;
- made it more difficult for minority- and women-owned companies to participate in construction projects as sub-contractors;

- encouraged shoddy construction and discouraged quality architectural design;

- imposed on the construction process the "impossible goal of accurately and completely dividing all plans and specifications on projects overwhelmingly characterized by the interlocking of trades."

EFFECT OF THE FILED SUB-BID LAW ON THE BOSTON HARBOR PROJECT

According to a report prepared for the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority by Cambridge Systematics, Inc., a research firm, application of the filed sub-bid law to the Boston Harbor Project would:

- increase the cost of the project by an estimated $250 million, or roughly 10 percent of some $2.6 billion in contracts that would be subject to the law.
- result in unnecessarily complicated management and coordination problems on an unusually large and complicated project.
- increase number of bid protests and disputes among contractors and subcontractors.
- *fail to ensure that quality work is performed on the project.

THE CAMBRIDGE SYSTEMATICS REPORT

Cambridge Systematics, Inc., a research firm that studied the impact of the filed sub-bidding on the Boston Harbor cleanup, found that sub-bidding could result in higher costs, added delays in construction, less management control and lower quality work.

The report prepared for the MWRRA concluded that the harbor cleanup could be completed faster, more efficiently and at less cost if the filed sub-bids were not required.

Cambridge Systematics is an economic development and impact analysis research firm with offices in Cambridge, Massachusetts and Berkeley, California. The firm's principals include faculty of M.I.T., the University of California at Berkeley and Northwestern University.

FINDINGS OF THE CAMBRIDGE SYSTEMATICS REPORT

The Cambridge Systematics report studied the $2.6 billion of contracts on the Boston Harbor Project to which the filed sub-bid law would apply. The law would apply to certain above-ground construction on the project, including the primary and secondary treatment plant at Deer Island, a headworks at Nut Island, sludge digesters at Deer Island, and various support buildings.

Cost

The Cambridge Systematics report found that the filed sub-bid process typically adds between 7.5 and 11.5 percent to the costs of contracts bid under the filed sub-bid law. Specific findings of the report with respect to cost include:

- "General contractors increase their bids by 2 to 3 percent to provide for additional management required to assure the performance of subcontractors with which they have not worked before."

- General contractors bidding under the filed sub-bid law generally add contingencies of 3 to 4 percent of the contracted filed sub-bid work. Filed sub-bid contractors usually add a contingency of 1 to 2 percent to their bids to allow for working with unfamiliar general contractors. Together, the general and filed sub-bid contractors add 4 to 6 percent in contingencies to the cost of contracts with filed sub-bid work.

- "The general contractor is not able to negotiate with filed sub-bid subcontractors to obtain the most favorable price; therefore, the price for the subcontracted work may be one or two percent higher than if (private sector) subcontracting procedures were followed."

- "The extra change orders under filed sub-bidding increase costs by about one-half of 1 percent."

Management

The Cambridge Systematics report found that "the management of filed sub-bid contracts by the general contractor is more difficult than the management of subcontractors (procured directly by the general contractor)." Specific findings of the report include the following:

- "The procedure for selecting subcontractors is largely outside of the control of the general contractor and is mainly based on being (the) low bidder rather than having the capability of satisfactorily performing the work."

- "The general contractor has little incentive to select a bid from a better but more expensive subcontractor because the general contractor is likely to have to absorb the higher cost difference in order to remain the low bidder."

- "Subcontractors selected under the filed sub-bid procedures are less likely to have established a close working relationship with the general contractor, which is important to timely and sound performance on the overall project."

- "The filed subcontractor's work is less under the control of the general contractor than in normally subcontracted public and private building projects."

Quality of Work

The report found that "the filed sub-bid procedure does not assure that high quality work will be performed by subcontractors. The primary selection criterion for filed sub-bid contractors is price rather than quality of work." Specific findings of the report include:

- "The selection process for filed sub-bidders places little weight on the firm's previous performance."

- "Filed sub-bid subcontractors have little incentive to perform high-quality work because it will have little effect on whether they are awarded another filed sub-bid contract."

Schedule

The report found that "filed sub-bid contracting procedures can contribute significantly to delay in the completion of building projects . . . The filed sub-bid process takes longer.” The report also found that “disputes causing delays to building projects more frequently arise on filed sub-bid projects than on ones following normal (private sector) subcontracting procedures.”

MWRA AND QUINCY OFFICIALS UNITE TO RESOLVE WOLLASTON BEACH-QUINCY BAY POLLUTION PROBLEM

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority and the City of Quincy announced today that through a joint effort they will initiate a contamination abatement program to help resolve the Wollaston Beach-Quincy Bay pollution problem.

“As part of the MWRA’s Community Assistance Program, we will provide the City of Quincy with the support needed to resolve this situation,” said MWRA Executive Director Paul F. Levy. “It is also the goal of the MWRA that the Wollaston Beach-Quincy Bay area should be enjoyed by its residents.”

“The City of Quincy, with the assistance of the MWRA, will now execute its plan to eliminate these pollution sources as rapidly and as completely as feasible,” said Mayor James A. Sheets. “We are committed to the resolution of this serious problem.”

During a recent meeting, staff members of the MWRA and Quincy City Officials sought to define the causes of the existing problem, which might include illegal sewer hookups to the City’s storm drains along with breaks and cross connections within the sewer system.

The City of Boston and the MWRA have eliminated one significant source of contamination of Quincy Bay with the virtual closure of the Calf Pasture-Moon Island outfall system. The huge amount of sewerage discharged from Moon Island was a focal point of Quincy’s 1982 Harbor Law Suit. The MWRA has made major improvements at Nut Island, will terminate sludge discharges into the harbor by the end of this year, and will permanently close the Nut Island plant and the Quincy bay outfalls in 1995. “It is now appropriate that we turn our attention to the remaining sources of contamination,” stated the Mayor.

Recent water sampling work done by the MWRA Harbor Studies Unit, combined with results of beach monitoring by the City of Quincy and the MDC, suggested that sources of beach fecal coliform contamination were primarily near shore rather than offshore and indicated that the storm drains were the source of contamination. The Harbor Studies Unit will assist Quincy in further analyzing any areas of high fecal contamination, a move welcomed by Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue who also participated in the meeting.

“We are now in the process of prioritizing areas of concern at Quincy Bay,” said MWRA Director of Sewerage Richard H. Davison. “We have already inspected 3,000 feet of storm drains and will continue this ongoing process to identify potential problem areas.”

The MWRA’s Sewerage Division crew conducts its inspection through the use of video cameras, which record the condition of the drain pipes and can detect breaks and illegal connections. Video tapes of potential problem areas will be turned over to Quincy City Officials.

“We will work with the MWRA as they conduct preliminary investigations of storm sewers. Quincy is beginning its own evaluation of its sanitary sewers in this area through a contract with Weston and Sampson Engineers, Inc., which is funded in part by the Department of Environmental Protection. We will take the proper corrective measures once the problem areas are identified,” said Quincy Public Works Commissioner David A. Colton.

In addition, a City Ordinance change by Councilor Peter Kolson would allow the City’s Building and Plumbing Inspectors to assist the DPW in this endeavor. Commissioner Colton stated his hope that model storm water contamination process would result.

MWRA PLANS TO FILTER QUABBIN/WACHUSETT WATER

In the most significant change to the Quabbin/Wachusett water system in more than a half a century, the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority today announced plans to filter the water. The new plant will be constructed and put on line before the year 2000.

The filtration system will provide 4 MWRA water receiving communities with what officials believe will be the safest and purest water supply in the United States.

Water filtration is needed due to increasing degradation of the water at Wachusett Reservoir and for the MWRA to comply with the federal Safe Drinking Water Act as well as standard promulgated by the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection.

“Because of foot dragging by Massachusetts in the 1970s, MWRA ratepayers will have to pay $7 billion to clean sewage,” said Charles Lyons, a member of the MWRA Board of Directors. “Spending money to guarantee the safest water supply is a sound investment. Let’s not repeat the mistakes of the past by seeking waivers from federal laws. If we had build sewage treatment plants in the 1970s, less than a billion dollars would have cleaned up Boston Harbor with 90 percent paid by federal and state grants. I do not desire to be remembered as an individual with the cleanest harbor in America while at the same time providing the dirtiest drinking water.”

MWRA Executive Director Paul F. Levy said that the MWRA will maintain existing goals of improved watershed protection but that water tests conducted by MWRA over the past year early indicate that water filtration is needed. "We need to better protect the watersheds to prevent accidents such as chemical spills. Also, the cleaner the water entering the filtration plant, the less costly it is to treat."

Levy said the cost of constructing a water filtration plant would add about $10 per year per family to water bills in MWRA communities. "We believe that most people would support building the plant in order to receive clean, fresh water. Those who currently buy bottled water will save a lot of money."

He noted that in recent years, chronic outbreaks of algae have periodically tainted the color and taste of MWRA water. "Filtration will end the algae problem and at the same time prevent against some water born diseases such as giardia. "I want to reassure people that our water is currently safe to drink," he added. "With filtration it will be safer."

Levy said the likely site for the filtration plant would be near the Wachusett Reservoir where the MWRA operates existing waterworks facilities. All water originating at Quabbin Reservoir flows to Wachusett via aqueduct.

The Quabbin/Wachusett Reservoir System is one of the world's largest with the capacity to store 477 billion gallons of water and provide 300 million gallons per day on a safe yield basis. The water is used by 2.5 million people daily and is transported by 383 miles of MWRA pipes, tunnels and aqueducts and 6,700 miles of municipal water pipes.

Levy said facilities engineering studies for the water treatment plant would take several years to complete with construction to start in the mid-1990s.

FACT SHEET JANUARY 30, 1991

Miles of MWRA aqueducts and tunnels:	123
Miles of municipally owned pipes:	6,700

The Quabbin/Wachusett Reservoirs

Approximately 2.5 million people, including most of Greater Boston, receive water from the Quabbin and Wachusett reservoirs. Located in central Massachusetts, the Quabbin holds 412 billion gallons when full and is the largest single-purpose reservoir in the United States. The Wachusett, located in Clinton about 10 miles north of Worcester, is capable of holding 65 billion gallons.

Quabbin Location and Statistics

The Quabbin Reservoir watershed is bordered by three Massachusetts counties which include the towns of Orange, Belchertown, Ware, Wendell, Athol, Phillipston, Barre, Harwick, Petersham, New Salem, Shutesbury, and Pelham. The reservoir is approximately 65 miles west of Boston.

In the valley of the impounded Swift River, a tributary of the Connecticut River, Quabbin collects the runoff from its watershed, 186 square miles of land. In addition, some of the runoff from 98 square miles of Ware River watershed is diverted to the Quabbin each spring.

The Quabbin Reservoir uses gravity to send its flow into the metropolitan Boston area through a series of aqueducts and tunnels which also carry smaller supplies from other reservoirs along the way.

THE QUABBIN:

Elevation: 530 feet above the Boston city base
Capacity: 412 billion gallons
Length: 18 miles
Water surface: 39 square miles
Shoreline: 118 miles
Maximum depth: 150 feet
Current status: 94.7 percent full

The construction of the Quabbin required relocation of six town boundaries. It also eliminated the towns of Enfield, Dana, Greenwich, and Prescott, and moved 2,500 people from 650 homes. The Quabbin superintendent serves as "town clerk" and is qualified to provide birth and death certificates for former residents of the inundated towns.

Wachusett Location and Statistics

The principal water supply for the Boston area from 1907 until the Quabbin was completed and full in the 1940s, the Wachusett watershed includes areas of Clinton, Sterling, Princeton, Holden, Westminster, Paxton, Leominster, Rutland, Worcester, West Boylston, and Boylston.

Projected population and water-use figures in the 1890s demonstrated the need for a regional solution to the future water supply for eastern Massachusetts. The Wachusett's construction, along with a new aqueduct system, was completed in 1900. After World War I, not even the Wachusett Reservoir could meet the future needs of the district. In 1919, the Metropolitan District Commission (MDC) was created to consolidate responsibility for the metropolitan water supply, sewage disposal and parks, under one agency.

In 1985, the MWRA took over from the MDC responsibility for the delivery and distribution of water to 46 communities. The Authority is mandated to safeguard an adequate and pure supply of water for future generations.

THE WACHUSETT:

Elevation: 395 feet above the Boston city base
Capacity: 65 billion gallons
Length: 8.4 miles

Water surface: 6.5 square miles
Shoreline: 37 miles
Maximum depth: 120 feet
Current status: 87.1 percent full

Note: The 108 square mile drainage area is shared with the City of Worcester, which has water rights in 21 square miles.

WORKING TOGETHER FOR CLEAN WATER

The MWRA is an independent authority that provides wholesale water and sewer services to 2.5 million people in 60 communities. It is governed by a Board of Directors with representatives appointed by the Governor, the Mayor of Boston, and member communities. The MWRA was created in 1985 by the Governor and the State Legislature to modernize these water and sewer services, to conserve water resources and to improve the water quality of Boston harbor.

Run as a partnership between the MWRA and the Metropolitan District Commission, the water system provides the region with high quality water from the Quabbin and Wachusett reservoirs.

In 1987, the MWRA began a long-range water supply program to modernize the system, protect existing supplies and promote conservation.

1796: Jamaica Pond

Boston's early settlers relied on water from cisterns and underground wells, but the quality was poor and the supply inadequate. The first attempt to provide an alternative came from a private company: In 1796, the Aqueduct Corporation began delivering water from Jamaica Pond through a system of wooden pipes.

1848: Lake Cochituate

The practice of regularly washing down Boston's streets and alleyways to prevent the spread of disease required more water. Moreover, the city needed water to fight fires. After decades of debate, Boston hired John Jervis, who built a reservoir and aqueduct to supply 18 million gallons of water per day from Long Pond in Natick. Renamed Lake Cochituate, the reservoir was used until 1946.

1878: Sudbury Reservoirs

Due largely to the introduction of indoor plumbing, Boston soon reached the limit of its supply. By 1878, a system of small reservoirs on the Sudbury River was completed. Water from Cochituate, Sudbury and Mystic Lake in Charlestown provided Boston with 69 million gallons per day.

1906: Wachusett Reservoir

In 1893, with population booming, the Legislature directed the State Board of Public Health to devise a means for supplying water to Boston and all suburbs within 10 miles of the State House. The board's chief engineer, Frederick Stearns, recommended creating a reservoir on the Nashua River in Clinton. The result was the Wachusett Reservoir, which began feeding water to the Sudbury system in 1908.

1946: Quabbin Reservoir

Stearns' long-term plans included a giant reservoir still further west. The Wachusett, Sudbury, and Cochituate systems could deliver 169 million gallons of water per day, but a quarter of this water was of poor quality, affected by the increased development on the Cochituate and South Sudbury watersheds. After years of debate, most of which concerned the great sacrifice of land and community required for the new reservoir's construction, the plan for Quabbin was approved. The 412 billion-gallon reservoir was completed in 1939 and filled to capacity by 1946.

1990: Quabbin Reservoir

More than two million people in the metropolitan area depend on water from the Quabbin and Wachusett Reservoirs every day. Although the system was designed to provide an average of 300 million gallons per day, in recent years demand has exceeded this amount by up to 10%. The increased demand, combined with below average rainfall, caused the Quabbin's level to fall to 70% of capacity in 1989. However, by January 1990, as a result of increased rainfall, an aggressive leak detection and repair program, and improved water conservation, the Quabbin Reservoir stood at 82% full.

Comprehensive Seminar on: WATER PERMITTING

With the dramatic changes in both EPA and State requirements for water discharges, most industrial dischargers are wondering, "How will these requirements impact us," "What will our next permit require," and "What should we do now to maintain compliance?"

Effluent discharges are controlled by a comprehensive array of Federal and State regulatory programs. These controls apply to both direct and indirect discharges to surface waters, industrial discharges to municipal wastewater collection systems, underground disposal of liquid wastes, and stormwater runoff. Related regulations apply to the disposal of wastewater treatment sludges.

In this seminar, attendees will learn about recent regulatory changes that have introduced new and tighter controls, on the discharge of toxics in effluents as well as strict antidegradation and antibacksliding limits. Seminar attendees will also learn about the new EPA regulatory initiative on stormwater runoff controls which will have profound implications on NPDES permits nationwide. This seminar will provide attendees with the insight needed to determine what discharges need to be per-

Comprehensive Seminar on: ADVANCED HAZARDOUS WASTE MANAGEMENT: 1991 AND BEYOND

This comprehensive seminar goes beyond the basics to help waste generators and their employees maintain compliance and learn the latest developments in State and Federal hazardous waste regulations.

As the implementation of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) enters its second decade the universe of regulatory requirements continues to expand. Keeping abreast of each change as well as determining how each new rule impacts a facility is an ever increasing challenge. The Advanced Hazardous Waste Management: 1991 and Beyond seminar looks in depth at the latest regulatory requirements, land disposal restrictions, waste exemptions and exclusions, corrective actions, waste minimization, and more. This seminar contains information on the modifications and new rules that affect a facility's hazardous waste management program and completes an understanding of RCRA's hazardous waste requirements.

Each seminar attendee will receive a handbook which includes the latest information on hazardous waste regulations. Seminar attendees may also use Environmental Resource Center's Environmental Answerline to seek guidance and assistance with interpreting hazardous waste regulations at no charge for one year following attendance at the seminar.

MEDICAL WASTE MANAGEMENT

The fear of AIDS and the wash-ups of "medical" waste on the beaches in the summer of 1988 have led to strict regulatory controls on the cradle-to-grave management of medical waste and other aspects of health care. These regulatory controls have caused extensive financial and logistical difficulties for health care facilities and clinics.

The seminar will provide you with a complete understanding of basic principles of disease transmission, how they relate to HIV and HBV infections, and the regulatory requirements implemented by OSHA and CDC. You will learn the difference between University Precautions and Body Substance Isolation and recommended practices and procedures and controls. This seminar also presents the latest definitions of medical waste - EPA and CDC; information on segregation, packing and containment, storage and treatment, and disposal of medical waste, together with the current EPA requirements of the Medical Waste Tracking Act of 1988 and the reauthorization of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. Current and proposed regulatory controls under OSHA, CDC, and DOT will also be covered. The latest medical waste treatment and disposal options (on-site and off-site) for incineration, steam and gas sterilization, chemical treatment, and gamma radiation will be presented.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without advertising, based on the following communications:

C-16002-91

Dear Mayor Flynn:

Pursuant to a vote of the Public Facilities Commission on April 26, 1990, I respectfully request Your Honor's written permission to dispense with further public advertisement and award a contract to Neighborhood of Affordable Housing, Inc., a non-profit corporation, with offices at 28 Paris Street, East Boston, MA 02128. Under the terms of this contract and through the Community Development Block Grant's Housing counselling program, the contractor will assist individuals and families of low and moderate incomes in their efforts to secure affordable housing. Activities include; housing search and placement, affirmative marketing, and relocation assistance.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed Thirty-Five Thousand Dollars ($35,000), which I have determined to be reasonable for the services to be performed. The term of this contract shall be from July 1, 1990, to June 30, 1991. Funds for this contract shall come from those received under the Community Development Block Grant program.

Neighborhood of Affordable Housing, Inc. was selected based upon a thorough evaluation of the proposal submitted in response to publicly advertised request for proposals in the Boston Globe on March 5, 1989, and City Record March 12, 1989. Six organizations submitted proposals. The proposals were evaluated based on the following criteria: organizational description; target population/target area/need; program design, description program evaluation; staffing plan/structure; and program budget/budget narrative. The five highest ranking firms were chosen.

As this is a negotiated contract at a reasonable cost, based upon an extensive program and proposal review, I believe that further public advertising would serve no useful purpose. I, therefore, request permission to dispense with inviting sealed bids in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code, St. 4, s. 5.

Sincerely,

Lisa G. Chapnick,
 Director.

C-4401-91

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT Machine Maintenance

Dear Mayor Flynn:

Your authorization is requested for the award of a contract, without public advertisement, to Xerox Imaging Systems, Inc./Kurzweil Computer Products, 185 Albany Street, Cambridge, MA 02139, for providing maintenance service for a Kurzweil Reading Machine (Model 1-111 KRM) located at Boston Latin School. The cost of this service for the period July 1, 1990 to June 30, 1991 will not exceed Two Thousand Five Hundred and Twenty Dollars ($2,520), a price I have determined to be reasonable.

This machine has been on loan at no cost to the City from the Office of Special Education and would cost the School Department more than $20,000 dollars to purchase a new machine. This machine has been valuable in the education of students who cannot read regular print. Kurzweil Computer Products, who invented the machine, is the only company capable of repairing the machine and has an inventory of parts on hand. For this reason, the Special Education designee recommends that we continue the maintenance contract with the above named company.

Since this equipment was furnished by the above named company and they are the only company who can supply this service effectively with specially trained technicians and have an inventory of parts on hand, I feel that the public interest would not be served by public advertisement for bids.

Compensation to this vendor during the past three fiscal years in the form of unadvertised contracts is as follows: 1988 - $2,520, 1989 - $2,520 and 1990 - $2,520.

Very truly yours,

Leo J. Burke,
 Business Manager.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

On behalf of the School Committee of the City of Boston, I request your authorization to award contract, without public advertisement, to Riso Products of Boston, Inc., 56 Roland Street, Charlestown, MA 02129, for the renewal of copier machine maintenance, service of equipment incidental supplies and the installment purchase agreement. The School Department has the option to renew with Riso Products of Boston, Inc. as a result of the public bid (4/12/89, #10336 LO4570), pending the availability of funds. Fiscal Year '91 year 2 of the 5 year period. The cost of this service for the period July 1, 1990 will not exceed One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars.

The Contractor will continue service under the terms and conditions of their 1990 contract. The copier machines are located in various schools and zone offices in the Boston School Department. Riso Products of Boston, Inc., is specially qualified to provide the above services based upon its satisfactory performance of substantially the same service during July 1, 1989 through June 30, 1990. In addition, Riso Products of Boston, Inc. has an available inventory of parts on-hand that are compatible with Riso equipment.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be provided under this agreement and the expertise of the Contractor in providing such services, it is my determination that the public interest would not be served by advertisement for bid.

Compensation to this vendor during the past three fiscal years in the form of unadvertised contracts was $00.00.

Very truly yours,

Leo J. Burke,
 Business Manager.

C-3675-9

SHERIFF SUFFOLK COUNTY Physician Services

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award contract to Dr. Debra S. Poaster, an individual located at 332 North Harvard Street, Allston, Massachusetts 02134, for physician services at the Suffolk County Jail.

Under the terms of the contract, the contractor shall provide physician services at the Suffolk County Jail, including, but not limited to, the services mandated by the order of the United States District court in the case of Inmate of Suffolk County Jail v. Kearney, et al. In addition, the contractor may be on call twenty four hours per day for consultation by jail staff and shall provide an alternate physician at the contractor's sole expense in the event she is unable to provide said consultation services. The alternate selected by the contractor shall be subject to approval by the Sheriff. The contractor shall provide an average of 6 hours of physician services per week. The contractor is also required to provide proof of malpractice insurance in a form and amount satisfactory to the Sheriff.

Dr. Poaster is especially qualified to do this work as she has prior medical experience in emergency room and clinical settings. Compensation under this contract shall not exceed Seventeen Thousand and Fifty Two ($17,052) Dollars at the rate of $58.00 per hour, which I have determined to be reasonable for the work to be performed. The terms of this contract shall be from July 23, 1990 through June 30, 1991.

Dr. Poaster's compensation for services provided in the past year is as follows: FY'90 - $8,721.

In view of the special nature of the physician services to be performed, and the reasonable cost of these services, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,
Robert C. Rufo,
Sheriff.

C-3772-91

TREASURY DEPARTMENT Consultant Services

Dear Mayor Flynn:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to William Stoia, an individual located at 22 Huntington Avenue, Hyde Park MA 02136 for assistance in the collection of real estate, personal property and motor vehicle excise taxes. Mr. Stoia has previously worked for the Treasury Department and his previous contracts were for FY'90, FY'89 and FY'88 in the amounts of $3,816, $21,840 and $18,000.

Under the terms of the contract, the contractor will instruct employees in the Accounting Section of the Collecting Division, and familiarize other supervisors with the Tax Title update procedures. Mr. Stoia will also work closely with senior members of the Collecting Division regarding modifications to the computer based systems for receipting payments and maintaining records regarding properties on which tax liens have been placed. Mr. Stoia is uniquely qualified to do this work because of his knowledge of the work and his rough experience and his excellent work performance.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed twenty five thousand and seven dollars ($25,007), which I have determined to be reasonable for the work to be performed. The contractor will be paid at the rate of $240.45 per day. The term of this contract shall be July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991.

Sincerely,
Lee F. Jackson,
Collector-Treasurer.

Security System

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request Your Honor's permission to award a contract, without advertising, to Honeywell Protection Services, Honeywell Plaza, MN-12-2507, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55408, for the period July 1, 1980 through June 30, 1991, at a cost not to exceed two thousand eighty-six dollars and eight cents ($2,086.08).

Under this contract Honeywell Protection Service will maintain and service a 24 hour burglar alarm system located at the EMS Ambulance Service, 727 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts 02118. The monthly cost will be one hundred seventy-three dollars and eighty-four cents ($173.84).

Fiscal year 1990 was the first year that an unadvertised contract was awarded to Honeywell Protection Services in the amount of $2,047.36. There have been no prior contracts for this service because the yearly cost have been under two thousand dollars ($2,000).

The equipment was originally installed by Honeywell Protection Services, who has provided satisfactory service in the past. Since the most expensive feature of a security system is the installation cost, and because the maintenance and service fee, in my opinion, is reasonable, no benefit would inure to the City by publicly advertising for bids.

Very truly yours,
Judith Kurland,
Commissioner.

Radiologic Services

Dear Sir:

An invitation for bids for Temporary Radiologic Technological Services for the Department of Health and Hospitals for the period July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991 was advertised in the City Record on April 17, 1990. Bids were opened and publicly read on May 3, 1990. Thirteen companies were solicited to bid and the following companies responded to the invitation to bid.

Authority is requested to award a contract, not to exceed the amounts shown below, to the following eligible vendors who submitted bids meeting specification at prices I consider to be reasonable.

CL44-91. Staff Builders Health Care Services, 18 Tremont Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02108, $70,000.

CL45-91. Temporary Clinical Specialists, 284 Adams Street, Quincy, Massachusetts, 02169, $44,000.

The above contract amounts are appropriate figures based on estimated use.

Very truly yours,
Thomas P. Traylor,
Acting Commissioner.

PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT Design Services

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to award a contract to the Bayside Engineering Associates, Inc., 803 Summer Street, South Boston, MA 02127. Under the terms of the contract, the consultant will assist the Parks and Recreation Department in providing design services for Humboldt Avenue Entrance, Phase II, Franklin Park.

The Parks and Recreation Department publicly advertised a Request for Proposal (RFP) in the City Record on September 19 and 26, 1988, in the Central Register on September 21, 1988, and in the Boston Herald on September 19 and 26, 1988, to provide design development documents and construction observation for paving, plantings, and pathways for Humboldt Avenue Entrance. Nine firms responded to the request for proposals. After reviewing the submittals and numerically rating each consultant, three firms were selected for interviews. The evaluation criteria for submittals and interviews included relevant design experience for historic parks, sensitivity of proposed approach, and quality of relevant construction documents.

According to evaluative criteria, Paul C. K. Lu Associates rated the highest. In the past month, Paul C. K. Lu Associates has been awarded other Parks Department projects. Therefore, Bayside Engineering Associates, Inc., whose qualifications are comparable, has been selected as the consulting team for this project.

Compensation under the terms of the contract will be a fixed fee of Eleven Thousand Three Hundred Seventy-Four Dollars ($11,374), with a supplemental service fee of Seven Thousand Dollars ($7,000). The total compensation for this contract therefore will be Eighteen Thousand Three Hundred Seventy-Four Dollars ($18,374). Payment for the services will be from appropriation code: 681-780-8601-TP4, and the period of performance will be from June 27, 1990, through December 31, 1990.

Based upon an extensive review of proposals submitted for consideration and interviews with the designers, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to enter into this contract.

Sincerely,
Lawrence A. Dwyer,
Commissioner.

REVERSING THE DECADE OF DENIAL ENACTING A POSITIVE AGENDA FOR AMERICA'S CITIES

Statement of Boston Mayor Raymond L. Flynn to the House and Senate Budget Committees
February 20, 1991
Washington, D.C.

The White House's "New Federalism" proposal is like a match thrown into a shed full of dynamite—a brilliant, yet bankrupt political strategy to set governors and mayors around the country at each other's throats while covering up the fact that this Administration has no domestic agenda for the country.

Relations between states and cities are already tense—in 29 out of 45 states surveyed by our city, local aid has been cut this year, or will be cut in the coming fiscal year. These cuts, along with new state mandates passed on to us, will cost the cities of America a minimum of $3.7 billion.

Together, cities and states are starving, and the White House wants us to fight over a few crumbs. Congress has to bury this proposal—now—, and start looking out for America's best interests—healthy cities and towns.

Maybe we've gone about things the wrong way—perhaps if our cities applied for Charters as Savings and Loan Institutions, we would get the help we need. The budget agreement may have built a "wall" between domestic and defense spending, but there's a multi-billion dollar "Drive Through" in the back for the savings and loan industry. Could someone devise a similar "Loophole" for needy and working people in our cities?

The President's budget is a cruel hoax on needy and working families struggling to cope with our national recession. The rhetoric—"New Federalism" and "Empowerment" sound right, but the reality is more of the same—fewer resources for our nation's cities.

Now, in light of the Persian Gulf crisis, we did not expect a New Deal budget. But America's cities did not expect a raw deal either. As cities across America prepare to lay off police and fire personnel, teachers and (Paula Mierzejewski) or Office of Arts and Humanities at 725-3245 (Mary Shannon).

Each week the City Record will publish a statue for adoption.

THE ADOPT-A-STATUE PROGRAM

The goal of Adopt-A-Statue is to achieve funding for the restoration of thirty-nine pieces of outdoor public art and to establish a permanent maintenance endowment which would provide for the annual cleaning and maintenance of sixty-nine pieces.

To invite individuals, groups of individuals or corporations to "adopt" a piece of Boston outdoor public art by either:

- incurring the total cost of restoring and maintaining a particular piece of art or
- making a donation toward a general restoration and maintenance fund.

Gifts are tax deductible to the extent limited by law.

health care workers, the administration boosts federal employment by 23,111 workers for the upcoming fiscal year! We're downsizing, while they are upsizing.

Now, despite a federal budget deficit that went from $50 billion to about $300 billion in a decade, key urban programs have been slashed from about $23 billion in 1981 to about $13 billion today. This does not include the federal housing budget, which has sunk from $33 billion in 1981 to about a third of that today.

And remember, in 1981, no one would have considered homelessness a major American crisis. And no one had heard of "crack" cocaine—or AIDS.

In Boston, these cuts translate into a federal aid reduction from about $150 million in 1981 to about $64 million today, almost half of which goes to the Boston School Department. And if the Community Development Block Grant Program and other programs are heisted by the White House's New Federalism Proposal, the total federal funds coming into City Hall will be virtually nil.

Back, in 1981, the first tidal wave that washed over American cities came from Washington. Today, 1991, a second tidal wave hitting many of our cities is coming from the state capitols.

Last week, my office began a survey of municipal leagues around the country, in an attempt to find out whether the State of Massachusetts was the exception in cutting local aid to cities and towns by $270 million next year, or whether they are the rule. And if indeed cities and towns were being cut, how could the White House justify taking away local resources like the Community Development Block Grant Program, and giving them to the states.

Our research found one thing in common—virtually no states are increasing aid to their local communities. Yes, in Louisiana they are expecting an increase due to rising oil prices, but that is in a state where local aid was virtually wiped out between 1985 and 1990. And in Wisconsin, where total aid is going up by 2.5 percent, the City of Milwaukee will actually lose about $6 million.

Instead, look at New York, where cities are being devastated, or Georgia, where all local aid is being proposed for elimination in the coming fiscal year, or California, where new mandates will cost at least $300 million. In Indiana, a 20 percent local aid cut has been proposed for FY 1992 and in Minnesota, $200 million in cuts to local governments are expected.

So, in summary all across the country, state governments are doing in the 1990's what the federal government did during the 1980's—passing the buck, but not the bucks, to hard pressed local governments.

So, in this context, how does President Bush's budget respond to these state cuts in aid to cities which are compounding the damage from a decade of federal denial and neglect? Well, this budget takes the Community Development Block Grant Program away from the Cities and gives it to the state governments—while cutting the program by almost $1 billion in the process.

Boston currently received about $19 million under this program, which it passes on to local social service agencies, shelter providers, community development corporations, first time homebuyers in business districts in the form of grants and loans. Under the current law, we hold hearings in each neighborhood to determine local priorities. From those hearings, a plan is developed that, to the greatest extent possible, reflects the concerns of the community.

By contrast, federal funds pass through state government are far less accountable. For some programs there are statewide or regional hearings, but they are often poorly advertised and few people show up. While the State Legislature has oversight concerning these programs, if changes are made from the state plan, and in fact, proposals are currently circulating to eliminate federal financial assistance commitments that has oversight of these programs.

For a decade, cities have been orphans of our federal system while states have thrived. In recent years states have been the recipients of new welfare reform, child care and anti-drug funds for the Federal Government, but they, in turn, have shirked their responsibilities in the areas of human services. For example, states' failed policies of deinstitutionalization forced many homeless and mentally ill persons onto our streets to the point where we have no joined with advocates for the homeless in suing the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

So this proposal is the latest bid to and switch game that Washington has tried to pull on America's cities. Instead of rerouting federal discretionary programs to the states, getting funds closer to the people, the proposal actually takes away billions of dollars that flow to local governments for housing, homeless and commucity improvement programs and sends it to state agencies, which are one step farther removed from the people.

This isn't federalism, it's fraud.

Does anyone really believe that state governments, plagued by deficits of their own, are going to get federal monies directly to needy families any more efficiently than the cities? Of course not. State governments will skim administrative costs to address their own deficits.

As a result, Boston may lose our entire $19 million allocation, along with federal anti-drug enforcement monies, public housing fund, low income fuel assistance and education programs for low income students.

It seems that the more "New Federalism" we get from Washington, the further the money gets from the people provided direct services. The rhetoric and the reality keep moving further and further apart.

So it's time for Washington to shed its patrician policies for the rich and powerful and start making fundamental changes to create hope and opportunity for working people in America's cities.

Take a look at the programs which have been most severely cut in the past decade, and you will find that they are the ones which helped people obtain housing, jobs and opportunity. Urban development action grants, job training funds and economic development programs were annihilated and the power of cities to issue tax exempt bonds for housing and economic growth has been severely cut back. Those were the real "empowerment" programs because there is nothing that "empowers" a person more than a real job.

Instead, today, you get a few more dollars to put people in homeless shelters, a few dollars that trickle down to us from the states to fight drugs, and, until this latest budget proposal by the President, a very few dollars to help defray costs for newcomers to our country, who settle in our cities seeking real opportunity. But little else.

Now, recent reports show that a disproportionate number of our troops fighting for us in the Persian Gulf come from working class families in general and minority families in particular. What will these brave soldiers come home to? Will they join the growing number of construction workers without jobs, the growing number of young people who can't afford an education, or the growing number of their predecessors—Vietnam Veterans—who are homeless and without hope?

This is not a time for continuing the denial and neglect which is responsible for these shameful problems. It is time for fundamental change. But Washington doesn't seem to get the message.

Yes, we should get resources for critical programs back closer to the people. But for once, why don't we send funds directly to the front lines in America's cities and let the benefits "trickle back" to the states, instead of "trickling down" to us?

Take the so-called "War on Drugs" for example. If we took one third of the $10.6 billion we are currently spending on drugs, or the $11.7 billion the administration proposes and gave it straight to cities through a "Drug Prevention Block Grant" based on treatment waiting lists, drug arrests, and other significant factors, you would see far more progress than you do today.

Cities would be able to provide drug education from kindergarten through high school, expanded treatment, community outreach and law enforcement—all the things that really work in stopping the spread of drugs. And we would be able to cut out layers of bureaucracy that doesn't really know or care about what is happening on our streets and in our neighborhoods.

And let's look at other ways we can nourish the "Grassroot" of America. Let's reorganize the scattered programs at the Department of Commerce to create a trade and economic development partnership program for our nations cities, to encourage exports, tourism, trade and economic growth. Cities are the economic engines that can pull our country out of its present economic doldrums, if we are given the resources to do so.

And given the alarming fiscal conditions in cities across America, exacerbated by federal and state cuts, perhaps it is time to put federal revenue sharing back on the table again. If the federal government merely level funded NASA and held the line on new employees, there would be about $2.5 billion available to keep teachers, public safety, and public works personnel on the job. Local bond ratings would rise, and job producing capital projects could move forward.

Our states do need help—but not by giving them critical urban programs. I believe it is time for the federal government to play a larger role in health care, by expanding the federal share of Medicaid to 75 percent.

Let's face it, there is a direct relationship between skyrocketing health care costs and the fiscal health of state and local governments. It's time for the federal government to step in and intervene, and move toward the just goal of affordable health care for all Americans.

Now, last month, when the President gave the State of the Union Address, he spoke eloquently on the issue of the Persian Gulf. But what he failed to address was the other Gulf Crisis—the widening gulf between the rich and needy Americans. And he certainly didn't say anything about the windfall profits that the oil companies have reaped from this crisis.

Instead he has chosen to cut fuel assistance to low income families 37%—from $1.6 billion to $1 billion. In Boston, that means that some 6,000 of the 18,000 families dependent on fuel assistance will have to choose between heat and food.

One of the strongest fighters we had in Congress for the poor and needy was Congressman Silvio Conte of Massachusetts, whose passing is mourned by all of us. Before his death, Congressman Conte sponsored a windfall profits tax bill, noting that the Chevron Corporation made $700 million in the fourth quarter of 1991 alone. Mobil made $651 million and other oil company profits have soared to new highs.

Congress could no more fittingly memorialize Congressman Conte than to pass this legislation, and use these funds to help pay the fuel bills of those in need, through expanded fuel assistance and weatherization efforts.

And let's all work together on a larger anti-recession package that will create economic growth and jobs for our people. Last November, at the "Urban Summit" hosted by Mayor David Dinkins of New York City, I proposed a "Competitive Cities" initiative to attract new investment to our cities, to train our young people in the skills of the future, to help them afford a college education, and to get them apprenticeships and jobs with major federal contractors. I am pleased to say that Speaker Foley has taken this proposal, and referred it to four committees for their consideration.

But we also need strong national economic leadership to break the credit crunch which has gripped the nation, and the northeast region in particular. During a recent trip to Washington, I met with the head of a major American pension fund that will invest in creditworthy local economic development projects in return for a comparable investment by the city in that pension fund.

In fact, instead of wasting Congress' time with another capital gains giveaway, why doesn't the administration come up with some incentives for American pension funds to invest in job producing projects in America? Recent reports have documented a flow of our pension monies to foreign investments. It's time to bring them home.

Just as we need to "Jump Start" our economy, we need to "Head Start" our children. Last month, yet another study was issued out of Washington documenting that the 1980's were "A Terrible Decade for Children", as national poverty, incarceration and death rates soared.

Incremental increases in children's programs are not enough. We must accept no less than a full commitment to WIC, which today serves only half of the eligible population, and to Headstart, which in 1989, served about one in five eligible children.

And if we are going to fight infant mortality, let's reject the proposal to do it by cutting funds for community health centers, whose programs reach out to women in need of pre-natal care.

Finally, the President's budget falls short of what is needed to put our nation back in the business of producing safe, decent and affordable housing for all Americans. Last year, Congress passed and the President signed a $29 billion national affordable housing act. Although it is still smaller than the amount expended in 1981, it would, if fully funded, begin to make a dent in the continually rising numbers of homeless and poorly housed Americans.

The President's budget for housing falls far short of the authorized level, so I propose that Congress enact a "Trust In Authorizing" Law—namely that Congress shall pass and the President shall sign no authorizing legislation unless they are prepared to expend at least 75 percent of the authorized level the first year and full funding in subsequent years. Don't pass an authorization bill during an election year, tell the folks in your district about it, and then not fund the program the following year. That's why people get cynical about government.

I am sure that some people in Washington will once again tell our nation's mayors that they have no money to spend on cities or on poor and needy people. But I look at a country that has built one of the strongest military machines in the earth's history and I wonder—why can't we build strong cities, strong families and a strong economy as well?

Please reject the administrative "New Federalism" proposal and short sighted budget cuts and enact a domestic budget that reflects that love of America, with fairness for all.

SAVED BY THE BELT

Rosemarie Clinton, pictured with her boss, Boston Fire Department Special Services Superintendent Robert McCarthy, sports a "Keep Boston Moving . . . Safely" tee shirt to promote safety belt use. Recently Mrs. Clinton, a resident of Corcoran Five, Hyde Park, was hospitalized for two days when her car was crashed off Hyde Park Avenue and crashed into Boston Edison fencing, narrowly missing a tree and steel pole.

"Deja vu" said Mrs. Clinton, noting that eight years ago she suffered a broken sternum and two cracked ribs in a similar car crash. Without the safety belts to hold her in place, she hit the steering wheel. Recovery then took a week in the hospital and seven weeks confined to her bed.

"What a difference belts make," she said. "I used to be lackadaisical about them. Putting them on was such a pain in the neck because I'm always in a hurry! But since I've been with the fire department I've taken a few seconds. I've learned that I might not get there at all if I don't."

"Rosemarie was very fortunate," said Superintendent Murphy. "I believe that her association with public safety increased her awareness of the importance of regular use of safety belts. It's a habit that paid off."

CONTRACTS AWARDED AFTER ADVERTISING ("Requests for Qualifications") ("Requests for Proposals") ("Technically Deficient Bids")

91-286.

BOSTON POLICE DEPARTMENT Custodial Services

Dear Mayor Flynn:

In response to advertisements published in City Record on February 26, 1990, and in the Minority Commerce and Employment Weekly, a minority trade publication, on February 22, 1990, for Custodial Services for Area D, the following bids were publicly opened and read aloud March 13, 1990:

Boston Window & Floor Cleaning Co., Summer Street, Boston, MA 02210, $51,249
Century Cleaning Corporation, 617 Colver Road, Dorchester, MA 02125, $54,999.04.

Manual Cleaning Company, P.O. Box 403, Jamaica Plain, MA 02130, $54,999.96.

Felipe Janitorial Services, Post Office 567, Jamaica Plain, 03130, $56,160.

Sunset Custodial Services, Inc., Post Office Box 447, Stoughton, MA 02072, $63,468.

Boston Window & Floor Cleaning Company was disqualified for having a prior poor performance record with the Police Department. Given the minute difference of $.92 between bid second and third position, the Police Department requests your permission to reject all bids award the contract to Manuel Cleaning Company of Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts for their outstanding past performances with the Department. Compensation for this contract shall be as $4,416.66 per month for a total not to exceed $54,999.96 per year. The period of performance shall be July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991. Funding will be charged against appropriation 011 211 0211 PD02 0260 with an initial encumbrance of $4,583.

Respectfully,
Francis M. Roache,
Police Commissioner

91-2873

Maintenance Services

Dear Mayor Flynn:

There was no vendor response to advertisements published in the City Record on March 1990, and the Minority Commerce and Employment Weekly, a minority trade publication March 8, 1990, for repair and maintenance services for the Department's Mobile Data Term System. The bid opening was scheduled for noon, March 28, 1990.

The Department was later informed that Mobile Data International Systems, Inc. (MDI Systems, Inc.) submitted a bid in the Police Department's Communication Office two days later, 400 Frontage Road. Further, the vendor did file a duplicate copy with the City Auditor was therefore, on both accounts, disqualified, improper filing procedures.

The bid price, as filed by MDI Systems, Inc. read as follows:

MDI Systems, Inc. (Mobile Data International), 1124 Tower Road, Schaumburg, IL 60193, $31,020.

Even though the MDI Systems, Inc. bid was qualified for improper filing procedures, their price falls within the Department's FY '91 estimate for these services and is therefore deemed reasonable.

Through public advertising, the Department had solicited the marketplace for competitive vendors who perform this service. The Department has learned, however, that MDI Systems, Inc. is uniquely qualified to perform this service, they are the equipment's manufacturer and the purveyor of these services.

We therefore request your permission to award this contract, without further advertising, to MDI Systems, Inc., 1124 Tower Road, Schaumburg, Illinois, for the period July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991. The cost of this contract shall not exceed $31,020. This funding is to be charged against appropriation 011 211 0211 PD02 0270 with an initial encumbrance of $2,585.

Respectfully,

Francis M. Roach,
Police Commissioner.

Dear Mayor Flynn:

In response to an advertisement published in the City Record on April 2, 1990, for the repair and maintenance of the Police Department's Omnimax Machines, the following bid was publicly opened and read aloud on April 18, 1990:

Telautograph Corporation, 500 West Cummings Park, Woburn, MA 01801, $7,200.

Telautograph Corporation did not file a duplicate copy of the proposal with the City Auditor and therefore the proposal was found to be legally defective. However, inasmuch as Telautograph Corporation submitted the only bid, and inasmuch as the bid is a reasonable one, your permission is requested to award this contract without further advertising to Telautograph Corporation, 500 West Cummings Park, Woburn, Massachusetts, for the period July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991, at a cost not to exceed $7,200. This funding is to be charged against appropriation 011 211 01 PD03 0270 with an initial encumbrance of $0.

Respectfully,

Francis M. Roache,
Police Commissioner.

Personnel Placement

Dear Mayor Flynn:

In response to an advertisement in the City Record of April 2, 1990, inviting interested, competent persons engaged in the placement of temporary clerical and technical employees on an as-needed basis, the following firms declared their intent to enter into a contract with the City: Contract No. 91-2874-00, American Health Services, Inc., Cambridge, MA 02141, for $20,000.

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT

EMERGENCY REPAIRS

C-7602-90

Dear Mayor Flynn:

On April 6, 1990 the Public Facilities Department of the City of Boston (the "City") was informed by personnel at the South Boston Court that an emergency existed at the facility. Oil had spilled from the tank onto the floor. A site visit revealed the oil tank was leaking in several places. The oil was running to the sump pump, creating a hazard to the environment and to the health and safety of the public and users of this facility. P. J. Kennedy & Sons, Inc., a contractor normally engaged in this type of service, responded to our emergency call to immediately resolve this hazardous situation.

Therefore, in accordance with Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 30, Section 39M, I request your Honor's written approval to award a contract to P. J. Kennedy & Sons, Inc. of 486 Albany Street, Boston, MA 02118 in an amount not to exceed fifty-six thousand and three hundred dollars and no cents ($56,300.00).

Sincerely,

Lisa G. Chapnick,
Director.

C-7603-90

Dear Mayor Flynn:

On May 8, 1990 the Public Facilities Department of the City of Boston (the "City") received a call from the Boston Police Department concerning asbestos coming loose from pipes in the basement and occupied areas of the building. A site visit to the basement revealed that asbestos was hanging from the pipes and flaking onto the floor and there was loose flaking of asbestos particles in occupied areas of the building. Last February loose asbestos was removed from the pipes and floor of the garage area. The police station has constant traffic all day long and the vibration is causing more loose asbestos and flaking. Complete removal and re-insulation is necessary to prevent future problems with loose asbestos in the building.

Therefore, in accordance with Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 30, Section 39M, I request your Honor's written approval to award a contract to Dan Clancy & Sons, Inc. of 35 Chickatawbut Street, Dorchester, MA 02122 in an amount not to exceed sixty-two thousand and one hundred dollars and no cents ($62,100.00).

Sincerely,

Lisa G. Chapnick,
Director.

MAYOR FLYNN RELEASES BOSTON'S FIVE-YEAR CAPITAL PLAN

Mayor Flynn announces the updated Capital Plan for the City of Boston at the O'Hearn School in Dorchester on February 14. Looking on, from left to right: Joseph McDonough, Acting School Superintendent; William Henderson, Principal of the O'Hearn School; Daniel Burke, School Committee Member; Mary Nee, Director of the Mayor's Office of Capital Planning; William Afee, Director of Facilities Management for the Boston Public Schools; James Brooks, Executive Director of the Commission for Persons with Disabilities; and Anita Lauricella, Budget Supervisor for the Mayor's Office of Capital Planning.

This past week, Mayor Raymond L. Flynn released the sixth consecutive five-year Capital Plan which updates the $1.03 billion capital spending program for the City of Boston. Included within this plan, prepared by the Office of Capital Planning, are the funds for the rebuilding of Boston City Hospital, the construction of a new Police Headquarters, and the continuation of physical improvements to the City's schools, parks, and roadways.

"We move forward with the Rebuilding Boston program each year with the firm belief that capital projects are good investments for our City, especially in this difficult economic climate," said Mayor Flynn. "Capital projects not only preserve our neighborhoods, they will help to put our troubled economy back on its feet by putting the men and women of the construction industry back to work."

He added, "The City is able to continue this program because we have prudently managed our finances, balanced budgets, raised our bond rating, and have carefully planned for each construction project."

"This year's Plan was developed mindful of the economic downturn in our region and the continued cutbacks in state and federal support," said Mary Nee, Director of the Capital Planning Office.

"For the City, this is a favorable time to put projects out to bid, since heightened competition for work has lowered construction costs to the taxpayer," Nee continued.

According to Nee, during the 1990-1992 window alone, the Capital Plan will produce nearly $392 million of new capital investment, generating hundreds of new construction jobs.

This year, the City made an extra effort to reach the people who are most affected by the "Rebuilding Boston" program — Boston residents. Fifteen profiles outlining capital improvements on a neighborhood level were produced and delivered to the doorsteps of Boston residents.

"These companion documents will not only more broadly communicate the goals and accomplishments of 'Rebuilding Boston' but they will directly identify for residents how their tax dollars are being spent," added Nee.

Some of the major milestones reached since the release of last year's "Rebuilding Boston" Plan include: The start of construction on a new Boston City Hospital; the complete renovation of White Stadium in Franklin Park; the construction and opening of the new Drug Control Unit Headquarters in Jamaica Plain; and the beginning of the design for the new Police Headquarters in Roxbury.

OPERATION HOME SUPPORT HELP LINE ANNOUNCED

Boston — A coalition of statewide Massachusetts military, governmental agencies, nonprofit organizations and businesses have combined resources to form an Operation Home Support Help Line, as part of Massachusetts' response to the war in the Middle East.

Operation Home Support Help Line is an organized, open-hearted, community and statewide expression of unity. It plans to act as a liaison in providing family members of active duty military personnel serving in the Persian Gulf with efficient information and referrals to appropriate services.

Operation Home Support Help Line became operational today with a central telephone number. Anyone needing help or willing to offer support should call the Operation Home Support Help Line at 1-800-654-5300.

Operation Home Support Help Line is the product of a collaboration initiated by the United Way of Massachusetts Bay, the American Red Cross of Massachusetts Bay, the United Service Organization (USO) Council of New England, Department of Veterans Affairs, Traveler's Aid, Catholic Charities — Archdiocese of Boston, and Family Counseling Region West, Inc.

The Help Line is located at the United Way offices at 2 Liberty Square in Boston, Mass. The United Way has assumed the responsibility for managing the Help Line operation. Volunteers are being used to perform the information and referral function. Individuals or organizations wishing to volunteer to help with this effort should call United Way's Voluntary Action Center at (617) 482-8370, ext. 214.

Dependents of active duty military personnel will be using available services on the local bases; the Operation Home Support Help Line will assist in those areas which require community coverage.

Military families with news of family births, deaths or critical illnesses should continue to call the American Red Cross at (617) 262-1234 in the Greater Boston area, or your local Red Cross chapter, to expedite the delivery of messages to active duty personnel.

MAYOR FLYNN ANNOUNCES BROWNE FUND GRANT FOR PROPOSED CAPTAIN DAVID L. RAMSAY MEMORIAL

Plans for a memorial to honor a decorated Vietnam War fighter-pilot from Roxbury and all of Boston's veterans of color drew a step closer with the announcement by Mayor Raymond L. Flynn of a $10,000 grant from the City of Boston Trust Office to develop a design for the memorial.

The grant was awarded by the Edward Ingersoll Browne Fund to the Veteran's Benefit Clearinghouse of Roxbury in association with the David L. Ramsay Post #8722, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the City of Boston Parks Department to "develop an artistic design for a memorial in honor of Captain David L. Ramsay."

Ramsay, a native Bostonian and English High School graduate who went on to become an honor student and star athlete at West Point, was killed in action in Vietnam when his F-4 Phantom jet was shot down near Danang in 1970.

The memorial is scheduled to be installed in Ramsay Park (formerly Derby Park) named for the late Air Force hero. The park is located between Washington Street and Shawmut Avenue at the corner of Melnea Cass Boulevard in Roxbury.

In a letter to Ralph Cooper, Executive Director of the Veterans Benefit Clearinghouse (VBC), Mayor Flynn, Chairman of the Browne Fund Commission, commended the efforts of all involved in establishing the memorial to Captain Ramsay and veterans of color of all wars.

Mayor Flynn said: "I am pleased to announce the approval of the Browne Fund grant which will provide funds to begin the design process for this extremely worthy and important project."

Flynn added:

"From Peter Salem shouldering his musket at Bunker Hill to the Buffalo Soldiers of the Great Plains and now in the Persian Gulf, the sacrifice and gallantry of black American soldiers is legendary. It is fitting, proper and timely for us to begin this project and see it through completion."

Ralph Cooper of the veterans' group, echoing Mayor Flynn's sentiments, said:

"The grant from the Browne Fund represents the first step toward a memorial to a black military hero whose life, ideals and sense of honor, duty, and sacrifice will serve as a positive example and model for the youth of our community."

"With the establishment of a fitting and suitable memorial, Ramsay Park will be not only a place for residents to play and relax, but a monument to the contributions which black Bostonians have made to our country in time of war or national emergency," Cooper added.

Lawrence Dwyer, Commissioner of the City's Parks Department added his support to the project and noted that Ramsay Park is part of the "Parks Partners" Program, a community-based program where local residents supplement the efforts of the Parks Department.

Dwyer said, "The Parks Department is proud to be a part of the Ramsay memorial project. We look forward to working with everyone involved to make the idea become reality."

Robert J. Fleming, Executive Secretary of the City's Trust Office which administers the Browne Fund, expressed his enthusiasm for the proposed memorial.

Fleming said: "This is an exciting project that has enjoyed solid community support which we were pleased to commend for a design development grant to Mayor Flynn and the Browne and Commissioners."

The Browne Fund Commission acts in that particular Fund's Trustees and is comprised of Mayor Raymond L. Flynn (Chairman), City Council President Christopher Iannella, and Lee F. Jackson, Collector-Treasurer for the City of Boston.

In making his comments Fleming noted that there has been renewed emphasis upon using City trust funds for neighborhood projects.

"Prior to 1985 the fund was used mainly for downtown projects", Fleming explained. "But since then the Trust Office has expended 85 percent of the Browne funds in the City's neighborhoods."

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT Temporary Housing

June 25, 1990

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your Honor's approval of a contract to Massachusetts Halfway Houses, Inc., a non-profit organization, located at 186 Massachusetts Avenue (P.O. Box No. 348, Back Bay Annex) Boston, Massachusetts 02117. The contract provides for temporary housing and service for the Pre-Trial Controlled Release Program.

The Sheriff's Department expects to receive a grant for Fiscal year 1991 from the Executive Office of Human Services under the County Operational Grant Program. The grant will fund the cost for the Pre-Trial Controlled Release Program, an innovative approach designed to relieve the chronic overcrowding at the Charles Street Jail. The program will provide, on a continual basis, ten residential beds at a Massachusetts Halfway House, Inc. facility and all support services.

Compensation under the terms of this contract will not exceed One Hundred Ninety-Two Thousand Three Hundred Seventy-Seven Dollars and Thirty-One Cents ($192,377.31). The contract period will run from July 1, 1990, through June 30, 1991. Payment for the residential component is at a contract rate of $350 per day. Payment for the BOSP component will be based upon services rendered but will not exceed $64,627.31 for the contract price.

Massachusetts Halfway Houses, Inc.'s compensation for services provided in the past three years as follows:

FY88, $281,640; FY89, $280,100; FY90, $192,307.

Please excuse this contract for being submitted late due to the relocation of the Suffolk County Sheriff's Department to the new Nashua Street Jail.

The contractor was selected based upon its ability to provide the services needed and is the designated services provider under the terms of the grant.

Sincerely,
Robert C. Rufo,
Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT Housing for Detainees

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your Honor's approval of a contract to Massachusetts Halfway Houses, Inc., a non-profit organization, located at 186 Massachusetts Avenue (P.O. Box No. 348, Back Bay Annex), Boston, Massachusetts 02117. The contract provides for temporary housing of detainees committed to the custody of the Sheriff's Department in emergency situations when the Suffolk County Jail has reached its court-ordered capacity.

Because of a jail capacity emergency which occurred on December 4, 1985, Supreme Judicial Court Associate Justice Paul L. Iacopino ordered the temporary transfer of detainees to a facility operated by Massachusetts Halfway Houses, Inc., and ordered payment by the city for services rendered. That order was superseded by Memorandum and Order No. 16 issued December 16, 1985, which authorized the temporary transfer of detainees whenever a jail capacity emergency occurs and similarly requires payment by the city upon submission of adequate documentation. On August 29, 1988, Order No. 33 Modifying Order No. 16 was issued which increased the number of beds provided daily from twenty to forty. Ten of the required beds will be paid for through a grant from the Executive Office of Human Services.

Compensation under the terms of this contract will not exceed Three Hundred Eighty-Three Thousand Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($383,250). This will provide for an average of thirty beds each day during the period of July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991. Payment is at the contract rate of $35 which is the per diem rate approved for the Massachusetts Halfway Houses, Inc. facility by the Rate Setting Commission and the Massachusetts Parole Board. Services will be rendered in accordance with the terms of the Supreme Judicial Court Memorandum and Order No. 16 and any subsequent pertinent orders.

Massachusetts Halfway Houses, Inc.'s compensation for services provided in the past three years as follows:

FY88, $35,059.14; FY89, $78,683.74; FY90, $397,923.

Please excuse this contract for being submitted late due to the relocation of the Suffolk County Sheriff's Department to the new Nashua Street Jail.

The contractor was selected based upon its ability to provide the services needed in this emergency situation. The contractor has satisfactorily performed other contractual services for the city.

Sincerely,
Robert C. Rufo,
Sheriff.

CONTRACTS AMENDED

The Mayor has approved the amending of contracts, based on the following information:

POLICE DEPARTMENT Hackney Carriage Survey

Dear Mayor Flynn:

On June 4, 1990, your Honor approved the award of a contract, following public advertising for bids to: LaCapra Associates, 64 Broad Street Boston, Massachusetts, for consulting services a hackney carriage survey during the period April 1, 1989 through June 30, 1990, at a cost not to exceed $49,375.

Your approval is requested to amend this contract to provide for continued consulting service to analyze the impact of the decision made in the Department of Public Utilities (DPU) Dock No. 88-203. As you are aware, during the past year the Police Department has been engaged in public hearings and has petitioned the DPU for new hackney carriage medallions. LaCapra Associates provided all statistical data and survey information to support the petition. On March 16, 1990, the DPU decided in favor of authorizing additional medallions. The impact of this decision requires new analysis and recommendations for new regulations on taxi meter handicapped accessible vehicles, radio associations and neighborhood taxi services. Where: LaCapra Associates has been providing consulting services since the initiation of the project they are the only firm qualified to provide the analysis.

The cost of this amendment, which is effective on April 1, 1990, shall not exceed $11,000 which I have determined to be reasonable. The total cost of this amendment, as amended, shall not exceed $60,375. This funding will be charged against appropriation 011 211 0211 PD03 029 with an initial encumbrance of $11,000. All other terms and conditions shall remain the same.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be performed, and in light of the fact that LaCapra Associates is uniquely qualified, I believe that further public advertising would serve no useful purpose. This letter is being submitted late due to the time necessary to assess the DPU Docket No. 88-203 decision and to conduct vendor negotiations.

Respectfully,
Francis M. Roache,
Police Commissioner.

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT

Re: Design of the Renovations to Mount Hope Cemetery

Amendment No. 3, Project 2681

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Pursuant to a vote of the Public Facilities Commission of July 12, 1990, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with further public advertisement and further amend a contract executed on August 2, 1987 with DiMarinis & Wolfe, Architects, a Massachusetts corporation with offices at 2 Park Plaza, Boston, MA 02116, for design of the renovation to a new maintenance facility at Mt. Hope Cemetery. The scope of work of this contract, as amended, included preliminary design, design development, working drawings, and construction supervision.

Pursuant to MGL c. 7, 38A-1/2-0 et seq., DiMarinis & Wolfe, Architects was awarded this contract based on a publicly advertised request for proposals in The Boston Globe and City Record on November 10, 1986, and the Central Register on November 12, 1986.

This amendment is necessary due to unsuitable soil bearing conditions of the original site which created an unacceptable foundation cost increase. After lengthy investigations regarding programming requirements and after identifying a suitable alternative building site, it was feasible reduce the building size by forty percent, ascertain and implement minimum program needs and place the building on a site that necessitates extraordinary foundation requirements. The cost of these additional design services shall not exceed $22,625 resulting in a amended contract that shall not exceed $91,131 (including $7,831 for supplementary services), which is a fee of 10.6% based on a decreased estimated cost of construction from $600,000 to $500,000. The term of this contract shall remain from August 2, 1987 to August 2, 1991.

In review of the technical nature of the services required, the expertise and familiarity of the designer with all existing conditions and the reasonable cost of such services, it is my view that further public advertising would serve no useful purpose, I, therefore request permission to dispense with inviting sealed bids in the City Record under authority granted in the City of Boston Code, St. 4, s. 5.

Sincerely,
Lisa G. Chapnick,
Director.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

BOSTON CITY COUNCIL Newspaper Delivery

Dear Mayor Flynn:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with further public advertising and to award a contract to Wellington News Company, Incorporated, 105 Charles Street, Boston, MA 02114, for the purpose of provision and delivery of various newspapers to the members of the Boston City Council. An advertisement for bids was published in the City Record dated May 28, 1990 to which there was no response.

Under the terms of the contract, Wellington News will deliver, directly to the City Council Chambers, various daily newspapers, including weekend and some out-of-town issues. Wellington News Co. is uniquely qualified to do this work as they are one of very few companies in the City of Boston to do delivery of this kind. Wellington News has been engaged by the Council for a number of years including the last three fiscal years at the following rates: 1990, $3,525; 1989, $2,850; and 1988, $2,600.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed three thousand six hundred dollars ($3,600). Payment is to be made upon receipt of monthly billing. This funding will be charged against appropriation 011-112-0112-CC01, CC02, CC03-0490 with an initial encumbrance of $450 in CC01; $2,700 in CC02; and $450 in CC03. I am of the opinion that the terms of this contract are both just and reasonable.

The term of this contract shall be from July 1, 1990 to June 30, 1991.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be performed, I believe that further public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully yours,
Christopher A. Iannella, President,
BOSTON CITY COUNCIL.

Re: Contract with Neighborhood of Affordable Housing, Inc.

Dear Mayor Flynn:

Pursuant to a vote of the Public Facilities Commission on April 26, 1990, I respectfully request Your Honor's written permission to dispense with further public advertisement and award a contract to Neighborhood of Affordable Housing, Inc., a non-profit corporation, with offices at 28 Paris Street, East Boston, MA 02128. Under the terms of this contract and through the Public Facilities' Senior Home Repair Program, the contractor will assist homeowners in securing minor and emergency home repairs which will maintain safety, livability, and handicap accessibility. These homeowners will be low to moderate income, elderly and/or disabled.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed Forty-Five Thousand Dollars ($45,000), which I have determined to be reasonable for the services to be performed. The term of this contract shall be from July 1, 1990 to June 30, 1991. Funds for this contract shall come from those received under the Community Development Block Grant program.

Neighborhood of Affordable Housing was selected based upon a thorough evaluation of the proposal submitted in response to publicly advertised request for proposals in the Boston Globe on March 5, 1990, and City Record March 12, 1990. Four organizations submitted proposals. The proposals were evaluated based on the following criteria: organizational description; target population/target area/need; program design, description program evaluation; staffing plan/structure; and program budget/budget narrative. All four proposals met the criteria, and were selected.

As this is a negotiated contract at a reasonable cost, based upon an extensive program and proposal review, I believe that further public advertising would serve no useful purpose. I, therefore, request permission to dispense with inviting sealed bids in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code, St. 4s. 5.

Sincerely,
Lisa G. Chapnick,
Director.

July 31, 1990

FAIR HOUSING COMMISSION

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with further public advertising and to award a contract to Linda Mayor-Perex, an individual, located at 67 Perry Henderson Drive, Framingham, Massachusetts 01701, for professional services related to the Fair Housing Assistance Program Incentive Fund.

Under the terms of the contract, Ms. Mayo-Perez will 1) prepare a work plan with identifiable goals, 2) prepare a preliminary report on coordination effort with various community resources, 3) report on coordination effort with various community resources, 4) report improvement of local information systems concerned with fair housing, and 5) prepare a final report including results of the project on community awareness to newly protected classes.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $9,000 dollars which I have determined to be reasonable for the work to be performed. Rate of Pay: $14.80/hour. Funding for this contract is available under the FHAP Type II 5th year Cooperative Agreement. (030-403-9061.)

The term of this contract shall be August 1, 1990 to February 1, 1991.

Ms. Mayo-Perez is eminently qualified to perform the tasks required. She has an extensive background in community participation, organizing, and planning. Also, based on her past experience, she possesses an outstanding working relationship with the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development. No. H363-90
August 14, 1990

HEALTH & HOSPITALS DEPARTMENT Telephone System Maintenance

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to award a contract, without advertising, to Cable-Master, Inc., 110 Shawmut Road, Canton, Massachusetts 02021 for the period June 1, 1990 through May 31, 1993 at a cost not to exceed three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000).

Under this contract Cable-Master, Inc. will be used for moves, adds and changes for the new interpath telephone system recently installed at Boston City Hospital. The hourly labor rate is thirty-six dollars ($36.00) and will remain firm during the contract period.

Cable-Master, Inc. was the low bidder on an advertised contract to install all cabling, as well as voice and data jacks, for the aforementioned telephone system. This contract included a three (3) year warranty on cables and installation. We are therefore constrained to use Cable-Master, Inc. for all moves, adds and changes in order not to violate the warranty.

In view of the above and because the cost, in my opinion, is reasonable no benefit would inure to the City by publicly advertising for bids.

This contract encompasses more than one fiscal year and the City's financial obligations are subject to the availability of an appropriation in accordance with the requirements of City of Boston Code, St. 4, ss. 4 & 8.

Because all the necessary paperwork had not been returned from the vendor, this award is being processed late.

Very truly yours,
Judith Kurland,
Commissioner.

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT Health Insurance

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to Mercer Meidinger Hansen, Inc. (MMH), a corporation located at 200 Clarendon Street, Boston, MA 02116, for services to be performed in conjunction with the Health Insurance Division's intention to bid all employee health insurance contracts for Fiscal Year 1991.

During the Fall of 1990, the Health Insurance Division will issue a Request for Proposal to invite insurance carriers to bid on both the traditional and health maintenance models of health insurance for City of Boston employees and retirees. This coverage will be effective July 1, 1991.

MMH will be responsible for preparing the RFP, analyzing and evaluating the bids received, and providing a preliminary recommendation to the Health Insurance Division concerning the insurance carrier selection process.

MMH is highly qualified to perform this service due to the fact that this firm just completed a four month in-depth analysis of the present benefit and cost management structure of the City's health insurance coverage and, therefore, possess a unique insight in terms of the present and future insurance needs of the City of Boston.

MMH is the largest employee benefits consulting firm in the United States and has experience in working with union groups, which is of considerable importance with regard to any City negotiations involving health insurance issues. Also, one of the MMH team members, who will be advising the City under this contract, was employed as a policy analyst with the State Group Insurance Commission when that agency put its Blue Cross contract out to bid in 1988.

Therefore, I respectfully request your approval of a contract award for Mercer, Meidinger Hansen, Inc., in an amount not to exceed eighteen thousand dollars ($18,000) from appropriation code 011-140-0148-H104-0290 for the period of September 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991.

MMH was awarded a contract with the Health Insurance Division in FY'90 for twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000).

Respectfully,
Irene Carrington,
Director.

SPECIAL MEETING

Tuesday, July 10, 1990.

Special meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 10 a.m., President IANNELLA in the chair. Absent, Councillors Bolling, Byrne, Hennigan Casey, Kelly, McCormack, McLaughlin, Menino, O'Neil, Salerno, and Travaglini.

DISAPPROVING ORDINANCE REGARDING REPLACEMENT WORKERS

The following was received:
City of Boston
Office of the Mayor
July 2, 1990.

To the City Council.
Dear Councillors:

I return herewith without my signature and disapproved an ordinance passed by your Honorable Body on June 13, 1990, Docket No. 0708, "In Memory of Robert Waterhouse", which would regulate private employers in the City of Boston who attempt to replace striking employees during a strike or lockout.

I regret that I am compelled to disapprove this ordinance for legal reasons. As the Corporation Counsel informed the City Council when he was called to testify before the Council's Committee on Government Operations, and as he states in his letter to me, which I attach, since federal law regulates an employer's hiring of workers, the City is prohibited from enacting its own laws in this area. The Corporation Counsel informs me that the ordinance is not only pre-empted by federal law, it is unlawful for other reasons as well, including violation of the United States Constitution's Commerce Clause, its Privileges and Immunities Clause, and its protection and due process protections, as well as the Massachusetts Constitution's Home Rule Amendment.

I have always supported our working men and women in their struggle for decent wages and working conditions. There can be no excuse when lawlessness and violence are used against those who exercise their right to strike. However, the answer to the painful incidents of such lawlessness is not to pass laws which are themselves illegal. Such action would offer false hope to workers, would result in costly litigation which the City would lose, and would contribute the cynicism which many now feel toward government. There is a lawful vehicle for addressing this problem in the form of federal legislation sponsored by Senator Kennedy, which is now pending in Congress, S. 2112, amending the National Labor Relations Act and the Railway Labor Act. That legislation deserves our strong support.

Sincerely,

Raymond L. Flynn,
Mayor of Boston.

(Annexed hereto is the documentation referred to.)

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE. MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

PRESIDENT, CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 83

MONDAY, MARCH 25, 1991

NO. 12

MAYOR FLYNN'S STATEMENT TO SAVE LOCAL AID

We are all painfully aware of the distressing fiscal situation facing our state. However, what is not commonly understood is the devastating impact state cuts are having on the financial stability of cities and towns in Massachusetts. Or the terrible impact the state budget proposal will have on the delivery of critical human services for working families and needy people such as the mentally ill, people with AIDS, crack babies struggling to survive, and frail elderly who are unable to care for themselves, as well as the education of our children.

Both the Weld Administration and the House budget proposals offer non-solutions in addressing the municipal budget crisis in the Commonwealth. If either proposal is passed as presented it will result in the following:

- Erosion of critical services for poor and needy people at the state level;
- Reduction of critical services such as police and fire protection, education, and health care at the local level;
- Deficits for most cities and towns, declining local bond ratings, and a diminished ability to make needed capital improvements to the infrastructure of our municipalities;
- Even considering all this, the House proposal still continues to rely disproportionately on regressive property tax increases.

Both the Governor's and the House proposals are losers all across the board.

What we need is a comprehensive plan that demands that the state untie our hands and let us have fiscal independence. We in local government know how to make tough decisions and we should be allowed to make them. We should be allowed to control our own destiny. Yet the state continues to insist on strict control over the revenue capacity of cities and towns — almost as indentured servants — while at the same time it refuses to provide the resources needed to deal with the problems we are being forced to inherit.

The problem with the Weld budget package is not only the proposed $270 million in direct local aid cuts, and the additional $41 million cut in other forms of revenue sharing — it is the reality that these proposals come on top of $300 million in local aid cuts already made over the past two years.

The progress that the local governments have made in critical services such as police and fire protection, emergency ambulance service, clean and safe parks and playgrounds, and education over the past few years is now being seriously threatened by cuts in local aid to cities and towns. In Boston alone, funding for education increased by $138 million, or 56 percent between 1985 and 1991. Between 1984 and 1991, no tenured teachers have been laid off. Indeed, because the budget has been increased significantly, there has been a net gain of 353 more teachers hired. And the student-teacher ratio in Boston is currently one of the lowest in the nation.

The Governor and the Legislature know that such drastic cuts to local aid will cripple the ability of cities and towns to deliver critical services. I can't help but note the sad irony that these are the same leaders whom the voters sent a clear message to last November by rejecting Question 3 and passing Question 5, causing a huge turnover in the Legislature, and electing a governor whose platform was based on downsizing state government. The mandate from the people of the Commonwealth was clear: Downsize ineffective state bureaucracy, not effective critical services delivered at the local level.

By continuously cutting local aid, the state is attempting to scapegoat cities and towns for its own fiscal problems. And yet, the cities and towns have been the responsible partners, making the tough choices, providing efficient services despite the triple whammy that we have been hit with. First, federal support for the City of Boston alone has been cut from $150 million ten years ago to just $64 million today. Now the state seems ready to follow the lead of the federal government — Boston has lost $38 million in local aid over the past two years. While the recession is having its own negative impact locally with an anticipated departmental revenue decline of $32 million dollars next year. This triple hit is already threatening most cities and towns with deficits in the coming year without further state aid cuts. Can anyone explain how this is in the best economic and business interest of our state?

Despite this adversity, Boston has managed to keep its fiscal house in order and its books balanced because we made the tough decisions. The City simply said yes when it could and no when it had to. As a result, Boston has managed to balance 6 budgets in a row. And we were rewarded for our fiscal common sense by Wall Street rating agencies maintaining the City's "A" bond rating.

In addition, while the state's workforce has swelled by more than 13,000, the City of Boston managed to enhance the efficiency of its public safety departments and increase the delivery of vital neighborhood services without increasing its own workforce.

Indeed, the City of Boston currently has fewer employees than when I took office in 1984, excluding the School Department. Even with local aid to cities and town factored out, state spending between 1981 and 1989 increased an average of 9.1 percent per year. At the same time, spending for the City of Boston increased an average of only 4.7 percent. In fact, if the state had controlled spending as we did and increased at the same percentage rate as the City of Boston, the state would be in a surplus rather than a deficit today.

The latest polls show that the mandates of the last election remain fresh in the voters minds — while nearly everyone wants to see state government downsized, 73 percent of the people do not want critical local services compromised by cuts in local aid.

So let us use the coming weeks to work together to protect the services which so many of our working and needy families rely on to survive. I urge each of you to contact your state legislators. Ask them not what they are opposed to. Rather, ask them how they can help Massachusetts cities and towns maintained balanced budgets, help our young people, and keep our streets safe. Ask them how they can help Massachusetts cities and towns continue to provide essential services such as police and fire protection, emergency ambulance services, clean and safe parks and playgrounds, and education, as well as critical and compassionate human services at the state level. We owe it to ourselves and to the communities we serve to insist that our voices be heard and our message clearly understood.

GEORGE PLIMPTON WILL BE FEATURED SPEAKER AT BPL ASSOCIATES' ANNUAL "LITERARY LIGHTS" DINNER

George Plimpton, editor, essayist, sportswriter, adventurer, and author, will be the featured speaker at the Associates of the Boston Public Library's third annual "Literary Lights" dinner in the Salon Margaux of the Meridien Hotel in Boston on Sunday evening, April 28, 1991.

The black-tie gala, which honors outstanding authors and editors each year, serves as the centerpiece of the Associates' programs in support of the Boston Public Library.

The author of 12 books and one of the best known and most unusual figures of contemporary American letters, Mr. Plimpton gained his greatest fame by taking to the arena of professional sports and surviving to write about his experience — in such classics as Paper Lion and The Bogey Man — with grace, urbanity, and considerable good humor. His most recent work — The Best of Plimpton — was published by the Atlantic Monthly Press in 1990 and collects for the first time the work of his distinguished thirty-five year career with profiles, essays, and articles.

A limited number of tickets for the dinner and cocktail reception are available for $125 per person. For additional information and reservations, please contact Joanna Datillo of The Associates of the Boston Public Library at 617/536-3886.

CHILD SAFETY SEAT INFO

During Child Passenger Safety Week February 11-17, 1991, Gerry Wyse had an informational booth in City Hall Lobby. She distributed educational pamphlets and showed a video about seat belt and a child safety seats to both visitors and employees. Gerry has a list of child safety seats that have been recalled by the manufacturers. She wants you to know that at present there is no uniform recall procedure for child safety seats unless you contact the manufacturer of the seat. During the summer months she will begin a child car seat loan program to City of Boston employees. This will be a short term loan of car seats. This will be of special interest to employees who will have children, infants and toddlers, visiting them for 2-3 weeks during the year.

NOTICE OF REQUIREMENT FOR AFFIRMATIVE ACTION TO ENSURE EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY (EXECUTIVE ORDER 11246).

The contractor's attention is called to the "Equal Opportunity Clause" and "Standard Federal Equal Opportunity Construction Contract Specifications" set forth in this part.

The goals and timetables for minority and female participation are expressed in percentage terms for the contractor's aggregate workforce in each trade on all construction work in the covered areas. (See pages EEO-1 and EEO-2 of the bid specifications for goals and timetables.)

These goals are applicable to all the contractor's construction work (whether or not it is federal or federally assisted) performed in the covered areas.

As used in the notice, and in the contract, the covered area is Arlington, Boston, Belmont, Brookline, Burlington, Cambridge, Canton, Chelsea, Dedham, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Milton, Norwood, Reading, Revere, Somerville, Stoneham, Wakefield, Westwood, Winthrop, Winchester, Woburn, and the Islands of Boston Harbor, Massachusetts.

The contractor's compliance with the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4 shall be based on its implementation of the Equal Opportunity Clause, specific affirmative action obligations required to meet the goals established for the geographical area where the contract is to be performed.

The hours of minority and female employment and training must be substantially uniform throughout the length of the contract in each trade, and the contractor shall make a good-faith effort to employ minorities and women evenly on each of its projects.

The transfer of minority or female employees or trainees from contractor to contractor or from project to project for the sole purpose of meeting the contractor's goals shall be a violation of the contract, the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4. Compliance with the goals will be measured against the total workhours performed.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the provisions of the contract documents, including, with limitation, the notice of all bidders (including subbidders), and the provisions with respect to bonds, insurance, equal employment opportunity, minimum wages, time of performance, liquidated damages, and the requirements set forth in the specifications on supplemental equal employment opportunity, anti-discrimination and affirmative action program contract provisions, and to the requirements of mandatory compliance with section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 and Executive Order 11246.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT

Request for Bids for Acceptance of Used Newspaper for Recycling for the period July 1, 1991 to June 30, 1994.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston invites bids for acceptance of an estimated 46,000 tons of used newspaper (PSI Grade 6) during the period July 1, 1991 to June 30, 1994. The annual amount during the last two years of the contract is estimated to be 16,000 tons, but due to the start-up of collection programs, the amount during the first year may be somewhat less, and has been estimated at 14,000 tons.

The successful contractor will accept, at a specified location and pricing arrangement per ton, truckloads and/or container loads of loose newspaper from the City's various recycling programs during the three year period. The pricing arrangement for the entire contract period will be an adjustable one, with quarterly adjustment based on the contractor's bid of a spread against the Fibre Market News Boston index for PSI No. 6. As specified in the contract documents, the only non-price factor which may be considered in evaluating bids will be the economic development impact of bids in terms of job creation, particularly for Boston residents. Annually, a performance bond of a surety company qualified to do business under the laws of the Commonwealth and satisfactory to the Commissioner, and in the amount of 100 percent of the annual contract price, will be required of the successful contractor. The Commissioner shall cancel the contract in the event that funds are not appropriated in subsequent years.

The contract documents and forms for bids may be obtained at Room 714 (Contract Office), City Hall during normal business hours (9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday to Friday) beginning March 25, 1991 and continuing until the proposal opening date specified below. There will be a charge of five dollars ($5), NOT REFUNDABLE, for each set of contract documents taken out. For this procurement, the Department will mail out sets of contract documents upon receipt of a written request identifying the bidder of record and a check for twenty-five dollars ($25) for each set requested.

The contract documents consist of an Original Bid book including separate Price Bid and Non-Price Bid pages. The Original Bid with Bid Page should be signed, a certified, treasurer's, or cashier's check in the amount of the bid guaranty attached, enclosed in an envelope, sealed, clearly marked "Bids for Acceptance of Used Newspaper for Recycling for the period July 1, 1991 to June 30, 1994," and left at Room 714 (Contract Office), City Hall, before 2 p.m. of Thursday, April 11, 1991. The Non-Price Bid Page should be sealed in a separate envelope, marked as above, and left with the Original Bid envelope. All bids must be from bidders of record (those who have purchased contract documents) on file at Room 714, City Hall. Bid guaranty shall consist of a deposit of five (5) percent of the total bid price.

Bids will be accepted until 2 p.m. Thursday, April 11, 1991. The non-price bids will then be privately opened and read in the Commissioner's Office, Room 714, City Hall, under procedures in compliance with MGL Chapter 30B, the Uniform Procurement Act. The price bids shall be opened subsequent to the complete evaluation of the non-price bids. The basis for evaluation of the price bids shall be the named dollar amounts of the spread against the index on which the price adjustment will be made. The maximum time for acceptance of a bid by the Commissioner of Public Works is ninety (90) days after the opening of bids. The Commissioner, acting for the City of Boston, reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Anti-discrimination Provisions. During the performance of this contract the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors (if any) agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract the contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age or sex. The aforesaid shall include but not be limited to: employment, recruitment advertising, upgrading, demotion or transfer, layoff, termination, rates of pay or other compensation, conditions or privileges of employment, and selection for apprenticeship.

Before commencing performance of this contract, the contractor shall provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under chapter 152 of the General Laws (Workmen's Compensation Law, so-called) to all persons to be employed under this contract and shall continue such insurance in full force and effect during the term of this contract.
